Double Force Patrols the Streets of Juarez, Mexico

EL PASO, March 16.—Juarez spent a sleepless night with streets patrolled by double force of guards and practically the entire garrison under arms in front of the barracks and the headquarters of General Navarro and of Col. Tamborel, the commandant. At daybreak sleepy guards posted on the rooftops swept the country for signs of insurgents but if they are in the vicinity they kept well under cover.

The coming of daylight materially lessened the anxiety aroused by last night's attack on the barracks, when a small band of insurgents, who had managed to slip through the lines into the city, demolished a portion of the barracks with bombs and escaped with the loss of but two men.

Business has been resumed and most of those who had planned to take refuge on the American side changed their minds this morning.

It is not thought the insurgents are near the city in any great numbers, the small band under Captain Oscar Greighson, the American being the only one reported close at hand.

LEADER GOMEZ REPLIES TO CLAIM OF SENOR LIMANTOUR

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Dr. Vasquez Gomez, head of the confidential agency here of the Mexican revolutionists, last night issued a statement in reply to the contention of Senor Limantour, Mexican minister of finance, that President Diaz was legally returned to the presidency by the will of the people.

Dr. Gomez declared that it was significant that in 20 of the 27 states in Mexico the people were in arms in protest against the election in which President Diaz triumphed. He said that if President Diaz really wished to obey the will of the people and avoid complications with foreign governments, he should resign immediately. Such action alone, he said, would restore tranquility in the republic.

MEXICAN MINISTER IS IN A RUSH TO GET TO MEXICO

PITTSBURG, March 16.—Jose Ives Limantour, Mexican minister of finance, passed through Pittsburg early this morning on his way to Mexico. He is traveling in his private car Hidalgo, No. 3503, of the National Railway of Mexico. The Mexican official arrived here from New York at 2:16 and left at 3:25 a.m. over the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis road, 55 minutes behind schedule. The railroad officials say that the car is to be rushed through to Mexico, their orders being to attach it to fast trains.

Biggest Boom for Lowell in 50 Years Brought About Through Activity of the Lowell Board of Trade After Several Weeks of Hard Work—Plant is Now a Certainty—Will Employ 3000 Skilled Mechanics

A FEW FACTS ABOUT THE ACCEPTED SITE

Four miles from Lowell.

Area 530 acres with much more adjoining land available.

Has 3100 feet frontage on main line of Boston and Maine.

Has 2400 feet frontage on Bedford line of Boston and Maine.

Its greatest length is one and one-half miles.

All dry land except one small corner.

Six houses and one camp now on lot.

Is two minutes' walk from electric cars.

Street railroad will extend five-cent fare limit to new site.

The company plans to have eight buildings in two rows, built east and west, so as to get light all day. The cost will exceed $3,000,000.

Each row will be one mile long.

The site cost $25,000.

The company will begin to build at once.

The shops will employ 3000 men at least.

The site was secured by a committee of the Lowell board of trade consisting of President Harvey B. Greene, Secretary John H. Murphy, George M. Harrigan, J. L. Chalfoux, Jesse Shepard, C. M. Phil and Doris for Elliott.

Store on Hale Street Was Practically Wrecked — Poleo Was Asked to Make a Loan of $300

BOSTON, March 16.—Black hand little store. Although no one was demands upon Gaspare Poleo, an Italian merchant on Hale street in the West End, were followed early today by the discharge of a bomb in Poleo's dwellers in the vicinity were given a had scare. Early last month Poleo had a visitor who demanded $300 as a loan. Poleo told the caller that he had no money and the man returned later to renew his demand, which was again refused. Another demand was made in a letter, which gave Poleo directions regarding the delivery of the money. The letter named as the penalty for Poleo's refusal to comply with the demand the death of his wife by a revolver bullet and Poleo's own death by a stiletto wound.

HELD IN $800 AS RESULT OF ASSAULT ON A FARMER

BOSTON, March 16.—A fight with a pitchfork and knife between two residents of West End, was tried in the Chelsea police court yesterday. John Cunningham, 34 years old, who lives with Arthur V. Cunningham, 60 years old, a Peabody farmer, on Russell street, was arraigned before Judge Hall, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon.

Will Employ 3000 Men

The coming of the Boston & Maine repair shops to North Billerica is the biggest thing that has happened in the interest of the city of Lowell in half a century and it is the only thing that the board of trade has accomplished in that time, which of course it is not, it is of sufficient magnitude to reflect great credit upon that body.

The board of trade was directly responsible for getting the Boston & Maine to come here. The president of the board in the first place got to Agent Barr at the outset for an opportunity to show the road what was to be offered in the shape of a desirable site after the road had decided to abandon the Wamecet location. Then a committee of the board scoured the land and "dug up" the location in North Billerica, which the eminent engineers of the railroad had overlooked, and presented its advantages to the company so strongly that the company looked into the matter and found that the board was right. Then came the matter of getting options on the land, a most difficult proposition, which once more the board of trade committee, principally through one of its directors, brought to a successful issue and finally the railroad after inspecting numerous other sites and listening to the arguments of Lawrence, Haverhill, Ayer, Revere, Lynn, Salem and Pittsburg, came to the conclusion that the North Billerica site is the one best adapted to its purposes and on this site as soon as is possible, will be constructed the great repair shops, eight large buildings in two rows, each row one mile in length, which will give employment to 3000 men, mostly skilled mechanics, nearly all of whom will reside in this city.

It was generally believed that a decision was to be made a week or more ago and while the newspapers were sworn to secrecy relative to the probable action of the Boston & Maine, they were "tipped" that there would be something doing at that time and they patiently awaited the word to make the happy announcement. On the day on which the matter was supposed to come to a head it was announced that the railroad company was to make a visit to a site in Lawrence and would return to Boston for a meeting in the afternoon. They went to Lowell and in all probability they met, but the only information available from the office of Agent Barr was that no decision had been arrived at. Then came the information that the company had turned down the Lawrence proposition and finally that the company was considering only two sites, Billerica and Revere.

The reason for secrecy on the part of the Lowell newspapers was this: Until it was announced in the local papers that the company was investigating at Wamecet, the general public had no idea that the Boston and Maine contemplated locating here. Immediately after the fact was made known in Lowell that the company was looking for a site the office of Mr. Barr was besieged by boards of trade, city and town committees, real estate dealers, etc. with sites all over the state that they desired to unload upon the company. Also wherever it became known that the company or anyone else had discovered a probable site immediately the price of land in that vicinity soared skyward. One of the worst cases of this was right in Billerica in connection with the real site where at first some land owners thought it a good opportunity to "soak" the railroad company irrespective of the great amount of benefit all concerned were to derive by the establishment of the shops in that neighborhood. But the board of trade principally through Mr. Harrigan, showed these people the error of their way and while they received a good figure for their land they came down from the exorbitant heights. One real estate owner was so obstinate that the promoters, despairing of ever getting him, in line proposed to get additional land and build the car shop around his plot, and this fact, together with Mr. Harrigan's persuasive eloquence, soon brought him back to earth.

History of Deal

The history of the work to get the car shops to Billerica as outlined by President Harvey B. Greene of the board of trade is as follows: "Seven weeks ago," said Mr. Greene, "the morning after the Boston & Maine authorities announced that the Wamecet lot was impracticable, I telephoned Agent Barr of the Boston & Maine, to make an appointment with him for the privilege of pointing out to him some advantageous sites in the vicinity of Lowell. The appointment was made and in company with the committee of the board of trade we interviewed Mr. Barr. He stated that he was disappointed in the Wamecet lot whereupon we asked him what he required so that we could look up a site for him. He informed us that the company desired a lot with a frontage of one mile and a half on the car tracks, not over 25 miles from Boston and not in the city of Lowell, because the company objected to paying city taxes. But he insisted that the site must be as near the city as possible and on a five cent car fare limit, as the company did not propose to build any houses for its help and thus wanted the plant near enough the city to be convenient for the workmen. Furthermore the site required gas and electric light and a water supply.

The lot should be at least 500 acres in area but not over 800 and it should not be intersected by highways, streets or streams. Finally the land must be high and dry and of such a nature that it could be made ready for building at little cost.

We reported back to the full committee, including Jesse H. Shepard, J. L. Chalfoux, Melvin Rogers, George M. Harrigan, Carl M. Phil and Secretary Murphy and a sub-committee consisting of Messrs. Shepard and Phil and Engineer Brooks made a tour of Billerica and Newbury in search of available sites. In the meantime The Sun came out with the description of a site in North Billerica running from the Billerica depot northward to South Lowell and the company's engineers went to Billerica and looked it over and went from there to Wilmington, going past without noticing what has since proved to be the one site in every way desirable, namely the North Billerica site below the depot and lo-

Five Sites Reported

The special committee reported five sites to Mr. Barr and plans of them were prepared by Engineer Brooks, Messrs. Shepard, Brooks, and Agent Traft and myself giving our plans to the engineers of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, the Pittsburg and the Boston and Maine divisions in a conference. They were surprised with the features presented by plan four on our map, the site selected. It is located four miles from Lowell at one end and five miles at the southern end. It is two minutes' walk from the street car line. It has the Billerica water supply and a fair sized pond just across the tracks. It permits an entrance from the main line and a siding on the Bedford branch, having tracks on two sides. It has one mile and a quarter frontage on the main line and the engineers pointed out how this length might be increased to

RANDOLPH HALL

One of Harvard's Exclusive Dormitories Destroyed by Fire

CAMBRIDGE, March 15.—One student was rescued in an unconscious condition, many others were awakened barely in time to escape the flames and all were driven scantly clad to the street by a fire that partially destroyed Randolph hall, one of the most exclusive Harvard dormitories on Mount Auburn street early today. The fire started in a suite on the ground floor of the west wing of the building and spread rapidly to the upper floors, endangering the lives of the sleeping students. Policemen, firemen and janitors rushed through the various apartments, awakened the occupants and after considerable difficulty succeeded in clearing the building without loss of life.

Y. Arai, a Japanese student, was found unconscious in his apartments on the top floor of the dormitory by a policeman who barely escaped with the prostrate student before the flames filled with the hallway. The other occupants of the top floor reached the street unaided.

Randolph hall was erected by the Coolidge estate in the early nineties at a cost of $75,000. Recently an extensive wing was added to the building, together with vacant courts and a swimming pool. The loss to the building is estimated at $25,000 while the individual losses of the students will greatly increase this figure.

IN POLICE COURT

Shiftless Husband Was Sentenced to Jail

Everett Velcourt preferred to go to jail rather than furnish a bond in the sum of $100 that he would pay $250 per week for the support of his two minor children, Rosanna and Eveline. He made all kinds of promises relative to what he would do and stated that he was willing to pay the amount which the court ordered, but Probation Officer Stattery intimated that he had no confidence in the man and was afraid that the defendant might run away. Judge Hadley then ordered that a bond be furnished and when Velcourt ascertained that the court did not have much faith in him he said: "I'll go to jail before I furnish a bond," and to jail he will have to go.

Mrs. Velcourt told a very pitiful story to the court of how she had to rise at 3:30 o'clock in the morning and work until seven o'clock at night in order to take care of her home and support her two little ones. They had been in an orphanage for several years and owing to their being sick her expenses had been materially increased. She said that she and her husband had separated about three years ago and since then he had done little towards supporting her and her life has been a struggle for existence.

Velcourt with an air of bravado told the court his side of the story and added that he was willing to support his children. When the court ordered him to pay $250 per week towards the support of the little ones he acquiesced, but the probation officer felt that the man could not be depended upon and the wife said that her husband could leave the city shortly after

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

No Formal Observance Will be Held Tomorrow

But Irish and Catholic Societies Will Observe the Day in Their Halls—Rev. Fr. Chittick, of Hyde Park, Will Deliver Panegyric at Patrick's Church

Tomorrow will be St. Patrick's day and will be observed by Irishmen and their descendants the world over, including Lowell.

The weather of the past 48 hours has shown the wisdom of the recent St. Patrick's Day convention in deciding not to hold an outdoor celebration this year and there will be no observance by the united societies of Lowell but all the Irish and Catholic societies will observe the day in their halls while there will be numerous dancing and social parties.

In all the Catholic churches there will be special masses. At St. Patrick's church, the day is ever observed, the patronal feast day of the church, with impressive services. At 9 o'clock tomorrow solemn high mass will be sung and a special musical program will be given by the choir under the direction of Michael J. Johnson. The choir will sing Turner's mass departing from the customary Gregorian mass, in honor of the holiday.

The panegyric on St. Patrick will be delivered by Rev. Fr. Chittick, of Hyde Park, president of the Norfolk county Catholic Federation and one of the best known pulpit orators of the archdiocese. In the evening the C. Y.

M. L. and the Holy Name societies will hold a joint celebration in the school hall.

Knights of Columbus

Lowell Council, Knights of Columbus will observe St. Patrick's night on an elaborate scale. They will entertain the members of Nashua council who will come here in a special car. The early part of the evening will be enjoyed with whist, "Forty-Fives," "Rummie" and Pitch, beside billiard and pool tournaments, followed by a physical culture program and a musical and literary entertainment and refreshments. The entertainers will include Lowell and Nashua talent, including several well known professionals. The affair is under the direction of Grand Night Heaps and Lecturer John H. Murphy.

At North Chelmsford

The Bachelor club will go to North Chelmsford tomorrow evening where an entertainment will be given in the town hall in aid of St. John's church.

Central Council Dance

Does Your Back Ache?

If you are a woman and you have this symptom get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound without delay. Backache seems an invention of the evil one to try woman's souls. Only those who suffer this way can understand the wearing, ceaseless misery.

We ask all such women to read the following letter for proof that Pinkham's Compound cures backache caused by woman's diseases.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such drugging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness on each side, could not stand tight clothing and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. Ollie Woodall, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made thousands of cures of such cases. You notice we say has cured thousands of cases. That means that we are telling you that it has done, not what we think it will do. We are stating facts, not guesses.

We challenge the world to name another remedy for woman's ills which has been so successful or received so many testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

The testimonials which are constantly being published in the Pinkham advertisements are guaranteed to be absolutely genuine, honest, and given without reward in any way whatever.

ANOTHER OFFER

New Hampshire Girl Would Wed Westerner

The dear girls have not yet lost interest in the man from the golden west. A man by the name of Roberts, whose home is in San Antonio, Texas, wrote to Mayor Meehan some time ago asking the mayor to pick out a wife for him. For a few days the mayor was besieged with letters, telephone calls and calls in person and the thing got so serious that He Honor decided to "cut it out." He asked his private secretary, Warren P. Rioridan, what he thought about it and Mr. Rioridan allowed that if the man wanted a wife, a Lowell woman preferred, he believed he ought to be helped out and Mr. Rioridan volunteered to take charge of the matter and today he received the following letter from a girl in old New Hampshire:

Rochester, N. H., March 14, 1911.

Dear Sir:—Having read in The Lowell Sun the letter you received from Mr. Roberts of San Antonio, Texas, asking you to find him a wife, I take this opportunity of addressing you. No doubt you have received quite a number of letters in answer. I have always been interested in the west and it seems to me as if a ranch would be the ideal spot wherein to lead the simple life. I would like to see Mr. Roberts' picture but good looks in men do not appeal to me. If he is honest, faithful and kind, that is all I ask. I am a good plain cook and can sew and knit. I live at home with my folks and while they are good to me and while my home surroundings are very pleasant I feel that I have symptoms of western fever. I am not an adventuress, but a kind, lovable girl and to make some one happy is the ambition of my life. Something was mentioned in Mr. Roberts' letter about long horrid storms and I presume that cow punching is his business. It makes no difference to me what his business may be, I will endeavor to make him a good wife and make home pleasant for him. Mr. Roberts said there were plenty of men, but not many women, and in that event I thought there might be a chance for another. If you will please send Mr. R.'s address I might write to him.

Local Council to be Formed

Mayor John F. Meehan, as local president of the Boy Scouts, has sent the following circular to the superintendent of police, chief of the fire department, members of the board of charity, park commissioners, school committee, public librarian, school masters, military instructor, principal state normal school, newspaper, officials of the Y. M. C. A., and Y. M. C. L. Woman's club, prominent attorneys, trustee school superintendent, judge of the police court, clerks of police court and probation officer, agent of the humane society, officers of the Lowell Boys' club, People's club, trustee commissioners, suburban residents, clergymen of all denominations in Lowell and surrounding towns, and others—250 in all:

City Hall, March 18, 1911.

Dear Sir:—The new movement called the Boy Scouts of America has been brought to my notice with the suggestion that it might be fostered by the city of Lowell.

The city of Columbus, Ohio, and other municipalities, have utilized this means of training good citizens under their public recreation departments.

There will be a public hearing on this subject at the city hall on Thursday afternoon, March 20, at 4 o'clock, when Mr. Arthur A. Carey, of Watman, will explain the movement and indicate the methods of forming a local council. You are cordially invited as one interested in the welfare of Lowell boys.

Yours, very respectfully,
John F. Meehan, Mayor.

AT THE ROBERTSON CO.'S

First Showing Tomorrow An Innovation at This Store. Oriental Rugs and Carpets. Formal Opening The Formal Opening Will Take Place Friday of This Week.

But first arrivals are already on display and you will be welcome to see them informally tomorrow in our Carpet room (2nd floor.)

Someone has said, the Persian Rugs are eminently the best Rugs to buy, yet only an expert's advice should be relied upon in buying Oriental Rugs today—and even that should have an endorser.

Our New York connections are experts on Persian Rugs (and all Oriental Floor Coverings.) This store is the endorser which protects you even to the extent of allowing the return of any purchase which proves unsatisfactory.

There are no Arabian Nights stories to be told about the Oriental Rugs at Robertson's. True, there is romance and mystery in the wonderful intricacy and idealism of design and in their wealth of harmonious colors.

These Oriental Rugs and Carpets will be sold in the plain Robertson way, the very best quality possible at prices asked and the store's guarantee behind every sale. The following list will give you an idea of the magnitude of our purchase, with sizes and quality and price of each Rug.

DEFEND BUTLER

Many Speakers at the Statue Hearing Yesterday

Pointed Remarks Made by Edward B. Pierce—Jas. H. Wolf, a Colored Lawyer, Urged the Erection of Statue to Memory of Butler

The fame and name of Gen. Benjamin F. Butler was defended at the state house yesterday when the committee on state house and libraries again took up the petition for a statue at the state house in his memory.

After the remonstrants had been heard, Col. A. C. Drinkwater, who managed the financial end of Butler's campaign for governor in 1882, eulogized Gen. Butler at length, terming him "the ablest man that ever sat in congress from New England," and adding that "every charge that has ever been made against him has been disproved." He said the annual attempt will be made for a statue until one is erected.

Sherrin L. Cook, in opposition, said he felt that before more statues are erected to soldiers, we should have statues to our statesmen. He suggested that a commission have charge of all memorials.

W. G. Cunningham of Boston related how he had lost money in the '80's in a company of which Gen. Butler was president.

Edward B. Pierce representing Senator Hibbard, who introduced the bill, accused the opponents of the bill of having a "well organized corps of claqueurs" to applaud the suggestion that if a Butler statue is erected the Shaw monument should be removed. More colored men and widows of colored soldiers contributed money for the bronze bust of Butler presented to the city of Lowell than charged with Shaw, declared Mr. Pierce.

In closing, Mr. Pierce recounted Gen. Butler's war record and asserted that no remonstrant could say that Butler ever lost a battle or caused the blood of an American to be shed in vain. He made a statement as to the sources of the Butler family fortune.

James H. Wolf, an attorney and a colored man who was with Butler at Fort Fisher, strongly urged the erection of the statue on Butler's war record alone.

"I want a statue to Gen. Butler because he is the ideal of 10,000,000 people to whom he was always loyal," said Mr. Wolf. "I want the children of this great colored race to come here and see respect paid to the man who first made freedom possible."

Col. Drinkwater said he knew some friends of Butler who lost money in speculations that he got into when he was no longer the Butler who was talking about the Butler of the camp, of the courtroom, of congress. When he was defeated for election he was defeated because his whole ticket was defeated.

George E. Pike of Boston, a white-haired man, said he had come to the hearing because of the character of the aspersions made by the opponents of the statue. "You cannot obliterate the history of this state," said Mr. Pike, "nor can you obliterate Butler's name from her records. Wherever he was placed he did a man's work. If he were alive today those gentlemen who have slandered him would no more have dared to do it than they would have put their heads in a lion's mouth."

C. W. Howe, who was in the party that relieved Butler at New Orleans, spoke in favor of the bill, especially criticizing Moorfield Storey's attitude in the matter.

Others who spoke in favor of the bill were Clifford H. Plummer, a colored attorney who represented the New England suffrage league; William Monroe Trotter, president of the Boston Literary and Historical association; Wildfield Tuck of Winchester, and Charles S. Baker of Falmouth. W. G. Cunningham, who had previously spoken in opposition, asked to have his statements withdrawn after he had learned of General Butler's condition at the end of his career.

The hearing was closed.

DEATHS

REED—Miss Leslie Reed died in Canton yesterday. Miss Reed was the daughter of Alexander and Mary G. Reed, and was a cello player of note. She has appeared here many times in the past and has many friends in Lowell. Her mother is a well known teacher of music.

MORAN—Miss Elizabeth Moran died yesterday at her home, 16 Chase street, aged 21 years. She was beloved by all who knew her, and her many friends will be pained to learn of her death. She leaves her father, James Moran, her mother, Sarah Ann, four sisters, Margaret in England, Sarah Ann of Philadelphia, Pa., Mary and Rose of this city; and four brothers, John in England, Bernard and James in India, and Alfred of this city. Boston and Philadelphia papers please copy.

BARON—Died in this city, March 15, at 1311 Middlesex street, Christopher Baron, aged 89 years.

FAULKNER—Died at Santa Barbara, Cal., March 14, suddenly, Anne Robins, daughter of the late James R. and Catherine H. Faulkner, formerly of North Billerica.

FUNERALS

TIBBETTS—The funeral of Elizabeth Tibbetts, daughter of Philip and

Catherine Tibbetts, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of the parents, 29 Tyler street. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers O. H. Molloy & Sons.

McCUR—The funeral of Vera, May McCue, child of George and Margaret McCue, took place from the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Miskell, 37 Butler avenue, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where many floral pieces were laid on the grave. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker John J. O'Connell.

EVANS—The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Evans took place from her home, 17 Boston road, yesterday morning at 8.30 o'clock. A mass of requiem was sung at the Sacred Heart church at 3 o'clock, by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I. The choir sang the Gregorian mass, at the offertory the "O Salutaris," and at the conclusion of the mass the "De Profundis." John J. Kelly presided at the organ. The bearers were Martin Gately, James Sharkey, John McNulty and Charles Moran. The burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Bernard Fletcher read the committal prayers. Among the beautiful floral pieces were: A large pillow inscribed "Mother," from the daughter, Miss Mary A. Evans; a beautiful spray from Charles Dargett and sisters; and a bouquet from Mrs. John Eber; and sprays from Mrs. Lowrey and Mr. and Mrs. Recht, and many others. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker John J. O'Connell.

McFARLIN—The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary McFarlin took place this morning at 8.30 o'clock from her late home, 15 Garret street, and was largely attended. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where at 9 o'clock a solemn mass of requiem was sung by Rev. John O'Brien. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Miss Mary F. Whiteley sang "Pie Jesu" and after the elevation Mr. James B. Donnelly sang "In Paradisum." As the remains were being borne from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." Mrs. John McKennedy presided at the organ.

Among the floral tributes was a wreath from Miss Mary McFarlin, and palms from Mrs. McDonough and family. The bearers were Thomas McDonough; Patrick Houlihan; John Whelan and Thomas Harrington. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the final prayers were read by Rev. Fr. O'Brien. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons had charge.

FOR PUBLIC PARK AT ST. MICHAEL'S

Petitions Being Circulated in Centralville

The members of the committee recently named by the Centralville Social club to look over the possibility of a public park in West Centralville, held a meeting in the club rooms last night and decided as recommended by the park commissioners to circulate petitions to be signed by the voters of that section of the city.

The committee in charge hopes to be through with the petition work in a few days, and then an order may be introduced in the council for the latter to choose a site and appropriate a certain sum of money for the purchase of the said site.

At the last meeting of the Centralville Social club, Aldermen Toppin denied the statement published in a local paper recently, which said that the alderman was opposed to a park in Centralville, and the members of that organization claim that Mr. Toppin is in favor of a park in that district, but the latter when approached by a representative of The Sun this morning, refused to make any further statement on the question.

Councilmen Delaronde, Rogers and Achin are ready to do all they can in helping the movement along. Councilman Achin said this morning that he favored a park in Little Canada and Centralville, but in the event that only one can be had, he would favor the Centralville site, for it is large enough to accommodate both districts.

PARADE GROUND

Wanted by the Local Militia

Mayor Meehan is in receipt of the following letter from Adjutant-General Gardner W. Pearson:

Boston, March 14, 1911.

Hon. John F. Meehan,

Mayor of Lowell.

Sir:—A communication has been forwarded to me through military channels from Capt. George W. Peterson, Co. C, Sixth Infantry, M. V. M., stating that a demand has been made on the city of Lowell for suitable grounds for parade, drill, as provided in section 59, chapter 501, Acts of 1908. If this is the fact, is there any reason why the city of Lowell should not provide such grounds?

Very respectfully,

Gardner W. Pearson,

The Adjutant-General, Chief of Staff.

STATE ARMORY

ADJUT. GEN. PEARSON WOULD DISPOSE OF ONE AT LAWRENCE

BOSTON, March 15.—The committee on military affairs gave a hearing on the petition of Adj. Gen. Gardner W. Pearson of Lowell providing for the disposal of the state armory at Lawrence. Maj. Charles F. Sargent of Lawrence said that the armory is unsuited for the work of the militia and others who spoke in favor of disposing of the armory were Capt. Louis S. Cox and Capt. Frank L. Donovan, who said the building might be used as an industrial school by the city of Lawrence.

St. Patrick's Day Exercises Held Today

The annual St. Patrick's Day exercises at St. Michael's parochial school were held in the school hall today, on account of tomorrow being a holiday and in addition to the teachers of the school, Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor of St. Michael's and the curates of the parish were present as guests. The hall was prettily decorated with the colors of America and Erin gracefully intertwined, while Old Glory and the Irish flag were displayed conspicuously. After the regular program, Rev. Fr. Shaw addressed the pupils eloquently on the lessons to be drawn from the life and mission of St. Patrick.

The program was as follows:

Hymn, "Erin's Patron Saint."

Ninth Grade

Dialogue, "The Genius of the Irish People"

John Cooke, Walter Mulvey, John Cawley, William McShea, Thomas Donnelly, Edward Blorden, Walter Roney and John Barrett.

BOARD OF TRADE

Will Wax Enthusiastic at Tonight's Banquet

For six weeks past the committee in charge of the board of trade banquet which is to be held in Associate hall, this evening has been fondly hoping that the Boston and Maine would announce its decision relative to its car shops before the date of the banquet so that that great achievement of the board might be impressed upon its guests and the public in general. This morning all hope of hearing the glad news before the banquet was abandoned as it was not believed that the railroad authorities would come to a decision for a week or more.

To say that the receipt of the information shortly before noon today was received with great rejoicing is putting it light and as a result it will be a most enthusiastic gathering that will assemble about the festive board, this evening. All arrangements for the banquet have been completed and 500 covers will be laid.

COMPLETE SHOWING OF

Spring Top Coats

From Stein-Bloch and other good makers.

$30

We've never had so much reason to enthuse as over these new top coats from Stein-Bloch. The lines are so new and so smart, the tailoring so clever, and the fancy fabrics so appealing, any man who cares at all for dress will lose himself viewing them. The new coats are built on generous lines. The dress coats are cut full; the fancy coats very full, but the collars hug the neck and the lapels are gracefully fashioned. Only the best tailoring is worthy of such designing skill, and these Stein-Bloch Coats have both.

Dress Coats of black and oxford—serge lined or silk lined. Fancy Coats in grayish and tan chevrons with serge linings.

$15 The New Spring Suits

Tans and browns are prominent in the showing of new spring suits. Grays are still in demand and fancy blues are running strong, but tans are new and will be featured. Stein-Bloch provides six different sack models, including the new English soft roll, and the Norfolk. Altogether we show a dozen models of new suits for men and young men—all hand tailored and all trousers with unfinished bottoms.

This is a good week to see the new models. If you're ready to buy, you save 10 per cent. because it's our Anniversary week. If you're not ready we're glad to show you.

FOUND IN RIVER

Body Identified as That of Florence E. Whittier

BOSTON, March 16.—The body of Florence E. Whittier, the 19-year-old Ipswich girl who mysteriously disappeared on Friday, January 13, was discovered shortly before noon yesterday, floating in the Charles river on the Cambridge side, a short distance below the Charlestown hospital, 15 feet from shore.

Leander S. Seguin, 16 years old, of 16 Watson street, schoolboy, who was walking along the parkway at this point, noticed what he supposed was the body of a man in the river, and went down to the water to investigate. Nearby were a ladder and a life preserver, with a rope attached, and young Seguin took the preserver and threw it toward the floating object several times in an effort to get it over the body and draw it ashore. Repeated efforts proving unsuccessful, he went up the bank, continuing toward Riverbank court, where he saw John J. Harkins of 474 Brookline avenue, Roxbury, and told him of the body in the river. They used the life preserver again with partial success, the body being brought toward the shore. The ladder was then laid on the bank and pushed toward the water, Harkins

VETERAN THIRD SACKER WHO WILL AGAIN WEAR CUB UNIFORM

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—Harry Steinfeldt will wear a Chicago uniform, after all. Recently waiters were asked on the Cubs' third sacker, but were recalled when Cincinnati put in a claim for the veteran's services. Although "Steiny" has attached his signature to a year's contract, it does not mean that he will hold down last place during the season. Helmy Zimmerman, who held down Evers' place at second base in the world series last fall, has put up such a fine article of ball at bag No. 3 in the practice games that Manager Chance will probably keep him there. With Steinfeldt now playing the role of substitute it marks the first big break in the Cubs' baseball machine, the instrument that has gone through five seasons of National league warfare and won four pennants and two world's championships. This was the spot where the first break was looked for, but it was not expected this year. "Steiny" was thought capable of holding down the job for at least one more season, but there is little doubt now that Zimmerman will be on the third corner of the Cubs when the machine begins its grind for the coming race. Fifteen years of active pastime in organized baseball, especially on infield duty, has told fearfully on Steinfeldt, and the time is here when younger and more active talent must be shoved into the breach. For seven years the Kentuckian gave his best efforts to the Chicago club, constituting one of the coys of the greatest infield ever assembled.

BOSTON AMERICANS WON
SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—The Boston American league team No. 1 completed whitewashing the San Francisco team of the Pacific Coast league yesterday by winning the last of six straight games, 2 to 1.

DETROIT DEFEATED
NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—The Detroit Americans were easily defeated yesterday by the Southern league team, 12 to 2. The Cubs were at bat three times without making a hit but he got a base on balls and tallied. Home runs, made by Crawford and Gainer, gave the visitors their other two.

AN EVEN BREAK
MARLIN, Tex., March 16.—The New York Nationals played two games yesterday, the veterans and the colts breaking even. The regulars took an eight inning game in the morning, 11 to 4, making 16 hits off Marquard, Drucke and Shontz. The colts won yesterday afternoon, with Rudolph pitching, 7 to 3.

SCHOOL FRATERNITIES

New York Legislature May Pass Law Abolishing Them

The national bureau of education which supplies school superintendents legislative circulars from time to time, while legislatures are in session, has sent one recently to Sup't. A. K. Whitcomb and he has noted several things which he believes will be of much interest to those who study educational methods and the laws in various states affecting them.

The legislatures of New York and Michigan now have before them bills for state wide abolishment of fraternities, societies, etc., among pupils in public schools. School boards in cities are taking this action in great numbers all over the country, but the two states aforementioned are the only ones so far noted which propose a state law on the matter.

Medical Inspection
Connecticut and New Jersey are following the example of Massachusetts in making medical inspection of school children compulsory in all cities and towns. Mr. Whitcomb says that Colorado has in hand a law providing for the dental examination of school children compulsory in all cities and towns. Mr. Whitcomb says he is specially interested in learning that Colorado has in hand a law providing for the dental examination of all school children in cities or towns of 5000 population, or over. Why children in large places should need such care more than those living in smaller communities does not appear. As stated yesterday this work is now being done in 42 cities of the country, and the practice is gaining ground rapidly.

Pensioning Teachers
Bills for pensioning teachers are pending in Connecticut and several others states which have not already taken favorable action on such laws. Arizona's constitution prohibits the employment of children under 14 years of age while schools are in session, and under 16 in any but a limited number of occupations, but by inference, does permit such employment in vacations. Connecticut has in hand a bill permitting mentally deficient children to work between the ages of fourteen and sixteen. Both of these provisions are contrary to Massachusetts law which prohibits work by children under 14, and under 16 if unable to read and write in English, in vacations as well as at all other times. Here too, a mentally deficient child who cannot learn books, but who has a good body and is well able to work, is condemned to idleness for two years after the age of 14, even though his condition is such that he cannot be re-educated or continued in a school.

Connecticut is planning a state industrial or trade school at New Haven for which the state will pay all the expenses instead of one-half as in Massachusetts. An appropriation of $100,000 is proposed as a beginning.

PRESIDENT'S LIFE IN GEORGIA PREPARES HIM FOR COMING TASKS

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 16.—President Taft's visit to Augusta, which ends Sunday, March 19, has refreshed him for the arduous tasks that confront his return to Washington. During the next few weeks he will go through one of the busiest periods of his career. In addition to directing the operations of the army and navy in the southern war maneuvers, he will review the applications for pardons in the cases of John R. Walsh and Charles W. Morse, financiers now in federal prisons, and must write his message to congress, which he has called in special session beginning April 4. Next he will have to labor long and arduously to have his proposed legislative program, including the recommending of reciprocity with Canada, put through by congress. In Augusta he has been enthusiastically welcomed and has spent considerable time automobiling with Secretary Norton and friends and in playing golf at the Country club. The outdoor life has benefited the president, a great deal.

IT'S A COLD DAY

Quite a Drop in the Temperature

NEW YORK, March 16.—A cold snap of unusual severity for this season of the year holds practically the entire eastern section of the country tightly gripped today with small probability of its grasp being loosened before tomorrow. There was a drop of 26 degrees in temperature to a minimum of 16 degrees in this city during the night.

Temperatures following the rain and brief snow flurry of last night, dropped to nearly zero at points in interior New York state, while it was only four above the zero mark in Pittsburgh this morning and 14 degrees in Washington, D. C., the latter a remarkably low figure. The cold wave was borne in upon a high wind which averaged 56 miles an hour along the coast here and up into New England. The storm moved northeastward and today is central in eastern Maine or over Nova Scotia.

It is already warning up to the west of the Mississippi river but low temperatures prevail over the Ohio valley and the lake region. According to the local weather bureau the cold snap will continue through today and tonight with probability of warmer conditions tomorrow.

Slippery pavements were responsible for numerous falls and injuries to pedestrians here.

LADDER SLIPPED

Man Was Crushed to Death

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 16.—Austin Burke, 23, an employee of the Glenlyon Dye works at Philadelphia, was killed in a peculiar manner in the beach house of the plant today. While at work standing on a ladder the ladder slipped and Burke was precipitated head first between a large belt and pulley. The rapidly moving belt drew his head between it and the pulley, crushing him to death. He was unmarried.

RARE MUSIC

BY LOUGY CLUB OF BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The star course of the Y. M. C. A. came to a close last evening with a delightful concert of chamber music by the Lougy club of the Boston Symphony orchestra, with the exception of the pianist. The players were: Flute, Mr. A. Brooke; horns, Messrs. P. Hein and H. Lorbeer; oboes, Messrs. G. Longy and C. Lenon; bassoons, Messrs. G. Sadony and J. Mosbach; clarinets, Messrs. G. Grisez and T. Mimar; piano, Mr. A. DeVoto. As may be noted nearly all of the instruments used are of extremely ancient origin. Modern improvements have been made in all of them, of course, but they still retain some of their original characteristics. The oboe, for example, is one of the most archaic of its tribe, and in its ancient form was known in many climes, especially in Egypt and the eastern countries, in some of which it may be heard in its simpler and ruder form today. And so with the flute and horn and later with the bassoon and the clarinet.

The program was as follows:
Gounod.....Pelle Symphonie
For Flute, 2 Oboes, 2 Clarinets, 2 Horns and 2 Bassoons.
1—Adagio—Allegretto.
2—Andante Cantabile.
3—Scherzo.
4—Finale.

Widor.....Introduction and Rondo
For Clarinet and Piano.
Messrs. G. Grisez and A. de Voto.
St. Sacens (a).....Fouillet D'Album
Schubert (b).....Menuet
Gouvy (g).....Aubade of Rondo de Nait

MICHAEL BARRY

Lowell Man Arrested in Nashua

NASHUA, N. H., March 16.—Michael Barry of Lowell was arrested last evening by Patrolmen Mulvanity and O'Connell, charged with the larceny of a suitcase containing clothing, the property of David Kellman. The owner, who had been chopping in the woods, set the case down in a store on Factory street, and it is alleged Barry picked it up and taking it to Markarian's second-hand store, sold it. The property was recovered.

ELECTRIFICATION OF OUR FACTORIES

The time is at hand when practically all of our industries will be run by electricity. The water power from the canals with the steam from the boilers in many of the factories is used to generate electricity to be applied in running the machinery. This change has been going on for a considerable time and the old method of running the machinery will soon be abandoned. In this way the water power of the river now going to waste may be utilized in the future and even transmitted to a distance to drive machinery.

DR. BRUNELLE'S SUGGESTION

Dr. Brunelle of the Board of Health has made a good suggestion in his motion for a sub-station for antitoxin that would be open all hours of the day and night. Something of this kind is necessary because the efficacy of antitoxin in checking diphtheria depends largely upon its being used at an early stage of the disease. In many cases where a cure might be effected by the use of antitoxin, a delay of five or ten hours may let the disease get such a headway that death will result. A station such as Dr. Brunelle suggests could be easily maintained at the police station, and it would undoubtedly be instrumental in saving lives by enabling all physicians to get a supply whenever they find it necessary in their practice.

THE SULLOWAY PENSION BILL NOT DEAD

Representative Sulloway of New Hampshire will reintroduce his pension bill on the opening of the extra session of congress. It will be remembered that this bill was defeated by the senate after having been passed by the house by a good majority. This measure was endorsed by the legislatures of twenty-three states that have considerably more than half the electoral votes and more than half the population of the entire country. The veterans of the Civil war and the Mexican war are greatly disappointed over the defeat of the bill and will renew their efforts to secure its passage when congress convenes for the extra session.

The republican senators are criticised for their action, and it is claimed that if the $15,000,000 called for by the bill were to be appropriated for any purpose that would benefit the controlling interests the senators would readily favor the measure. Senator Lodge is severely criticised for the part he took in defeating the bill. Should the bill fail to pass in the next congress the veterans throughout the country will exert all their influence for the defeat of the republican party in 1912.

The states that endorsed the pension bill by legislative vote are as follows: Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, No. Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, So. Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin, Montana, Idaho and Wyoming. The population of these states is 53,760,143, and the number of their electoral votes 274.

It is safe to say that before the new congress opens there will be indorsements from several other states as the veterans have taken up the matter with renewed determination to push it through the next congress.

STRONG ARGUMENTS AGAINST FORTIFYING THE CANAL

The first impulse with most Americans was to favor the fortification of the Panama canal. The canal is an American enterprise, but when considered in reference to other inter-ocean waterways and the international laws and treaties governing such, there is much to be said against the fortification idea. To neutralize the canal in case of war would protect it far better than all the fortifications we could erect. The Suez canal was built by English money but is immune from attack in case of war. England has never expended any money for protecting the canal nor is it necessary as the nations are bound by treaty to hold the canal in strict neutrality in case of war.

The straits of Magellan are also neutralized by treaty and the inter-parliamentary union in 1910 declared in favor of neutralizing all inter-oceanic waterways.

There is a very strong agitation growing up against the proposition to fortify the canal, and when the cost and general effect of such fortification are considered, it is likely that the arguments against fortification will ultimately prevail.

Military men point out that to have to defend the canal in time of war would require the detachment of a very large force of men and ships, and that this as well as the initial expense, which would be very heavy, might be avoided by having the canal neutralized by treaty between Europe and the United States. If fortified the canal would be open to attack in time of war and would be liable to be invested by the enemy as Port Arthur after a tremendously expensive defense fell into the hands of Japan.

Recently a statement signed by men and women, prominent in this country and abroad, has been issued setting forth a number of very strong reasons why the canal should not be fortified, showing quite conclusively that the canal will be better protected by treaty than by fortifications, and that this country by fortifying it would be assuming a heavy and expensive responsibility that could be avoided while the men and money necessary for the purpose might be used in fortifying the Pacific coast against possible attacks from the west.

The men who have signed the statement referred to include some of the most prominent and influential in the country, such, for example, as Richard Olney, David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford university, John Graham Brooks, lecturer on economics, and many others.

The fortification of the canal would moreover be opposed to the movement for universal peace that has been making progress through the influence of The Hague tribunal. Although President Taft and many other prominent Americans favor the fortification of the canal, if it be shown that this policy would favor of advanced militarism and opposition to the peace movement, it will undoubtedly have to be abandoned.

SEEN AND HEARD

A girl with red hair had her shoes shined in a local "shoe shine" shop and as she was about to step down from the chair on the shine bench her hat, a wonderful creation, came in contact with the gas light and the hat caught fire. If the waiters of the brush and didn't notice what had happened they didn't say anything about it and the girl went into the street with her hat on fire. Fortunately for her the fire was small and the hat burned slowly. As she came out of the "shiny" two women observed that her hat was on fire. They couldn't speak English and being unable to have the girl understand what the trouble was they proceeded to lambaste her over the head with their umbrellas. The girl screamed and two men went to her rescue. They tore the burning hat from her head and upon seeing the complexion of her hair one of them pointed to the fiery locks and said: "There's the cause of the fire." The girl paid no attention to the remark but tearfully bewailed the destruction of her "lovely" hat.

A fashionably dressed young woman entered the postoffice in Holyoke, hesitated a moment and stepped up to the stamp window. The stamp clerk looked up expectantly, and she asked: "Do you sell stamps here?" The clerk politely answered: "Yes." "I would like to see some, please," was the unusual request.

The clerk dazedly handed out a large sheet of the two-cent variety, which the young woman carefully examined. Pointing to one near the center, she said: "I will take this one, please."

"Doctor," said the young man with the jingling pockets, "I have come to thank you for your valuable medicine."

"So it helped you, did it?" replied the doctor, smiling. "I am very glad."

The young man nodded.

"It helped me wonderfully," he said. "And how many bottles did you take?"

"Oh, I didn't take any of it," replied the young man, "but I took one bottle, and now I am his sole heir."

Having in mind the recent acrimonious discussion in the New Hampshire house of representatives over the proposition to appropriate money for a statue in memory of Franklin Pierce, the only president that state contributed, a recent visitor from Massachusetts looked about the state house for some reminder of the fourteenth president.

In an obscure corner of the building he found a portrait of President Pierce, but occupying a conspicuous location on the wall of the main hall he noticed a fine oil painting of the late Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, whose memory Massachusetts has been slow to honor.

"What did Governor Butler of Massachusetts do for New Hampshire that his portrait should be here?" asked the visitor.

"Why, he was born in New Hampshire," was the answer.

He was "breaking in" as a motor man on the street railway and on this particular afternoon he was to take out his first car. He had been tutored by an old and experienced motor man and he felt that he was quite capable of piloting a car through any part of the city where the company provided the rails and necessary power. He was on his way to the car barn and as he neared Tower's corner he met another motor man. "I'm going to take out a car this afternoon," he said.

"What time are you going out?" asked the other.

"At 5.15," replied the elated beginner.

"You can't make the stable in time for that car," said the other fellow. "It's ten minutes after five now."

The other fellow pulled out his watch and, according to his time piece, it was just 4.55 o'clock. His watch was right, but the other fellow was putting up a job on him and succeeded in convincing him that it was 5.10 by the right time.

"I must get there, some way," said the now sorely distressed beginner, and just at that moment a taxi drove in sight. He hailed the driver, gave him a dollar and told him to make the stable in Middlesex street at top notch speed. The other fellow had telephoned to the stable and when the bull of the joke arrived the men at the stable were there with the merry ha-ha.

"Am I in time to take out my car?" he asked in breathless haste.

"What time are you supposed to go?" was asked.

"At 5.15," he replied. He was told that it was then only 5 o'clock and the laugh was renewed.

SEED TIME AND HARVEST
As over his furrowed fields which lie beneath a cold-dropping sky. Yet with winter's melted snow, The husbandman goes forth to sow.

Thus, Freedom, on the bitter blast The ventures of the seed we cast. And trust to warmer sun and rain To swell the grains and fill the grain.

Who calls thy glorious service hard? Who deems it not its own reward? Who for its trials counts it less A cause of praise and thankfulness?

It may not be our lot to wield The sickle in the ripened field; Nor ours to hear, on Summer eves, The reaper's song among the sheaves.

Yet where our duty's task is wrought In union with God's great thought, The near and future blend in one, And whatsoever is willed, is done!

And were this life the utmost span, The only end and aim of man, Better the toil of life like these Than waking dream and slithering ease.

But life, though failing like our grain, Like that which revives and springs again, And, early called, how best are they Who wait in heaven their harvest day!

—John G. Whittier.

QUARRELS
There's a knowing little proverb From the sunny land of Spain; But in Northland as in Southland Is its meaning clear and plain. Lock it up with your heart, Neither lose nor lend it— Two it takes to make a quarrel, One can always end it.

Try it well in every way Still you'll find it true, In a fight without a foe Pray what could you do? If the wrath is yours alone Soon you will expend it— Two it takes to make a quarrel, One can always end it.

Let's suppose that both are wrath, And the strife begins; If one shall cry for "Peace," Soon it will be done, If but one shall span the breach, He will quickly mend it— Two it takes to make a quarrel, One can always end it.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

COL. ROOSEVELT
DENOUNCES THE ELECTION OF SENATOR LORIMER
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 16.—Colonel Roosevelt paid his respects by name to Senator Lorimer of Illinois and ex-Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma last night. He denounced both as "punks" to lead public office. Their election, he said, was a disgrace to the communities which elected them.

The denunciation was made in an address to an audience which crowded the opera house and left hundreds standing outside.

In opening his talk, the colonel declared that in its failure to grant New Mexico statehood during the last session of congress, the government had committed a breach of faith.

Arizona, he said, might have offered ground for question, although he favored its admission but with New Mexico there was no question.

Song, "The Angel Came," Miss Eva Henderson, accompanied by Miss Elsie Cragin, of Miss Noye's class.

Reading, Miss Florence Cutting of Miss Gliman's class.

Piano solo, Miss Louise Locke of Mrs. J. C. McGraw's class.

Piano trio, Mrs. James Goodchild, Mrs. Frank Y. Morse and Miss Mary Claus of Mrs. F. S. Kenerson's class.

Drama, "The Speed Limit," Luther Coshin's class.

Quartet, members of F. Y. Morse's class.

THE OPERA HOUSE

"The Prince of Pilsen" attracted a very large audience to the Opera House last night and the performance gave entire satisfaction. The difference in the applause accorded the different members of the cast, "The company is exceptionally clever, the stage settings grand and most effective, and the beautiful costumes worn by the women in the company lent no little interest to the production. The company has its own orchestra and the music was very catchy. The old favorite, Jesse Dandy, was in the role that he has made famous, "Hans Wagner," and was given a great reception on his first entrance. He had a great bunch of parodies and his "Cincinnati" was quite the hit of the evening. As the dancing widow, Lillian Stanger was excellent and her sweet soprano voice of great range captivated the audience.

One of the big hits of the song features of the show was "The American Girl," song of the cities by Miss Ida Stanhope and eight stunning looking young women representing as many well known cities, each doing a graceful individual act in connection with the song. The young woman to whom fell the distinction of representing Lowell was Miss Florence Mackey, a well known Boston girl with many friends in this city. Miss Mackey's contribution was the real hit of the song. She is tall and stately, of unusual grace and fair to behold. Her singing was most pleasing while her "hobble" walk made a big hit with the audience and she was called back three times. Miss Mackey while in Lowell was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Hall of Bellevue street and her several encores were given.

"THE BLUE MOUSE"

With a matinee and evening performance today the Thompson-Plynn stock company will resume its engagement at the Opera House, presenting for the remainder of the week the clever comedy from the German, "The Blue Mouse." This comedy which has enjoyed extended runs both in America and Europe, was introduced by the American stage by that brilliant dramatist and writer, Clyde Fitch, and as presented by the Thompson-Plynn players this week is duplicating the success of other cities. The company is seen to excellent advantage in this play and the stage settings are excellent. Today is to be one of the popular reception nights when the company will hold a reception on the stage after the performance to which all who are in attendance are invited.

FRANK CHRISTY,
Thompson-Plynn Stock Company.

"THE SQUAW MAN"

The play to be presented by the Thompson-Plynn stock company at the Opera House all next week is Edwin Milton Boyles, great American drama, "The Squaw Man," a play that had a run of over three months at Wallack's theatre, New York City, and was seen here at $1.50 prices, with Wm. Ravensham, in the title role. "The Squaw Man" will be presented with the full strength of the stock company and will be mounted in an elaborate manner, all the settings now being in the course of construction. "The Squaw Man" promises to be the most elaborate production so far made by the Thompson-Plynn players and the demand for seats indicates large attendance for each performance. Seats for the play are on sale seven days in advance.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

In presenting to the public, the Donald Meek Stock Co. with Severin De Deyn and dainty Mabelle Estelle in "Old Heidelberg," the management has the gratifying knowledge that the offering has proven and will continue to prove, an alone entirely acceptable to amusements seekers, but much more a real dramatic treat. We feel that it is pardonable pride with which we briefly mention in the following paragraphs: "The attainments of Mr. DeDeyn as a star, the excellence of the entire ensemble of players by whom he is supported, the lavishness displayed in the costuming and mounting of the production, and last but by no means least—the genuine favor with which "Old Heidelberg" has been received, which made possible the engagements ending almost an entire season in New York, followed by three months in Chicago and equally successful engagements in other large cities.

The popular Paragon Four continue to score a big hit at each performance. The boys are thoroughly at home on the stage and their singing receives well merited applause at each performance. The songs they sing are "Die Wacht am Rhein," "In Heidelberg," "The Stein Song," "Love's Old Sweet Song," and "Take Me Back to Bohemia."

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

If one wants to enjoy a real sensational novelty in vaudeville, one wants to be sure to see the Diving Girls, appearing all this week. These two charming, graceful young swimmers give a remarkable diving and swimming exhibition the like of which has never before been seen on any local stage.

The exhibition is made possible by an enormous tank occupying almost the entire stage, into which the girls dive from spring boards high up near the wings.

Then there is Gus Williams, the dean of German comedians and formerly one of the principal funmakers with Weber & Fields. Mr. Williams had a fund of new stories, jokes and songs which keep an audience laughing from the moment he appears until he leaves the stage.

Other first class acts on the bill include Miss May Maxwell, a dainty comedienne; Bernier and Stella, clever dancers and singers; and Ray F. Dennis, a capable soloist.

The pictures, all of the daylight variety, are new today, and the product of the best foreign and American makers.

A continuous performance is presented daily from 1 until 10.30 o'clock.

THEATRE VOYONS

The ever popular Biograph pictures will be the feature at the Theatre Voyons today and in it will appear one of the comedians who has been away for a long time. His work is irresistibly funny and the whole picture is chock full of laughs. The dramatic subject, Pathé's "A Lonely Little Girl" is one of the most pleasing pictures of the month and the comedy, "The Actress and the Singer" introduced Arthur V. Johnson an old time biograph favorite now with the Lubin Stock company as well as Al McGovern at one time a stock star in Lowell.

COLONIAL THEATRE

Why is everybody going to the Colonial theatre, Middlesex street? Well, here's the answer.

Ruth Wright and Berli Lawrence, a bright, snappy pair of entertainers who can do some dancing together with a host of original talent. A positive hit with the audience, the character change artist who furnishes fun galore with his clever songs and makeups. Don't miss Bobbie.

A big act is given by Herber's Nine Krazy Kids in "Last Days at School," a melange of singing, dancing, etc. Three reels of the latest pictures will be shown.

TRIAL OF WOMAN

Expected to be Concluded Today

ALBANY, N. Y., March 16.—The trial of Mrs. Edith Melber, who killed her four year old son in a lonely spot on the outskirts of this city on the night of January 6, last, may reach a conclusion today. With practically all the evidence in and the attorneys for the defense and prosecution each agreeing that three hours probably would be the limit for summing up on each side, it was expected that Justice Howard would be able to deliver his charge and give the case to the jury this afternoon.

Unlike many sensational murder trials the details of this case are very simple. There is no dispute over the fact that Mrs. Melber killed her child with carbolic acid. If the jury sustains the contention of the defense that the woman was mentally irresponsible when this act was committed, the utmost penalty that can be imposed is her incarceration in a state institution for the criminally insane. The defense does not ask for an acquittal.

The prosecution on the other hand contends that the woman was sane and should be convicted of murder in the first degree, with its statutory penalty of electrocution.

COFFEY STABBED

Refuses to Name His Assailant

CHICAGO, March 16.—Stephen Coffey, a clerk in the election commissioner's office and a brother of County Commissioner Lawrence Coffey, was stabbed last night under mysterious circumstances in the vicinity of the Briggs house. Coffey was stabbed five times. He was taken to the county hospital, where it was said he had a fair chance of recovery. The injured man refused to say who his assailant was, although admitting that he knew him. "I just got into an argument," he said. "I won't say who it was that stabbed me. The other fellow will say something. I wouldn't tell my best friend."

MR. FARNSWORTH

TO LECTURE AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Tickets for the Farnsworth travel talk will go on sale today at the drug stores of Deane & Co. and H. C. Page. A big and rapid sale is expected. Mr. Farnsworth has become popular in Lowell. It may seem to those who heard and saw the Panama canal lecture a bit strong to say that the coming lecture at the First Baptist church next Wednesday night, is considered his best lecture. It is on "Nuremberg, Innocence and the Inn valleys of fair Tyrol." Mr. Farnsworth will use 160 superbly colored slides and over one half mile of original motion picture film. This will be given under the auspices of the Calvary Baptist church.

PEOPLE'S CLUB

Rev. Charles T. Billings, pastor of the First Unitarian church gave an interesting illustrated lecture on "Scotland" in Rannels hall last night. It being one of the series of free lectures in the course which is being conducted by the People's Club.

There was a large attendance and Mr. Billings' acquaintance with the country of Scotland kept his listeners attentive during the entire lecture. He described in detail the various cities and sections of Scotland. The illustrated views added interest to the talk.

A slight blaze was discovered in the office of Dr. Howard W. Jewett on the sixth door of Wyman's Exchange yesterday afternoon. The fire started in the waste bucket under the desk but was extinguished before much damage was done.

OFFICERS CHOSEN STUBBORN FIRE

By Billerica Board of Hay, Grain and Flour Trade

A well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the recently formed Billerica board of trade was held last night in the town hall in Billerica. During the early part of the evening a banquet was served after which the meeting was held in the upper hall. Officers were elected, the constitution and by-laws drawn up by committee, were accepted and speeches were made.

Rev. Charles H. Williams Ph.D. of Billerica presided and was also elected president of the organization. Addresses were delivered by Alonzo G. Walsh of the Lowell board of trade, Edwin C. Johnson of the Boston chamber of commerce and Joseph B. Holden of Billerica.

The following were the officers and committees chosen:
President, Rev. Charles H. Williams; secretary, Herbert F. Jacobs; treasurer, John A. Richardson; trade committee, George P. Greenwood, Albert H. Richardson, F. A. D. Singlet, D. J. Devine, Frank A. Fitzgerald; town improvement, T. F. Lyons, J. M. Hanson, J. Harold Dale, Warren H. Manning, N. H. Hutchins; entertainment, C. T. Dickinson, Lyman V. Rutledge, James A. Ruth, A. H. Mitchell, T. F. Sheridan; real estate and manufacturing, Herbert A. King, John E. Rowell, Guy M. Richardson, John H. Foster, H. C. Sheldon; town officers, Arthur Holden, Delacy Corkum, W. B. Chambers, Patrick B. Dechant, Sidney A. Bull; transportation, police service corporation and insurance, Joshua B. Holden, Joseph T. Talbot, J. C. Evans, Fred L. Gleason, Fred A. Casey.

Mr. Johnson of the Boston chamber of commerce extended the congratulations of the Boston body and read the following letter:

Billerica Board of Trade, Billerica, Mass.

Gentlemen: The Boston chamber of commerce is glad indeed to learn that the New England spirit has manifested itself in Billerica, and that you are forming a board of trade. It seems to us one of the most encouraging signs of the time that in this region of long standing traditions and conservatism there are springing up in the smaller business centers organizations formed by the local business men for the improvement of commercial and industrial conditions.

The Boston chamber of commerce is trying to work for all New England. The most effective means for accomplishing this end will always be through local organizations in various parts of the section. We, therefore, welcome the creation of a new board of trade anywhere, not merely because it is a good thing for the city or town where it strikes root, but also because it is a good thing for New England.

Believe us when we say that you have our heartfelt good wishes, and that if at any time occasion arises when we can be of service to you, we shall be only too happy to do so.

Yours very truly,

George S. Smith, Pres.

James A. McKillen, Sec'y.

Alonzo G. Walsh of this city gave an interesting talk and said that the Billerica organization would have the co-operation of the Lowell board of trade at all times. A large delegation was present and considerable business was transacted.

The assembly was opened by James W. Moxley who was chosen moderator, while Silas B. Coburn acted as clerk. The latter was later chosen to serve in that capacity for the ensuing year.

The officers and committees of the past year made their annual reports which showed that much progress had been made during the year, and each was acted upon favorably by the meeting.

The election of officers and committees for the ensuing year had the following results: Treasurer, Peter Bolton; standing committee, Charles L. Dodge, Walter F. Garland, William Ryder; finance committee, John G. Tucke, James W. Moxley, George H. Stevens; music committee, Silas B. Coburn; assessors, Martin Tucker, Gustaf Ekland, Wallace Tucker; trustees of church land, George H. Stevens, Walter F. Garland, Peter Bolton.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, March 27, at the home of William Ryder.

The Dracut board of selectmen went to Boston yesterday to present the town's petition to the state highway commission asking that an allotment be made under the small towns act for an extension to the work in Lakeview avenue, which was started last year, John Eliot Literary club.

and for which the town has made an appropriation of $2000 for an extension of the work should the commission act favorably upon the petition.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Proctor, 187 Hovey street, Tuesday evening, Rev. John Elmer, pastor of the Swedish Congregational church, gave an interesting lecture upon "Home Life in Sweden and Norway."

necessary quarter of a mile. It contains 530 acres or thereabouts with opportunity to acquire more. The only swamp land in the entire area is in one small corner and can be easily drained, by cutting a dam at East Billerica. After they had looked the plan all over they found six or seven reasons why the site was a good one and only one reason why it from Lowell the passenger rides to Pond street, between North Billerica and the centre, a short distance beyond the present five cent fare limit. Proceeding along Pond street from the cars a small cemetery is found and the lower end of the site begins at this cemetery. The location is only two minutes' walk from the cars. The company not only does not propose to build any houses for its help but does not like to run workmen's trains to the plant and hence it would appear that all the riding will be done on the electric.

Met With Opposition

was not, and that one reason was that there was no direct communication with the eastern division of the Boston and Maine. The engineers then went out and looked over the land and surveyed it, after which President Mellen and Agent Barr went there a week ago Friday in a special car of the president's and ran the car along both tracks in order to thoroughly inspect the place. Meanwhile the board of trade committee got into communication with President Sullivan of the Boston and Northern and he agreed that his company would extend the 5-cent fare limit to the site of the plant. To get to the site by electric cars location so well that they gave us a week in which to get options and Herford Elliott, the well known real estate man, was designated as a committee of one to secure the options. Then real and unexpected opposition developed. Three land owners refused options, one man jumping the price of his land from $700 to $1600, while another would not give up under any circumstances. It was at this time that the good offices of Mr. Harrigan were sought and he succeeded in removing all the obstacles in time to report back to the road within the time limit. Since then the matter has hung fire, as the other cities and towns having sites have been making a strenuous fight against us."

Committee Worked Hard

For three weeks the members of the board of trade committee have practically abandoned their private business to give their entire attention to the plans of the present site the committee of engineers took the plans of the proposed car shops which were prepared long before the sites were looked into and compared them, and they were surprised to find that the plans for the buildings "fitted into" the plans of the site as though one had been specially made vacant by the resignation of Judge Robert O. Harris, said he believed it fulfilled the best traditions of the judiciary.

JUDGE CORBETT

TO BE NAMED ASSISTANT CORPORATION COUNSEL

BOSTON, March 16.—The nomination of John D. McLaughlin, assistant corporation counsel of the city of Boston, to be a justice of the superior court was sent to the executive council by Governor Foss yesterday afternoon.

When Mayor Fitzgerald learned that Mr. McLaughlin had been chosen for a place on the bench he announced that Judge Joseph J. Corbett of Charlestown would be appointed to the vacancy as assistant corporation counsel at an annual salary of $6000. Judge Corbett will take office after Mr. McLaughlin's nomination is confirmed by the governor's council.

Gov. Foss, in discussing Mr. McLaughlin's appointment to the place made vacant by the resignation of Judge Robert O. Harris, said he believed it fulfilled the best traditions of the judiciary.

"In arriving at a conclusion," said the governor, "I was influenced by advice of members of the bar, among them one whose opinions I value very highly, and who had himself been a candidate for the position, but who withdrew because he felt that his own appointment might have been miscon-

DR. BRUNELLE

Presents Resolutions to
Board of Health

The following resolutions prepared by Dr. Brunelle and dealing with contagious diseases were adopted by the board of health:

Whereas, The postal card system which is now in vogue, whereby when a contagious disease, dangerous to the public health, is reported to this office, the inspector proceeds to the infected house and places it and at the same time leaves in the home of the one sick with contagious disease, a postal card, the purpose of which, is to notify the board of health as to the time of disinfecting the premises;

And, whereas, this postal card, when left in a house infected with contagious disease, becomes by its presence there, a part of the household furniture, and remains so for several days, or several weeks, as the case may be, and is infectious material;

And, whereas, the fact that this postal card is taken from an infected house to be deposited into a letter box, before the premises are disinfecting, is, of itself, evidence of the possibility in the danger of spreading disease through the mails;

Be it therefore resolved that this system be abolished, and instead, when a case of contagious disease is reported to the board of health, this office will request the attending physician, if he has a telephone, to notify this office when, in his opinion, the danger has passed and the premises are ready for disinfection. Should the attending physician have no telephone, then, the inspector will leave at the physician's office a postal card that he may notify the board of health when, in his opinion, the danger has passed and the premises are ready for disinfection.

If after a certain lapse of time, this office has not been informed as to the time for disinfection of the premises, this office will communicate with the attending physician to find out whether or not the danger of the disease has passed and the premises are ready for disinfection.

And, whereas, our city hall offices are closed every day from five o'clock in the evening until nine o'clock the next morning, excepting on Sundays and holidays, when they are closed all day except between the hours of eleven and twelve in the morning;

For the convenience of the medical profession to safeguard the public health, we are in need of a substitution for antitoxin, centrally located, opened to the public day and night.

And, whereas, such a place would be an admirably fitting in one of our public buildings, as, for instance, the police station, where there are attendants on duty at all hours of the day and night.

And, whereas, the dispensing of antitoxin to the calling physician would take up but little time and require but little care on the part of the attendant;

Be it therefore resolved that our agent, Mr. Bates, confer at once with the police authorities for the purpose of establishing there, at the police station, a substitution for antitoxin during such hours as these city hall offices are closed; which antitoxin may be had by any physician for the asking, filling out and signing the regular state board of health application blank for antitoxin together with the statement by him whether disease in his opinion, is a positive or doubtful case of diphtheria. And, in the event of the latter, a culture of the patient's throat or other location of disease will be at once forwarded to this office whatever application or applications which have so been made by a physician or physicians will be got each day by this office when it opens in the morning. Each application will be registered and filed with in the ordinary way under the rules and regulations of the local board of health.

The supply of anti-toxin will be such as to meet whatever exigencies which may reasonably be thought to arise and will be replenished every day or few days as the occasion may require.

Whereas, anti-toxin for diphtheria is known to have a definite therapeutic value, measured in antitoxic units, such as to have won for itself the right to be regarded by the medical profession as a specific for diphtheria.

And, whereas, the time of the giving of anti-toxin, in a case of diphtheria has a most valuable relation to the immediate effect and ultimate outcome of the case; also, bears on important relation to the possibilities and limitations of the danger of the contagion, in that, if anti-toxin is given in time, it sufficiently large doses, it will thoroughly antidote the toxin of the bacillus and directly destroy it.

And, whereas, with an early diagnosis and prompt administration of antitoxin, a favorable recovery may be reasonably expected. On the other hand, a delay of a few hours may mean serious complications and sometimes death; also greater danger of contagion.

THE MEN'S CLUB
HEARD INTERESTING DISCUSSION
FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE

An enthusiastic meeting of the Men's club of the High Street church to which women were invited was held and proved very interesting, especially for the men folks. A dainty supper was served and after the meal many interesting remarks on "Equal Suffrage" were heard and warmly applauded.

Dr. W. B. Jackson was toastmaster, and he introduced as the first speaker, Mrs. Teresa A. Crowley of Brookline, who presented strong arguments in favor of equal suffrage.

Miss Louise Hall, a member of the local Equal Suffrage league, and a student of sociological and philanthropic questions was the next speaker. She presented the question of equal suffrage from the evolutionary standpoint, and in closing the speaker suggested the organization of a men's league for woman suffrage.

Rev. A. C. Ferrin and D. L. Page were called upon to say a word on the other side of the question, but the former was apparently too gallant to radically disagree with a lady, while the latter is a member of the local Equal Suffrage league and has believed in woman suffrage all his life.

Mrs. Jackson was then called upon and as an opponent she expressed her views in an interesting manner. Mrs. Crowley responded to the latter's remarks by advocating her case, and then the meeting came to a close, every one being satisfied with the way the evening was spent.

SEARS EXECUTED

Had to be Carried to Chair

TRENTON, N. J., March 15.—John Sears, the half-breed who shot and killed Rev. Amos L. Armstrong and Mrs. Armstrong at Dutch Neck last Thanksgiving evening, was executed by electricity at the New Jersey state prison last night. Sears collapsed and had to be carried to the chair by the guards.

Sears made no statement just before his execution but, some days ago he wrote a history of the murder of the aged couple which he gave to Deputy John Freeman to be published after his death. Sears afterward recalled this story. In the statement he said that he was prompted to kill Dr. Armstrong by his desire to get possession of a ring which the minister wore. He said that the shooting of Mrs. Armstrong was not premeditated but followed her throwing a paper weight at him after he had shot her husband.

ON ST. PATRICK

Saint at Two Churches

Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., delivered an eloquent panegyric on St. Patrick at the regular Lenten service at the Immaculate Conception church, last evening, Rev. Fr. McQuade, O. M. I., conducted the recitation of the rosary and gave benediction at the conclusion of the service.

Fr. Fox, in opening, reviewed the early history of Ireland and the coming of Patrick to Erin which was followed by the conversion of the people of Ireland. He then dwelt upon the undying loyalty to the faith of Irish men and women and described the many sacrifices made by them through their loyalty to the church.

"Some 60 or 65 years ago," said the preacher, "our fathers and grandfathers came to this country and their entrance here was greeted with some indifference. They were looked down upon generally and scoffed at. Still they went about their labor in earnest, faithful, honest manner and as a result their neighbors learned to respect them. Today conditions are different. The daughters and sons of these same men and women are not looked down on but are considered with the same respect as others.

Who have a prestige to maintain and a dignity to uphold and let us do our part in the grand work which our fathers and mothers started for us. We must show that we are worthy of the respect that we expect. Let us go on loyally in the teaching which we have received from our parents before us, let us benefit by the teachings and work of the people of Ireland of centuries past, let us look to the labors of St. Patrick and strive to do our true part in upholding the ideals and principles which he taught. May we have the strength to do that which is right and by our acts show that those labors of the past were not made in vain."

The singing of "Hail Glorious Apostle" by the church choir, Mrs. Hugh Walker, director, was a feature of the musical program.

At Sacred Heart

At the Lenten services in the Sacred Heart church last evening, Rev. Jas. P. McDermott, O. M. I., preached a panegyric on St. Patrick.

fluence of St. Patrick upon the civilization of Ireland and the world. His labors were great, he with his own hands having baptized 12,000 persons during his lifetime. Besides ordaining to the priesthood hundreds of young men. He founded many schools and monasteries, and the greatest tribute to him is the fact that the Irish people are among the most deeply religious people in the world today. Surely, such a heritage should proclaim him the patron saint of the Irish. There was special music at the services.

TO FORM KEHILLA

Bay State Jews to Organize

BOSTON, March 15.—For a number of weeks the Jewish communities, especially of Boston, have been moved to form a Kehilla or federation of congregations and organizations for the mutual welfare of the entire Jewish people of Massachusetts, and last evening at the American house there was held a conference of representatives from all sections of the state. The meeting was called by Isaac Heller. One set of representatives were the deputies of the I. O. B. A., which has more than 17,000 members.

The chairman appointed a committee of 10 who presented resolutions asking that a federation of the Jewish organizations and congregations of Massachusetts be organized and that a committee be appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws, also that committees be appointed to care for immigration, naturalization, education, religious and legislative bills and that the organization hold meetings and create a large membership for the purpose of keeping the Jews of Massachusetts active and alive to every movement for their own interest and advancement. The resolutions were unanimously accepted. It was also voted that the organization in its propaganda keep away from partisan politics.

It was voted that a committee of 11 be appointed to confer with all similar organizations in the state to bring about amalgamation. The presentation of a bill that would include the Jews in the Jewish law of preparing meat was one of the causes of the movement.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Should Never Be Removed With Poisonous, Pasty Compounds Because They Are Dangerous and Increase the Growth

The preparations above referred to are invariably in the form of creamy pastes. These are easily recognized by their pale, grayish-greenish color. They are to be applied upon the skin to remain until they are dry. These contain Sulphide of Barium, an insoluble, chalky substance which cannot be dissolved, therefore cannot be absorbed by the skin. The very fact that you are told to leave these pasty compounds on the skin until they are dry, and then lift off with a knife is proof positive that they are not absorbed. If they are why do they still remain on the skin? The most they can possibly do is to remove the surface hair, which in consequence will regrow stronger and thicker after each removal.

There is only one logical and scientific way to remove hair and that is by means of a liquid containing soluble ingredients which can be absorbed by the skin. Do Mirac! known all the World over as the only real permanent hair remover. Its just a hair preparation. It is easily and quickly absorbed and after you have used it you will note there is nothing left on the skin. It is absolutely non-poisonous, therefore it will not produce eczema or blood poisoning. Remember, no matter what claims are made to the contrary, no poisonous, pasty compound or so-called "liquid cure" ever did or ever will destroy a single hair root, and we can prove it.

The extravagant claims recently made by unscrupulous manufacturers of hair removers in sensational advertisements unquestionably justify physicians in cautioning the public against the use of this class of depilatories. How many people have been enticed into using these dangerous preparations with consequent injury to themselves cannot be estimated but only guesses at therefore beware of these free advertisers and others who by giving of their advertisements, try to win the expression that they are "papers and other respectable publications endorse their worthless preparations. Don't be deceived by them. Do Mirac! is the only preparation which is so endorsed.

Do Mirac! is sold at all good stores including A. G. Pollard Company. No honest dealer will offer you a substitute in which he makes more profit. We will send you a 32-page booklet containing full information concerning this remarkable treatment, as well as testimonials of prominent physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals and the principal magazines and newspapers. You should read this booklet before you try anything. Write to Do Mirac! Company, Dept. 14, 118 Park Ave., New York, simply saying you want this booklet, and it will be mailed, sealed, at once.

Sole—All readers of this paper who are afflicted with superfluous hair growths are strongly advised to write for and use this wonderful method, which is endorsed by the World over by eminent authorities, who have made a lifelong study of this subject.

DARING ROBBERS

Diamonds

BOSTON, March 15.—More than a dozen revolver shots were fired in a Washington street jewelry store in the South End last night when two men attempted to steal a tray of gems. One of the men was later captured after a struggle with an officer and gave the name of Harry Chase of New York, formerly living on Pearl street in Baltimore. He said the other man's name was Richardson.

The two men entered the store of Levi Blumberg at closing time and asked to see some jewelry. Blumberg was suspicious and told the men to come around in the morning. The men then opened fire on Blumberg with two revolvers, the storekeeper answering with a couple of shots. The visitors emptied their revolvers, then broke open the chambers and deliberately reloaded the chambers before leaving the store. One of their bullets grazed Blumberg's hip but he was only slightly hurt.

SEDITION CHARGED

AMERICANS WILL BE TRIED IN CIVIL COURTS

EL PASO, Tex., March 16.—Assurance of the safety of all Americans now confined in Mexican prisons, was given in an official statement issued at Juarez last night.

Americans now prisoners will have trials in civil courts on charges of sedition against the Mexican government, but hereafter all insurgents, whether citizens of the United States or not, may be subject to the death penalty under summary military procedure.

The statement from the Mexican officers was issued relative to the seventeen foreigners now imprisoned in the federal jail at Casas Grandes. Fifteen of them are Americans and two are Europeans. Pending their trials, they will have the consideration due to prisoners of war.

Col. Cuellar, in command at Casas Grandes is suffering from wounds. As soon as he is able to move, the prisoners will be marched 170 miles to Chihuahua to face the civil courts. The men are confined in cells at the federal prison under guard of Mexican soldiers. Their ration consists of such as can be spared from the military stores. Casas Grandes, 150 miles from El Paso, has had no food supplies since March 6, when the battle in which the insurgents were defeated, was fought.

Col. Manuel Tambores, military commander at Juarez said:

"The Americans have not been shot and will not be. Col. Cuellar has so reported to us and to Mexico City. It is the intention to give the men a fair trial. This does not mean that the same consideration will be given to zone are that the insurgents are concentrating at various points. Francisco I. Madero, revolutionary leader, with 1000 insurgents, a one-pound cannon, a three-inch field piece and two rapid fire guns, is somewhere north of Casas Grandes. He is drawing toward him General Orozco with 800 men.

The general movement of the insurgents is northward, presumably toward Juarez.

GENERAL REYES

GIVES HIS VIEW OF SITUATION IN MEXICO

ROME, March 16.—Gen. Bernardo Reyes, the Mexican ex-secretary of war, who came here from Paris where he recently completed the first part of his military mission as the representative of President Diaz gave his view yesterday of the situation in Mexico. He predicted that the revolution would soon be over and he expressed great satisfaction at the action of the United States in concentrating troops along the frontier. He was convinced of the good will of the American government toward Mexico and he characterized the reports of an alliance between this country and Japan against the United States as absurd.

Gen. Reyes has been in Europe for more than a year and he has already said that he had no idea of returning home for the present, giving as his reason that his return might be interpreted as a desire to profit politically by the disturbed conditions in Mexico.

"The internal situation in Mexico," said Gen. Reyes, "is reason of the so-called revolution has not the gravity attributed to it. I am sure that the rebellion cannot last more than two months, as President Diaz possesses the influence and the force to crush the revolutionists and bring about peace."

"In the past the strength of the revolutionists consisted in their dependence on the United States. They were able to put on their followers, who found it easy to pass from Mexico to American territory and back again into Mexico. Now the American troops will guard the frontier, and the guarantee of American neutrality, according to the treaties between the two countries, will be effectively cancelled out. The revolutionists cannot now receive foreign help. In addition, the troops of the Mexican government have occupied the principal strategic positions and the number of rebels will diminish daily."

Col. Tambores at first said he had been advised that 40 foreigners were captured but later he said the report was incorrect. He said he had not received the names of the Americans.

It is said that citizens of the United States now fighting in the insurgent ranks number 600. The largest force is with Captain Oscar G. Greighton, who has been active in blowing up bridges on the railroad. Government officers received orders yesterday to stop the crossing of Americans from El Paso into Mexico.

of Mexico and Japan as opposed to the United States is simply absurd. It has doubtless resulted from the fact that there is an old agreement whereby in 1908 Japanese emigrants were allowed to land in Mexico for agricultural work.

In conclusion, General Reyes said: "Should Diaz die, which I hope is distant, the constitution of Mexico, like that of the United States, provides for the succession of the vice-president."

SECY GARFIELD

DISCUSSES LEGAL BASIS OF BALLINGER CASE

WILLIAMSTOWN, March 16.—Without once mentioning the name of Richard Ballinger, former secretary of the Interior, or giving any indication of his own personal feeling in the matter, J. B. Garfield of Cleveland, O., secretary of the Interior under President Roosevelt, discussed "The Legal Basis of the Ballinger Case and the New Progressive Movement" before the members of the Williams college Good Government association last night. He did, however, take a firm stand in regard to the seating of Senator Lorimer, declaring that "every one who has studied the question in all its details knows that Lorimer ought not to be in the senate."

"A conservationist," Mr. Garfield said, "is not a dog in a panger as has been intimated but his object is simply to use lands and other resources without waste and to conserve them for future generations. All governmental problems have their root in industrial and economic problems. As a result of the new situation new political problems have arisen which make the present system appear defective."

Countries—He Says the Wonderful Strides Made by Lowell in the Last Few Years Surprise Him

Mr. Henry E. Lavigueur, pro mayor of Quebec, has returned home after a short visit to this city. He is the brother of Emile C. Lavigueur, the well known musician and teacher, and he came to Lowell to attend the funeral of his niece, Miss Blanche Lavigueur, which took place on Monday. The man who is now deeply interested in the politics of Quebec lived in this city for several years and he saved a considerable sum of money, which he has now in his heart for Lowell, which he says is one of the most progressive cities on the map.

Mr. Lavigueur is a prominent figure in the politics of his native city. He is a keen, level-headed business man with a comprehensive idea of the things that are worth while. The writer had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Lavigueur and he found him to be exceptionally well informed. He has a deep seated interest for the welfare of Quebec and Canada at large. Asked as to the feeling of the Quebec people on the reciprocity question, Mr. Lavigueur said: "A great majority of my people are in favor of reciprocity. It is not a new question with us, and while we are more independently situated at the present time than we were when the question was first made an issue, I think that the spirit of reciprocity is as strong with my people today as it ever was."

Good For Both Countries
"I cannot see that any injuries from reciprocity could be more than short lived. Taking both countries in the large, it promises decided prosperity for both. It would identify the common interests of Canada and the United States and develop greater confidence between the two countries. I venture to say that the question may meet with some opposition in some of the larger cities, especially in Ontario, but the farmers, as a whole, are in favor of it. I know that Quebec farmers are in favor of the measure. We have a great many deserted farms and they are not lying idle because of poor soil but because of the fact that the market is not sufficiently vigorous to take care of the farm products. A great many farmers have left Quebec and with the opening up of a wider market I know that a great many of them would return and resume their former occupations as tillers of the soil. No doubt you have men working in your mills who have good farms in Canada. It might be that for a time the Canadian cities would have to pay more for farm products but that would quickly regulate itself and a vastly greater number would profit by the regulation.

HENRY E. LAVIGUEUR

Would Develop Canada
"I feel that reciprocity would help to develop Canadian resources and I know that the United States would profit as well. It is not by any means a one-sided question and the talk that I hear about Canada fearing an annexation movement is all bosh. We do not want annexation and there is not the remotest possibility of its occurrence, but I do believe that the two countries so closely united in many ways should have an open market. "We have a population of about 8,000,000 people and you have many millions, more than 70,000,000, I believe, but that does not mean us. Our country is much larger than the United States and there is room for us all. A majority of the cleverest men in Canada, including Premier Laurier, one of the greatest statesmen in America, favor reciprocity and they would not favor it unless they were positive in their belief that it would prosper their home country."

Will tell you of a little incident that took place on my way from Quebec to Montreal that is illustrative, in a small way, of the feeling in my country on the question of reciprocity. There were 43 men in the car in which I was riding, and this all important question was the chief topic of conversation. We were nearing Montreal and it was finally suggested that we take a straw ballot to see how we stood on the matter. The straw ballot was taken and 36 of the 43 men voted for reciprocity."

Admires Mayor Meehan

During his stay in Lowell, Mr. Lavigueur made several calls on Mayor Meehan and yesterday afternoon the mayor took him out on a tour of inspection of the fire houses and other places. "The city of Quebec is looking for a new fire chief and Mr. Lavigueur is to make application for the position. He says that Quebec has a good fire department but he thinks there is room for improvement. 'I enjoyed my trip about the city very much,' he said, 'and I am sure that Lowell is to be congratulated upon having so clever and progressive a mayor. He told me a great many things that will be of great assistance to me in the development of plans that we have under way at home. I found him to be a very courteous gentleman and I admire him very much.'"

"I was in Lowell four years ago and I marvel at the wonderful strides you have made along the road of advancement in so short a time. You have erected wonderful buildings during these four years and you have added very materially to the efficiency of your various departments. I think that your fire department, police department and water department are the best I have ever seen. I am especially interested in the fire and water departments and a great deal was shown and explained to me that I will be able to use to good advantage."

"Apart from the sad mission responsible for my visit here, I must say that the trip has been a very enjoyable and a very beneficial one. I was sorry not to have been able to attend the meeting of the city council last Tuesday night. I was in Boston and did not arrive in Lowell in time to attend the meeting and I am very grateful to the chairman of the board of aldermen for arranging to have me seated beside him while he presided over the meeting. I appreciate his kindness and if ever he comes to Quebec he will have a seat beside me in the board of aldermen."

Mr. Lavigueur left Lowell on the 12:30 express for Montreal last night. He would have remained longer but he felt that his business required his personal attention. His business interests include two of the largest manufacturing plants in Canada and he is one of the live wires in the business, social and political circles of Quebec.

MAYOR MEEHAN

WILL PRESIDE AT HOME RULE DEMONSTRATION

Mayor Meehan has accepted an invitation to preside at the meeting held Sunday evening at Lincoln hall under the auspices of the United Irish league and for the benefit of the home rule movement.

The speakers will be Captain Edward O'Meara, Condon, who was sentenced to death in England with Allen Larkin and O'Brien for the rescue of Col. Kelly and Capt. Dwyer, two Fenian leaders, at Manchester, England, in 1867. His sentence was commuted because he was an American citizen, although found equally guilty with those who were executed. Capt. Condon is a fluent and forcible speaker.

The other speaker will be Mr. John O'Connell, national secretary of the United Irish league, a man who has been a power next to John Redmond in advancing the movement for home rule.

The talented reader, Miss Lillian O'Brien, will recite "The Flag" and Edward Hiron will play Irish airs on the violin, while James E. Donnelly, accompanied by Mr. Kelly on the piano, will sing "God Save Ireland" and the words of Condon when sentenced and of Allen Larkin and O'Brien when they mounted the scaffold. See ad.

John Thompson Had Narrow Es- cape From Being Killed

He Was Caught in Shafting at Merwin-Hughes Co.'s Plant in Warrenville — His Condition is Considered Critical

John Thompson, a young man in the employ of the Merwin-Hughes Co., at Warrenville, had a narrow escape from being killed this afternoon as a result of being wound around a shafting. He was hurried in the ambulance to St. John's hospital where he received treatment.

He was employed as an apprentice in the printing establishment and shortly after 2 o'clock while attempting to replace a belt which had come off one of the overhead pulleys, part of his clothing caught in the shafting and he was carried up to the ceiling.

His head struck against the ceiling and when his clothing parted he fell to the floor.

A number of men working in the same room rushed to his assistance and did everything possible to comfort him and in the meantime the ambulance was called.

Upon investigation at the hospital it was found that the young man was suffering from a fracture of the skull and that his condition is critical. He resides at 19 Cady street.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures All Spring Ailments.

Mrs. Marion Bruce, Cumberland, Me., writes: "I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for a great many years, and I think it the best blood medicine in the world. I take it both spring and fall. This last winter and spring I was in very poor health. I was weak and had lost all my appetite and I was all run down. As soon as I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla my strength came back and my appetite returned. I am now well, do my housework, and no longer have that tired feeling."

Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsalabs.

CITY CHARTER

Hearing Held in Law- rence Last Night

LAWRENCE, March 16.—The legislative committee on cities gave a hearing in the city hall last night before over 3000 citizens on the proposed new charter for the city of Lawrence. One charter was submitted by a committee of citizens and is the commission form of government with a mayor and four aldermen. Another charter calls for a mayor and nine aldermen, and follows the form now in commission in Holyoke. The third is known as the Drop-pers charter, drawn up by Professor Garrett Drovers of Williams College. Several spoke in favor of the citizens charter. Professor Garrett Drovers spoke in favor of the charter he drew up. City Solicitor Daniel J. Murphy told of the strong points of the Holyoke form of government.

Dr. M. F. Sullivan and Mayor John T. Cahill spoke regarding changes that might be sufficient to remedy the existing evils.

SLIGHT BLAZE

IN A SHOE SHINE STORE IN SA- LEM STREET

An alarm from box 9 at 2:05 o'clock this afternoon summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in a shoe shine store in the Wheeler block in Salem street, near the corner of Common street. The fire started in a pile of rubbish but was extin-guished before much damage was done.

LARCENY CHARGE

Man Arrested by Local Police

Frank Cohane, aged 36 years and living in Auburn street this city, was arrested about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon by Inspector John Walsh and Warrant Officer Peter Cawley in Bridge street on a warrant charging him with breaking and entering the pumping station in Billerica last night and the larceny therefrom of tools, clothing and a clock. The man denied his guilt but according to police they have sufficient evidence to convict him.

FUNERALS

TARRANT. The funeral of Mrs. Rose A. Tarrant took place this morning from her late home, 27 State street at 8:30 o'clock and proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where a solemn high mass was sung with Rev. James McDermott, O. M. L., celebrant. Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. L., deacon and Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. L., sub-deacon. The sanctuary choir, sang the Gregorian mass and at the offertory "O Sauteris" was sung and at the conclusion of the mass the choir sang "De Profundis." Mr. John Kelly presided at the organ. The bearers were Messrs. James J. Quinn, Thomas L. Curley, Michael Vaughn, Peter Curley, George Campbell and John Curley. The burial was the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. L., read the committal prayers. The grave was covered with a number of beautiful floral pieces, among which were the following: A large pillow with the words "Wife and Mother" from the husband and children; large open book with ribbon lettered "They Will Be Done" from John Tarrant; a standing wreath from the Tarrant family; standing cross on base with ribbon inscribed "Good Bye Rose" from Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Quinn; a large spray tied with ribbon inscribed "At Rest" from Mrs. Julia Cahill and family; basket of roses, plums and ferns from Mrs. M. J. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. St. Lawrence; large anchor on base of roses and plums inscribed "At Rest" from Mr. P. and J. Curley; of Wakefield; wreath with ribbon marked "Cousin" from Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Curley; standing cross on base with inscription "At Rest" from Miss Lena Foley of Reading; a mammoth wreath on base from the superintendent and deputy agents of the Metropolitan Insurance company; large spray from Misses Malone and Bannister; wreath from Mr. and Mrs. Kierman; wreath from Miss Dunahy; spray from Mr. and Mrs. John Quinn; spray from Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frost; spray from Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lyons; spray, Mrs. Katherine Hewson; spray, Miss Jennie Tole; wreath, William J. ## The Railroad Decides Upon Site in North Billerica

A FEW FACTS ABOUT THE ACCEPTED SITE

Four miles from Lowell.
Area 530 acres with much more adjoining land available.
Has 3120 feet frontage on main line of Boston and Maine.
Has 2400 feet frontage on Bedford line of Boston and Maine.
Its greatest length is one and one-half miles.
All dry land except one small corner.
Six houses and one camp now on lot.
Is two minutes' walk from electric cars.
Street railroad will extend five-cent fare limit to new site.
The company plans to have eight buildings in two rows, built east and west, so as to get light all day. The cost will exceed $3,000,000.

Each row will be one mile long.

The site cost $25,000.

The company will begin to build at once.

The shops will employ 1200 men at the start.

It will take until fall to clear the land and six months longer to build the shops.

The site was secured by a committee of the Lowell board of trade consisting of President Harvey B. Greene, Secretary John H. Murphy, George M. Harrigan, J. L. Chalfoux, Jesse Shepard, C. M. Pihl and Her-ford Elliott. The Sun was first to bring the site to public attention as it did on Jan. 10.

Will Employ 3000 Men

The coming of the Boston & Maine repair shops to North Billerica is the biggest thing that has happened in the interest of the city of Lowell in half a century and if it is the only thing that the board of trade has accom-plished in that time, which of course it is not, it is of sufficient magnitude to reflect great credit upon that body.

The board of trade was directly re-sponsible for getting the Boston & Maine to come here. The president of the board in the first place got to Agent Barr at the outset for an opportunity to show the road what was to be offered in the shape of a desirable site after the road had decided to abandon the Wamecet location. Then a com-mittee of the board scoured the land-escape and "dug up" the location in North Billerica, which the eminent en-gineers of the railroad had overlooked, and presented its advantages to the company so strongly that the company looked into the matter and found that the board was right. Then came the matter of getting options on the land, a most difficult proposition, which once more the board of trade com-mittee, principally through one of its directors, brought to a successful issue and finally the railroad after inspect-ing numerous other sites and listening to the arguments of Lawrence, Haverhill, Ayer, Revere, Lynn, Salem and Fitch-burg, came to the conclusion that the North Billerica site is the one best adapted to its purposes and on this site as soon as is possible, will be construct-ed the great repair shops, eight large buildings in two rows, each row one mile in length, which will give em-ployment to 3000 men, mostly skilled mechanics, nearly all of whom will re-side in this city.

It was generally believed that a de-cision was to be made a week or more ago and while the newspapers were sworn to secrecy relative to the prom-able action of the Boston & Maine, they were "tipped" that there would be something doing at that time and they patiently awaited the word to make the happy announcement. On the day on which the matter was sup-posed to come to a head it was an-nounced that the railroad company was to make a visit to a site in Lawrence and would return to Boston for a meet-ing in the afternoon. They went to Lowell and in all probability they met, but the only information available from the office of Agent Barr was that no decision had been arrived at. Then came the information that the com-pany had turned down the Lawrence proposition and finally that the com-pany was considering only two sites, Billerica and Revere.

Plans Kept Secret

The reason for secrecy on the part of the Lowell newspapers was this: Until it was announced in the local papers that the company was investi-gating at Wamecet, the general public had no idea that the Boston and Maine contemplated locating here. Imme-diatly after the fact was made known in Lowell that the company was look-ing for a site the office of Mr. Barr was besieged by boards of trade, city and town committees, real estate deal-ers, etc. with sites all over the state that they desired to unload upon the company. Also wherever it became known that the company or anyone else had discovered a probable site imme-diatly the price of land in that vicinity soared skyward. One of the worst cases of this was right in Billerica in connection with the real site where at first some land owners thought it a good opportunity to "sneak" the railroad company irrespective of the great amount of benefit all concerned were to derive by the establishment of the shops in that neighborhood. But the board of trade principally through Geo. M. Harrigan, showed these people the error of their way and while they re-ceived a good figure for their land they came down from the exorbitant heights. One real estate owner was so obstinate that the promoters, de-spairing of ever getting him in line proposed to get additional land and build the car shop around his plot and this fact, together with Mr. Harrigan's persuasive eloquence, soon brought him back to earth.

History of Deal

The history of the work to get the car shops to Billerica as outlined by President Harvey B. Greene of the board of trade is as follows:

"Seven weeks ago," said Mr. Greene, "the morning after the Boston & Maine authorities announced that the Wame-cet lot was impracticable, I telephoned Agent Barr of the Boston & Maine, to make an appointment with him for the privilege of pointing out to him some advantageous sites in the vicinity of Lowell. The appointment was made and in company with the committee of the board of trade we interviewed Mr. Barr. He stated that he was disap-pointed in the Wamecet lot whereupon we asked him what he required so that we could look up a site for him. He informed us that the company desired a lot with a frontage of one mile and a half on the car tracks, not over 25 miles from Boston and not in the city of Lowell, because the company ob-jected to paying city taxes. But he insisted that the site must be as near the city as possible and on a five cent car fare limit, as the company did not propose to build any houses for its help and thus wanted the plant near enough the city to be convenient for the workmen. Furthermore the site required gas and electric light and a water supply.

The lot should be at least 500 acres in area but not over 600 and it should not be intersected by highways, streets or streams. Finally the land must be high and dry and of such a nature that it could be made ready for building at little cost.

We reported back to the full commit-tee, including Jesse H. Shepard, J. L. Chalfoux, Melvin Rogers, George M. Harrigan, Carl M. Pihl and Secretary Murphy and a sub-committee consist-ing of Messrs. Shepard and Pihl and Engineer Brooks made a tour of Bil-lerica and Tewksbury in search of available sites. In the meantime the Sun came out with the description of a site in North Billerica running from the Billerica depot northward to South Lowell and the company's engineers went to Billerica and looked it over and went from there to Wilmington, going past without noticing what has since proved to be the one site in every way desirable, namely the North Bil-lerica site below the depot and located between the main line and the Bedford branch.

Five Sites Reported

The special committee reported five sites to Mr. Barr and plans of them were prepared by Engineer Brooks, Messrs. Shepard, Brooks and Agent Taft and myself giving our plans to the engineers of the New York, New Hav-es and Hartford, the Fitchburg, and the Boston and Maine divisions in a conference. They were surprised with the features presented by plan four on our map, the site selected. It is lo-cated four miles from Lowell at one end and five miles at the southern end. It is two minutes' walk from the street car line. It has the Billerica water supply and a fair sized pond just across the tracks. It permits an entrance from the main line and a sid-ing on the Bedford branch, having tracks on two sides. It has one mile and a quarter frontage on the main line and the engineers pointed out how this length might be increased if

RANDOLPH HALL

One of Harvard's Exclusive Dormitories Destroyed by Fire

CAMBRIDGE, March 15.—One student was rescued in an unconscious condition, many others were awakened barely in time to escape the flames and all were driven scantily clad to the street by a fire that partially destroyed Randolph hall, one of the most exclusive Harvard dormitories on Mount Auburn street early today. The fire started in a suite on the ground floor of the west wing of the building and spread rapidly to the upper floors, endangering the lives of the sleeping students. Policemen, firemen and janitors rushed through the various apartments, awakened the occupants and after considerable difficulty succeeded in clearing the building without loss of life.

Y. Arai, a Japanese student, was found unconscious in his apartments on the top floor of the dormitory by a policeman who barely escaped with the prostrate student before the flames filled with the hallway. The other occupants of the top floor reached the street unaided.

Randolph Hall was erected by the Conditte estate in the early nineties at a cost of $75,000. Recently an extensive wing was added to the building, together with racquet courts and a swimming pool. The loss to the building is estimated at $25,000 while the individual losses of the students will greatly increase this figure.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

No Formal Observance Will be Held Tomorrow

But Irish and Catholic Societies Will Observe the Day in Their Halls—Rev. Fr. Chittick, of Hyde Park, Will Deliver Panegyric at Patrick's Church

Tomorrow will be St. Patrick's day and will be observed by Irishmen and their descendants the world over, including Lowell.

The weather of the past 48 hours has shown the wisdom of the recent St. Patrick's Day convention in deciding not to hold an outdoor celebration this year and there will be no observance by the united societies of Lowell but all the Irish and Catholic societies will observe the day in their halls while there will be numerous dancing and social parties.

In all the Catholic churches there will be special masses. At St. Patrick's church the day is ever observed, the patronal feast day of the church, with impressive services. At 9 o'clock tomorrow solemn high mass will be sung and a special musical program will be given by the choir under the direction of Michael J. Johnson. The choir will sing Turner's mass departing from the customary Gregorian mass, in honor of the holiday. The panegyric on St. Patrick will be delivered by Rev. Fr. Chittick, of Hyde Park, president of the Norfolk county Catholic Federation and one of the best known pulpits orators of the archdiocese. In the evening the C. Y.

Knights of Columbus

Lowell Council, Knights of Columbus will observe St. Patrick's night on an elaborate scale. They will entertain the members of Nashua council who will come here in a special car. The early part of the evening will be enjoyed with whist, "Forty-Fives," "Humbug" and Pitch, beside billiard and pool tournaments, followed by a physical culture program and a musical and literary entertainment and refreshments. The entertainers will include Lowell and Nashua talent, including several well known professionals. The affair is under the direction of Grand Night Heaps and Lecturer John H. Murphy.

At North Chelmsford

The Bachelor club will go to North Chelmsford tomorrow evening where an entertainment will be given in the town hall in aid of St. John's church.

Central Council Dance

ANOTHER OFFER

New Hampshire Girl Would Wed Westerner

The dear girls have not yet lost interest in the man from the golden west. A man by the name of Roberts, whose home is in San Antonio, Texas, wrote to Mayor Meehan some time ago asking the mayor to pick out a wife for him. For a few days the mayor was besieged with letters, telephone calls and calls in person and the thing got so serious that he thought he had better "put it out." He asked his private secretary, Warren P. Riordan, what he thought about it and Mr. Riordan allowed that if the man wanted a wife, a Lowell woman preferred, he believed he ought to be helped out and Mr. Riordan volunteered to take charge of the matter and today he received the following letter from a girl in old New Hampshire:

Rochester, N. H., March 14, 1911.

Dear Sir: Having read in The Lowell Sun the letter you received from Mr. Roberts of San Antonio, Texas, asking you to find for him a wife, I take this opportunity of addressing you. No doubt you have received quite a number of letters in answer. I have always been interested in the west and it seems to me as if a ranch would be the ideal spot wherein to lead the simple life. I would like to see Mr. Roberts' picture but good looks in men do not appeal to me. If he is honest, faithful and kind, that is all I ask. I am a good plain cook and can sew and knit. I live at home with my folks and while they are good to me and while my home surroundings are very pleasant I feel that I have symptoms of western fever. I am not an adventuress, but a kind, lovable girl and to make some one happy is the ambition of my life. Something was mentioned in Mr. Roberts' letter about long haired sloers and I presume that cow punching is his business. It makes no difference to me what his business may be. I will endeavor to make him a good wife and make home pleasant for him. Mr. Roberts said there were plenty of men, but not many women, and in that event I thought there might be a chance for another. If you will please send Mr. R.'s address I might write to him.

THE BOY SCOUTS

Local Council to be Formed

Mayor John P. Meehan, as local president of the Boy Scouts, has sent the following circular to the superintendent of police, chief of the fire department, members of the board of charity, park commissioners, school committee, public librarian, school masters, military instructor, principal state normal school, newspaper, officials of the Y. M. C. A., and Y. M. C. I. Women's club, prominent attorneys, trustee school superintendent, judge of the police court, clerks of police court and probation officer, agent of the Humane society, officers of the Lowell Boys' club, People's club, transient commissioners, suburban residents, clergymen of all denominations in Lowell and surrounding towns, and others—250 in all:

City Hall, March 15, 1911.

Dear Sir:—The new movement called the Boy Scouts of America has been brought to my notice with the suggestion that it might be fostered by the city of Lowell.

The city of Columbus, Ohio, and other municipalities, have utilized this means of training good citizens under their public recreation departments.

There will be a public hearing on this subject at the city hall on Thursday afternoon, March 23, at 4 o'clock, when Mr. Arthur A. Carey, of Waltham, will explain the movement and indicate the methods of forming a local council. You are cordially invited as one interested in the welfare of Lowell boys.

Yours, very respectfully,

John P. Meehan, Mayor.

AT THE ROBERTSON CO.'S

First Showing Tomorrow

An Innovation at This Store. Oriental Rugs and Carpets.

Formal Opening

The Formal Opening Will Take Place Friday of This Week.

But first arrivals are already on display and you will be welcome to see them informally tomorrow in our Carpet room (2nd floor.)

Someone has said, the Persian Rugs are eminently the best Rugs to buy, yet only an expert's advice should be relied upon in buying Oriental Rugs today—and even that should have an endorser.

Our New York connections are experts on Persian Rugs (and all Oriental Floor Coverings.) This store is the endorser which protects you even to the extent of allowing the return of any purchase which proves unsatisfactory.

There are no Arabian Nights stories to be told about the Oriental Rugs at Robertson's. True, there is romance and mystery in the wonderful intricacy and idealism of design and in their wealth of harmonious colors.

These Oriental Rugs and Carpets will be sold in the plain Robertson way, the very best quality possible at prices asked and the store's guarantee behind every sale. The following list will give you an idea of the magnitude of our purchase, with sizes and quality and price of each Rug.

Does Your Back Ache?

If you are a woman and you have this symptom get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound without delay. Backache seems an invention of the evil one to try woman's souls. Only those who suffer this way can understand the wearing, ceaseless misery.

We ask all such women to read the following letter for proof that Pinkham's Compound cures backache caused by woman's diseases.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness on each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. Otto Woodall, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made thousands of cures of such cases. You notice we say has cured thousands of cases. That means that we are telling you that it has done, not what we think it will do. We are stating facts, not guesses.

We challenge the world to name another remedy for woman's ills which has been so successful or received so many testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit. The testimonials which are constantly being published in the Pinkham advertisements are guaranteed to be absolutely genuine, honest, and given without reward in any way whatever.

DEFEND BUTLER

Many Speakers at the Statue Hearing Yesterday

Pointed Remarks Made by Edward B. Pierce—Jas. H. Wolf, a Colored Lawyer, Urged the Erection of Statue to Memory of Butler

The fame and name of Gen. Benjamin F. Butler was defended at the state house yesterday when the committee on state house and libraries again took up the petition for a statue at the state house in his memory.

After the remonstrants had been heard, Col. A. C. Drinkwater, who managed the financial end of Butler's campaign for governor in 1882, eulogized Gen. Butler at length, terming him "the ablest man that ever sat in congress from New England," and adding that "every charge that has ever been made against him has been disproved." He said the annual attempt will be made for a statue until one is erected.

Sherwin L. Cook, in opposition, said he felt that before more statues are erected to soldiers, we should have statues to our statesmen. He suggested that a commission have charge of all memorials.

W. C. Cunningham of Boston related how he had lost money in the '50s in a company of which Gen. Butler was president.

Edward B. Pierce representing Senator Hibbard, who introduced the bill, accused the opponents of the bill of having a "well organized corps of claqueurs" to applaud the suggestion that if a Butler statue is erected the Shaw monument should be removed.

More colored men and widows of colored soldiers contributed money for the bronze bust of Butler presented to the city of Lowell than charged with Shaw, declared Mr. Pierce.

In closing, Mr. Pierce recounted Gen. Butler's war record and asserted that no remonstrant could say that Butler ever lost a battle or caused the blood of an American to be shed in vain.

He made a statement as to the sources of the Butler family fortune.

James H. Wolf, an attorney and a colored man who was with Butler at Fort Fisher, strongly urged the erection of the statue on Butler's war record alone.

"I want a statue to Gen. Butler because he is the ideal of 10,000,000 people to whom he was always loyal," said Mr. Wolf. "I want the children of this great colored race to come here and see respect paid to the man who first made freedom possible."

Col. Drinkwater said he knew some friends of Butler who lost money in speculations that he got into "when he was no longer the Butler we are talking about, the Butler of the camp, of the courtroom, of congress. When he was defeated for election he was defeated because his whole ticket was defeated."

George E. Pike of Boston, a white-haired man, said he had come to the hearing "because of the character of the aspersions made by the opponents of the statue. "You cannot obliterate the history of this state," said Mr. Pike, "nor can you obliterate Butler's name from her records. Wherever he was placed he did a man's work. If he were alive today those gentlemen who have slandered him would no more have dared to do it than they would have put their heads in a lion's mouth."

C. W. Howe, who was in the party that relieved Butler at New Orleans, spoke in favor of the bill, especially criticizing Moorfield Storey's attitude in the matter.

Others who spoke in favor of the bill were Clifford H. Plummer, a colored attorney who represented the New England suffrage league; William Monroe Trotter, president of the Boston Literary and Historical association; Whitfield Tuck of Winchester; and Charles S. Baker of Falmouth. W. G. Cunningham, who had previously spoken in opposition, asked to have his statements withdrawn after he had learned of General Butler's condition at the end of his career.

The hearing was closed.

FUNERALS

TIBBETTS—The funeral of Elizabeth Tibbetts, daughter of Philip and

Catherine Tibbetts, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of the parents, 29 Tyler street. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons.

McCUE—The funeral of Vera May McCue, child of George and Margaret McCue, took place from the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Miskell, 37 Butler avenue, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where many floral pieces were laid on the grave. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker John J. O'Connell.

EVANS—The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Evans took place from her home, 17 Boston road, yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock. A mass of requiem was sung at the Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock, by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I. The choir sang the Gregorian mass, at the offertory the "O Salutaris," and at the conclusion of the mass the "De Profundis." John J. Kelly presided at the organ. The bearers were Martin Gately, James Sharkey, John McNulty and Charles Moran. The burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Bernard Fletcher read the committal prayers. Among the beautiful floral pieces were: A large pillow inscribed "Mother," from the daughter, Miss Mary A. Evans; a beautiful spray from Charles Daggett and sisters, and a bouquet from Mrs. John Eber; and sprays from Mrs. Lowney and Mr. and Mrs. Reedy, and many others. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker John J. O'Connell.

morning at 8:30 o'clock from her late home, 18 Garnet street, and was largely attended. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where at 9 o'clock a solemn mass of requiem was sung by Rev. John O'Brien. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Miss Mary M. Whiteley sang "Pie Jesu" and after the elevation, Mr. James E. Donnelly sang "In Paradisum." As the remains were being borne from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." Mrs. John McKennedy presided at the organ.

Among the floral tributes was a wreath from Miss Mary McFarlin, and palms from Mrs. McDonough and family. The bearers were Thomas McDonough; Patrick Houlahan; John Whelan and Thomas Harrington. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the final prayers were read by Rev. Fr. O'Brien. Undertakers M. C. H. McDonough Sons had charge.

FOR PUBLIC PARK AT ST. MICHAEL'S

Petitions Being Circulated in Centralville

The members of the committee recently named by the Centralville Social club to look over the possibility of a public park in West Centralville, held a meeting in the club rooms last night and decided as recommended by the park commissioners to circulate petitions to be signed by the voters of that section of the city.

The committee in charge hopes to be through with the petition work in a few days, and then an order may be introduced in the council, for the latter to choose a site and appropriate a certain sum of money for the purchase of the said site.

At the last meeting of the Centralville Social club, Alderman Toupin denied the statement published in a local paper recently, which said that the alderman was opposed to a park in Centralville, and the members of that organization claim that Mr. Toupin is in favor of a park in that district, but the latter when approached by a representative of The Sun this morning, refused to make any further statement on the question.

Councilmen Delaronde, Rogers and Ahlin are ready to do all they can in helping the movement along. Councilman Ahlin said this morning that he favored a park in Little Canada and Centralville, but in the event that only one can be had, he would favor the Centralville site, for it is large enough to accommodate both districts.

PARADE GROUND

Wanted by the Local Militia

Mayor Meehan is in receipt of the following letter from Adjutant-General Gardner W. Pearson:

Boston, March 14, 1911.

Hon. John F. Meehan,

Mayor of Lowell.

Sir:—A communication has been forwarded to me through military channels from Capt. George W. Peterson, Co. C, Sixth Infantry, M. V. M., stating that a demand has been made on the city of Lowell "for suitable grounds for parade drill" as provided in section 130, chapter 604, Acts of 1908. If this is the fact, is there any reason why the city of Lowell should not provide such grounds?

Very respectfully,
Gardner W. Pearson,

STATE ARMORY

ADJUT. GEN. PEARSON WOULD DISPOSE OF ONE AT LAWRENCE

BOSTON, March 16.—The committee on military affairs gave a hearing on the petition of Adj. Gen. Gardner W. Pearson of Lowell providing for the disposal of the state armory at Lawrence, Mass. Charles F. Sargent of Lawrence said that the armory is unsuited for the work of the militia and others who spoke in favor of disposing of the armory were Capt. Louis S. Cox and Capt. Frank I. Donovan, who said the building might be used as an industrial school by the city of Lawrence.

St. Patrick's Day Exercises Held Today

The annual St. Patrick's Day exercises at St. Michael's parochial school were held in the school hall today, on account of tomorrow being a holiday and in addition to the teachers of the school, Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor of St. Michael's and the curates of the parish were present as guests. The hall was prettily decorated with the colors of America and Erin gracefully intertwined, while Old Glory and the Irish flag were displayed conspicuously. After the regular program, Rev. Fr. Shaw addressed the pupils eloquently on the lessons to be drawn from the life and mission of St. Patrick.

The program was as follows:

Hymn, "Erin's Patron Saint."

Dialogue, Ninth Grade

"The Genius of the Irish People"

John Cooke, Walter Mulvey, John Cawley, William McShane, Thomas Donnelly, Edward RJordan, Walter Raney and John Barrett.

Will Wax Enthusiastic at Tonight's Banquet

For six weeks past the committee in charge of the board of trade banquet which is to be held in "Associate" hall, this evening has been fondly hoping that the Boston and Maine would announce its decision relative to its car shops before the date of the banquet so that that great achievement of the board might be impressed upon its guests and the public in general. This morning all hope of hearing the glad news before the banquet was abandoned as it was not believed that the railroad authorities would come to a decision for a week or more.

To say that the receipt of the information shortly before noon today was received with great rejoicing is putting it light and as a result it will be a most enthusiastic gathering that will assemble about the festive board this evening. All arrangements for the banquet have been completed and 500 covers will be laid.

COMPLETE SHOWING OF

Spring Top Coats

From Stein-Block and other good makers.

We've never had so much reason to enthuse as over these new top coats from Stein-Block. The lines are so new and so smart, the tailoring so clever, and the fancy fabrics so appealing, any man who cares at all for dress will lose himself viewing them. The new coats are built on generous lines. The dress coats are cut full; the fancy coats very full, but the collars hug the neck and the lapels are gracefully fashioned. Only the best tailoring is worthy of such designing skill, and these Stein-Block Coats have both.

Dress Coats of black and oxford—serge lined or silk lined. Fancy Coats in grayish and tan chevrons with serge linings.

Tans and browns are prominent in the showing of new spring suits. Grays are still in demand and fancy blues are running strong, but tans are new and will be featured. Stein-Block provides six different sack models, including the new English soft roll, and the Norfolk. Altogether we show a dozen models of sack suits for men and young men—all hand tailored and all trousers with unfinished bottoms.

This is a good week to see the new models. If you're ready to buy, you save 10 per cent. because it's our Anniversary week. If you're not ready we're glad to show you.

FOUND IN RIVER

Florence E. Whittier

BOSTON, March 16.—The body of Florence E. Whittier, the 19-year-old Ipswich girl who mysteriously disappeared on Friday, January 13, was discovered shortly before noon yesterday, floating in the Charles river, on the Cambridge side, a short distance below the Charlesgate hospital, 15 feet from shore.

Leander S. Seguin, 15 years old, of 10 Watson street, schoolboy, who was walking along the parkway at this point, noticed what he supposed was the body of a man in the river, and went down to the water to investigate. Nearby were a ladder and a life preserver, with a rope attached, and young Seguin took the preserver and threw it toward the floating object several times in an effort to get it over the body and draw it ashore. Repeated efforts proving unsuccessful, he went up the bank, continuing toward Riverbank court, where he saw John J. Harkins, of 474 Brookline avenue, Roxbury, and told him of the body in the river. They used the life preserver again with partial success, the body being brought toward the shore. The ladder was then laid on the bank and pushed toward the water, Harkins

THE BLACK HAND

Its Own Members

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The "black hand" society of Chicago is believed by the police, who are working on the latest outrage in the North Side Italian settlement to have played a ghastly joke on itself in the murder of Philippi Maniscalco, who, with Anthony Dugo, was assassinated Tuesday night. Maniscalco is believed by the authorities to have been a member of the "black hand." According to the theory on which they are working, he and his nephew, Lorenzo Maniscalco, had been deputized to lure Dugo, who had refused to pay blackmail, to the place where he was slain. One of the bullets aimed at Dugo went wild and killed Maniscalco. This theory fits in with all the facts the police now have. It tells they have another—that is, that there was treachery inside the "black hand" itself and that Maniscalco was murdered as a result of that treachery. The police have not yet run down the murderers but they have succeeded in discovering the bullets with which the deed was done. These are two slugs three quarters of an inch in diameter and weighing nearly an ounce each.

FOUGHT A DRAW WITH KID SHEA
LAST NIGHT

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 16.—Terry Martin of this city and Kid Shea of Boston fought 10 fast rounds here last night to a draw. Bout was rather tame in early rounds, but Martin had advantage in closing rounds and was entitled to the decision.

Johnny Glover of Boston and Jeff Doherty of New Haven, went 10 rounds. Doherty getting the decision. Decision unpopular, as Glover out-pointed opponent in first eight rounds. Johnny Gallant of Boston and Nap Dufresne of Lewiston, Me., fought a 10 round draw. The bout was fast all the way. Decision a good one.

PRESIDENT'S LIFE IN GEORGIA PREPARES HIM FOR COMING TASKS

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 16.—President Taft's visit to Augusta, which ends Sunday, March 19, has refreshed him for the arduous tasks that confront his return to Washington. During the next few weeks he will go through one of the busiest periods of his career. In addition to directing the operations of the army and navy in the southern war maneuvers, he will review the applications for pardons in the cases of John R. Walsh and Charles W. Morse, financiers now in federal prisons, and must write his message to congress, which he has called in special session beginning April 4. Next he will have to labor long and arduously to have his proposed legislative program, including the recommending of reciprocity with Canada, put through by congress. In Augusta he has been enthusiastically welcomed and has spent considerable time automobiling with Secretary Norton and friends and in playing golf at the Country club. # New York Legislature May Pass Law Abolishing Them

The national bureau of education which supplies school superintendents legislative circulars from time to time, while legislatures are in session, has sent one recently to Supt. A. K. Whitcomb and he has noted several things which he believes will be of much interest to those who study educational methods and the laws in various states affecting them.

The legislatures of New York and Michigan now have before them bills for state wide abolishment of fraternities, societies, etc., among pupils in public schools. School boards in cities are taking this action in great numbers all over the country, but the two states aforementioned are the only ones so far noted which propose a state law on the matter.

Medical Inspection
Connecticut and New Jersey are following the example of Massachusetts in making medical inspection of school children compulsory in all cities and towns. Mr. Whitcomb says he is especially interested in learning that Colorado has in a hand a law providing for the dental examination of school children in cities or towns of 5000 population or over. Why children in large places should need such care more than those living in smaller communities does not appear. As stated yesterday this work is now being done in 42 cities of the country, and the practice is gaining ground rapidly.

Pensioning Teachers
Bills for pensioning teachers are pending in Connecticut and several others states which have not already taken favorable action on such laws. Arizona's constitution prohibits the employment of children under 14 years of age while schools are in session, and under 16 any but a limited number of occupations, but it does not permit such employment in vacations. Connecticut has in hand a bill permitting mentally deficient children to work between the ages of fourteen and sixteen. Eight of these provisions are contrary to Massachusetts law which prohibits work by children under 14, and under 16 if unable to read and write in English, in vacations as well as at all other times. Here, too, a mentally deficient child who cannot learn books, but who has a good body and is well able to work, is condemned to idleness for two years after the age of 14, even though his condition is such that he cannot be received or continued in a school.

Connecticut is planning a state industrial or trade school at New Haven for which the state will pay all the expenses instead of one-half as in Massachusetts. An appropriation of $100,000 is proposed as a beginning.

IT'S A COLD DAY

Quite a Drop in the Temperature

NEW YORK, March 16.—A cold snap of unusual severity for this season of the year holds practically the entire eastern section of the country tightly gripped today with small probability of its grasp being loosened before tomorrow. There was a drop of 25 degrees in temperature to a minimum of 15 degrees in this city during the night.

Temperatures following the rain and brief snow flurry of last night, dropped to nearly zero at points in interior New York state, while it was only four above the zero mark in Pittsburgh this morning and 14 degrees in Washington, D. C., the latter a remarkably low figure. The cold wave was borne in upon a high wind which averaged 56 miles an hour, along the coast here and up into New England. The storm moved northeastward and today is central in eastern Maine or over Nova Scotia.

It is already warming up to the west of the Mississippi river but low temperatures prevail over the Ohio valley and the lake region. According to the local weather bureau the cold snap will continue through today and tonight with probability of warmer conditions tomorrow.

Slippery pavements were responsible for numerous falls and injuries to pedestrians here.

LADDER SLIPPED

Man Was Crushed to Death

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 16.—Austin Burke, 23, an employee of the Glenlyon Dye works at Philadelphia, was killed in a peculiar manner in the bleach house of the plant today. While at work standing on a ladder the ladder slipped and Burke was precipitated head first between a large belt and pulley. The rapidly moving belt drew his head between it and the pulley, crushing him to death. He was unmarried.

RARE MUSIC

BY LOUGY CLUB OF BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The star course of the Y. M. C. A. came to a close last evening with a delightful concert of chamber music by the Longy club of the Boston Symphony orchestra, with the exception of the pianist. The players were: Flute, Mr. A. Brooke; horns, Messrs. F. Hahn and H. Lorber; oboes, Messrs. G. Longy and C. Lenox; bassoons, Messrs. G. Sadony and J. Mosbach; clarinets, Messrs. G. Grisez and T. Mimart; piano, Mr. A. DeVoto. As may be noted nearly all of the instruments used are of extremely ancient origin. Modern improvements have been made in all of them, of course, but they still retain some of their original characteristics. The oboe, for example, is one of the most archaic of its tribe, and in its ancient form was known in many climes, especially in Egypt and the eastern countries, in some of which it may be heard in its simpler and ruder form today. And so with the flute and horn and later with the bassoon and the clarinet.

The program was as follows:
Gounod ..... Petite Symphonie
For Flute, 2 Oboes, 2 Clarinets, 2 Horns and 2 Bassoons.

1—Adagio—Allegretto.
2—Andante Cantabile.
3—Scherzo.
4—Finale.

Widor ..... Introduction and Rondo
For Clarinet and Piano.

Messrs. G. Grisez and A. de Voto.
St. Saens (a) ..... Peulillet D'Album
Schubert (b) ..... Menuet
Gouvy (g) ..... Aubade et Ronde de Nuit

For Flute, 2 Oboes, 2 Clarinets, 2 Horns and 2 Bassoons.

Rietz ..... Concertstueck (op. 41)
For Flute, Oboe, Clarinet, Horn

MICHAEL BARRY

Lowell Man Arrested in Nashua

NASHUA, N. H., March 15.—Michael Barry of Lowell was arrested last evening by Patrolmen Mulvanity and O'Connell, charged with the larceny of a suitcase containing clothing, the property of David Kellman. The owner, who had been "chopping" in the woods, set the case down in a store on Factory street, and it is alleged Barry picked it up and, taking it to Markarian's second-hand store, sold it. The property was recovered.

PARDONS REFUSED

ADVERSE REPORTS IN CASE OF SMART AND SUTTON

BOSTON, March 15.—At the session of the executive council yesterday the pardon committee refused to recommend the pardoning of George B. Smart of Lawrence, now serving sentence in the house of correction for conspiracy to bribe.

The pardon committee also declined to recommend executive clemency in the case of Edward Sutton now serving a term of six to eight years in the state prison for assault and battery.

The executive council accepted the reports.

FIVE GOVERNORS AND ONE EX-GOVERNOR TO SPEAK FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

SHOULD the right of the ballot be granted to women? some one asked recently of Father Vaughan, the famous London preacher.

"If it should be given to women," he replied, "I am afraid the suffragettes would want it also."

But that is an English view, and only one man's opinion at best. American opinion seems to be moving toward the point of deciding that the ballot should be granted to all women, whether they are suffragists, suffragettes or women who do not care whether or not the right to vote is given to the members of their sex. In five states of the Union women possess the full right of suffrage. Washington, Wyoming and Utah on this question last November. Witness the suffragist flag—blue ground, four five-pointed white stars arranged in the shape of a square, with a fifth star midway between the center of the flag and the two stars on the left side. Inscribed on the five starred flag is the slogan or fighting cry of the suffragists, "Votes For Women."

See Seven Stars on Flag.

It looks as though the women's suffrage flag would not remain long in its present form. The way is almost cleared for the addition of two or three stars to the banner. In Kansas and California bills granting the full suffrage to women have been passed by the legislatures, and the only remaining step is the approval of the measures by the electorates of the two states. In California there is to be a special election this year, probably in September, at which the question will be decided. Leading suffragists declare themselves well pleased with the outlook. They assert their assurance that the activity of the anti-suffragists will not prevail in the Sunflower State or the Golden State. Ohio, too, may soon swing in line for the granting of the vote to women. There is to be a constitutional convention in the state next year, and the leaders of the movement in Ohio, assisted by prominent women from other states, are campaigning already for the adoption of a constitutional provision granting them the right to vote. Victory in Ohio, which vies with Virginia for the title of "mother of presidents," is desired ardently by the suffragists, and they are working hard for its achievement. Movement all along the line throughout the Union is the order of the day in the suffrage army. Strong objective points are found in the state and city of New York. The recent stage of the New York legislature, conducted by suffragists led by some of the ablest generals and captains in the cause, held the attention of the Empire State for a time.

Five Governors to Speak For Cause.

To reawaken interest in the cause in New York city a great suffrage meeting, to be held on or about March 30, has been planned. It will be addressed by many men of prominence who affirm their faith in the suffrage cause. Possibly as "an evidence of good faith"

the leaders of the women invited the governors of the five suffrage states to address the meetings, and every one of the five accepted. They are Governors James H. Hawley of Idaho, John F. Shafroth of Colorado, J. M. Carey of Wyoming, William Spry of Utah and Marion E. Hay of Washington. Idaho seems to be an especially enthusiastic suffrage state, for it will send to the meeting not only its actual governor, but also former Governor James H. Brady, who left the gubernatorial chair in January. He is a strong suffragist and will tour the world in the cause, speaking at the annual convention of the International Woman's Suffrage alliance to be held in Stockholm in June. The alliance is the great central body of the suffrage cause. Its head is an American, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt.

Present day suffrage sentiment is permeated with joy over the recent victory in Washington, and the women who helped to win the victory are the heroes of the cause. Prominent among them stands Mrs. Emma Smith De Voë, who is president of the recently organized National Council of Women Voters and therefore head and representative of 500,000 women who possess the full right of the ballot. Among her ablest conductors is Mrs. Cornelia Templeton Jewett, chairman of the press committee of the council, a northwestern newspaper woman of experience, who is doing much to advance the suffrage propaganda in her section of the country and elsewhere. History of Suffrage Successes.

As recited by the suffragists, the history of the movement is a long, unbroken series of successes. The facts following are taken from a leaflet entitled "Progress of Equal Suffrage," compiled by Alice Stone Blackwell, daughter of the late Lucy Stone, one of the pioneer woman suffragists of America.

"Fifty years ago women could not vote anywhere except to a very limited extent in Sweden and a few other places in the old world."

"In 1838 Kentucky gave school suffrage to widows with children of school age. In 1850 Ontario gave it to women, both married and single. In 1851 Kansas gave it to all women. In 1867 New South Wales gave women municipal suffrage. In 1869 England gave municipal suffrage to single women and widows. Victoria gave it to women, both married and single, and Wyoming gave full suffrage to all women."

"In 1871 Western Australia gave municipal suffrage to women. School suffrage was granted in 1875 by Michigan and Minnesota. In 1876 by Colorado. In 1877 by New Zealand. In 1878 by New Hampshire and Oregon. In 1879 by Massachusetts. In 1880 by New York and Vermont. In 1880 South Australia gave municipal suffrage to women."

"In 1881 municipal suffrage was extended to the single women and widows of Scotland and parliamentary suffrage to the women of the Isle of Man. Nebraska gave school suffrage to women in 1883. Municipal suffrage was given by Ontario and Tasmania in 1884 and by New Zealand and New Brunswick in 1885. In 1887 municipal suffrage was granted in Kansas, Nova Scotia and Manitoba and school suffrage in North and South Dakota, Montana, Arizona and New Jersey. In the same year Montana gave taxpaying women the right to vote upon all questions submitted to the taxpayers."

"In 1888 England gave women county suffrage, and British Columbia and the northwest territory gave them municipal suffrage. In 1889 county suffrage was given to the women of Scotland and municipal suffrage to single women and widows in the province of Quebec. In 1891 school suffrage was granted in Illinois."

On All Sides of the Globe.

"In 1893 school suffrage was granted in Connecticut and full suffrage in Colorado and New Zealand. In 1894 school suffrage was granted in Ohio, and suffrage in Iowa and parish and district suffrage in England to women, both married and single. In 1895 full state suffrage was granted in South Australia to women, both married and single. In 1896 full suffrage was granted in Utah and Idaho."

"In 1898 the women of Ireland were given the right to vote for all offices except members of parliament. Minnesota gave women the right to vote for library trustees. Delaware gave school suffrage to taxpaying women. France gave women engaged in commerce the right to vote for judges of the tribunal of commerce, and Louisiana gave taxpaying women the right to vote upon all questions submitted to the taxpayers. In 1900 Wisconsin gave women school suffrage, and Western Australia granted full state suffrage."

"In 1901 New York gave taxpaying women in towns and villages the right to vote on questions of local taxation. Norway gave municipal suffrage, and the Kansas legislature voted a proposal to repeal municipal suffrage. In 1902 full national suffrage was granted to the women of Australia, and full state suffrage to the women of New South Wales. In 1903 bond suffrage was granted in Kansas, and Tasmania gave women full state suffrage. In 1905 Queensland did the same."

"In 1906 Finland gave full national suffrage to women, and made them eligible to all offices. In 1907 Norway gave full parliamentary suffrage to the 300,000 women who already had municipal suffrage. Sweden made women eligible to municipal office. Denmark gave women the right to vote for members of boards of public charities and to serve on such boards, and England made women eligible as mayors, aldermen and county and town councillors. The new state of Oklahoma continued school suffrage for women."

"In 1908 Michigan gave all women who pay taxes the right to vote upon questions of local taxation. Denmark gave women who are taxpayers, or the wives of taxpayers a vote for all offices except members of parliament, and Victoria gave full state suffrage to all women."

The latest women's triumph is the adoption by the Norwegian cabinet of a resolution providing for the admission of women to state offices, except those having to do with the cabinet, the military, diplomatic and consular services and the church.

First Services to Be Held Soon In America's Future "Westminster Abbey"

CATHEDRAL OF ST. JOHN THE DIVINE AS IT IS (Two Views).

WE have the Hall of Fame for the perpetuation of the memories of great Americans. We have a statue hall in the national capitol in Washington for the paying of tribute by the individual states to their honored sons—to a well beloved daughter in one case, Frances E. Willard of Illinois. We have beautiful, historic Arlington and the other national cemeteries for the entombing of the remains of our soldier and sailor dead. But we have no Westminster abbey wherein to inter the bodies of those who have deserved well of the republic. The want is to be filled when the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York is completed, some decades from the present year. Easter week of this year will mark the opening of a new epoch in the history of the splendid edifice, for it will see the holding of the first services in the body of the cathedral.

A great gathering of the churchmen of New York and of other cities, a gathering notable for size and distinction, has been planned for the services. Prominent members of the clergy and eminent laymen will attend, and a congregation of 10,000 persons is expected. Two services will be held on April 19, in the morning and in the afternoon. The musical parts will be rendered to the accompaniment of the great organ, recently installed, the mightiest instrument in the United States. The cost of the organ was approximately $60,000.

The crypt of the cathedral, used for several years for the holding of services, contains already the body of an American of great distinction—that is, the late Henry Codrington Potter, bishop of the diocese of New York, whose body was interred beneath the floor of the altar in the crypt on Oct. 20, 1905. It was declared at that time that the interment of the body of Bishop Potter was not to be considered a precedent for the burial in the cathedral of any of his successors. But it was asserted also that it was hoped to make of the structure a sort of American Westminster abbey, with intramural burial as an honor to be reserved for the bodies of persons of national fame, not necessarily Episcopalians.

If any one seeks a concrete illustration of the truth of the saying that "art is long and time is fleeting" he may find it in cathedral building. Nine hundred years have passed since the erection of the glorious edifice crowning Cathedral heights in New York, yet begun, and but half of the structure is completed. Its builders realize that they are building for centuries, not for years, and they display no impatience. Europe's great cathedrals, most of which are surpassed in size by the New York church, were many decades in attaining their full growth. As the years and decades and centuries wore on, taking with them generation after generation of cathedral builders, so the structures came to assume the nature of living, sentient creatures, developing from infancy to glorious maturity, until they assumed and retained for all time their places in the hearts of the people. Thus it will be, it is hoped, with the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, fourth in size among the world's splendid fane.

Only St. Peter's in Rome, the cathedral in Seville, Spain, and the duomo or cathedral of Milan, Italy, surpass St. John's in size.

The ground plan of the cathedral is cruciform. At the east end there will be when the cathedral is completed seven chapels. Two of them are already finished. The entire length of the edifice will be 520 feet. The width will be 253 feet and the height to the apex of the highest spire will be 425 feet. The incomplete cathedral is already one of the architectural monuments of New York city, and the beholder receives an impression of dignity and grandeur befitting the character of the building and its vast proportions. But when it is completed and its 499 feet of artificial construction are added to the 120 feet above sea level of its site it will dominate its section of the city, already one of the most beautiful between Yonkers and the Narrows. In close proximity to the cathedral are Columbia university, St. Luke's hospital and other important public buildings.

Writing recently of the uncompleted cathedral, C. Grant La Farge, architect of the building, said:

"It will be seen, then, that however great the progress made, much still remains to be accomplished. How long it will take to complete the entire cathedral is purely a matter of conjecture. Let us hope that for the lasting glory of our city this work [the erection of the great cathedral tower] may be the next step undertaken, so that the visitor to our shores may beyond peradventure know that we are a people capable of great things in the realm of the imagination as well as of those that are material."

Cross Continental Coaching Trip Paul A. Sorg's Ambitious Plan

RUN over your list of living Americans famous for being first in any line of human endeavor: See if the name of Paul A. Sorg is on the list. If it is not, add it, for Mr. Sorg is the champion whip of the country. What's a "whip," you say. A "whip," friend the reader, is a man or woman who drives horses for sport, not for money. If a man drives horses for money he isn't a whip. He's a truckman or a teamster or a coachman or something like that, but he isn't a whip.

The distinction of being the champion whip of the United States—with a good right to claim in addition the championship of Great Britain—has belonged until recently to Alfred G. Vanderbilt. Along came Mr. Sorg last fall and took the title away from Mr. Vanderbilt by winning the ten mile coaching race from the latter at the horse show in New York.

Mr. Sorg's latest scheme, announced some time ago, is the tooling of a coach and four across the continent, from New York to San Francisco. This is really a big scheme, so big that at its very mention all other coaching records and plans go into the discard of forgotten things. There are very few horsemen of experience in this or in any other country who could think up a scheme like that. If accomplished it will be the greatest coaching feat in the long series of years which began when man first hitched up more than one horse to a wheeled vehicle. It will be the longest and most difficult coaching trip ever attempted by an amateur or professional four-in-hand driver.

According to the announced plans, the 2,000 mile run from the Atlantic to the Pacific is to be carried out on an unprecedented scale. The equipment is to consist of two coaches, seventy-five horses, forty men and two special railroad cars for the carrying of necessary harness and other paraphernalia. The "water level route" from New York to Chicago is to be followed as closely as possible. The teams used each day are to be shipped ahead by rail in the special cars to await the coming of the coach and rest in the intervening time. The stages are to be twelve miles, and at the end of each twelve mile stretch keepers are to be posted with fresh horses ready to draw the Old Sport, as Mr. Sorg's coach is called, over the road to the next relay station. Of course these arrangements may be altered if the state of the roads or other inconvenience requires change of the plan.

One of the special railroad cars will carry an extra coach to be used in case of a breakdown (so serious for repair, and a blacksmith will be carried to shoe the horses and make repairs to the coach. Naturally everything that money can do to insure the success of the trip will be done.

Mr. Sorg has "all kinds of money." He is the son and heir of the late Paul J. Sorg, congressman from Ohio, who died in 1902. The older Sorg made a great fortune in the manufacture of plug tobacco, so big a fortune that when he entered congress in 1896 as the representative of the Third Ohio district he was said to be the richest man in either branch of the national legislature. It was said that his income was more than $1,000,000 a year, derived from a fortune of over $15,000,000.

In spite of Mr. Sorg's activity in coaching matters, his victory over Alfred G. Vanderbilt and his willingness to spend his money and time on the sport of driving four horses in front of a smartly equipped and perfectly turned out coach, with all the needful accessories, he is not a member of the Coaching club, one of the smartest organizations of New York. The Coaching club was founded thirty-five years ago for the purpose of encouraging coaching. It has fifty-two members, all of them prominent lovers of horses and coaching. The president is Colonel William Jay.

It was reported recently that the death of Mr. Sorg's infant son, his only child, might interfere with his prospective coast to coast coaching trip. It was said also that he intended selling his big stable of show horses in order to devote all of his time to the preparations for the big trip. He is a resident of New York.

Proceeding along Pond street from the cars a small cemetery is found and the tower end of the site begins at this cemetery. The location is only two minutes' walk from the cars. The company not only does not propose to build any houses for its help but does not like to run workmen's trains to the plant and hence it would appear that all the riding will be done on the electric.

was not, and that one reason was that there was no direct communication with the eastern division of the Boston and Maine. The engineers then went out and looked over the land and surveyed it, after which President Mellen and Agent Barr went there a week ago Friday in a special car of the president's and ran the car along both tracks in order to thoroughly inspect the place. Meanwhile the board of the committee got into communication with President Sullivan of the Boston and Northern and he agreed that his company would extend the 5-cent fare limit to the site of the plant. To get to the site by electric cars location so well that they gave us a week in which to get options and Harford Elliott, the well-known real estate man, was designated as a committee of one to secure the options. Then real and unexpected opposition developed. Three land owners refused options, one man jumping the price of his land from $700 to $1600, while another would not give up under any circumstances. It was at this time that the good offices of Mr. Harrigan were sought and he succeeded in removing all the obstacles in time to report back to the road within the time limit. Since then the matter has lung fire, as the other cities and towns

Committee Worked Hard

For three weeks the members of the board of trade committee have practically abandoned their private business to give their entire attention to the plans of the present site the committee of engineers took the plans of the proposed car shops which were prepared long before the sites were looked into and compared them, and they were surprised to find that the plans for the buildings "fitted into" the plans of the site as though one had been specially play 3000 men, mostly skilled mechanics. The yards surrounding the buildings will be honeycombed with railroad tracks.

JUDGE CORBETT

TO BE NAMED ASSISTANT CORPORATION COUNSEL.

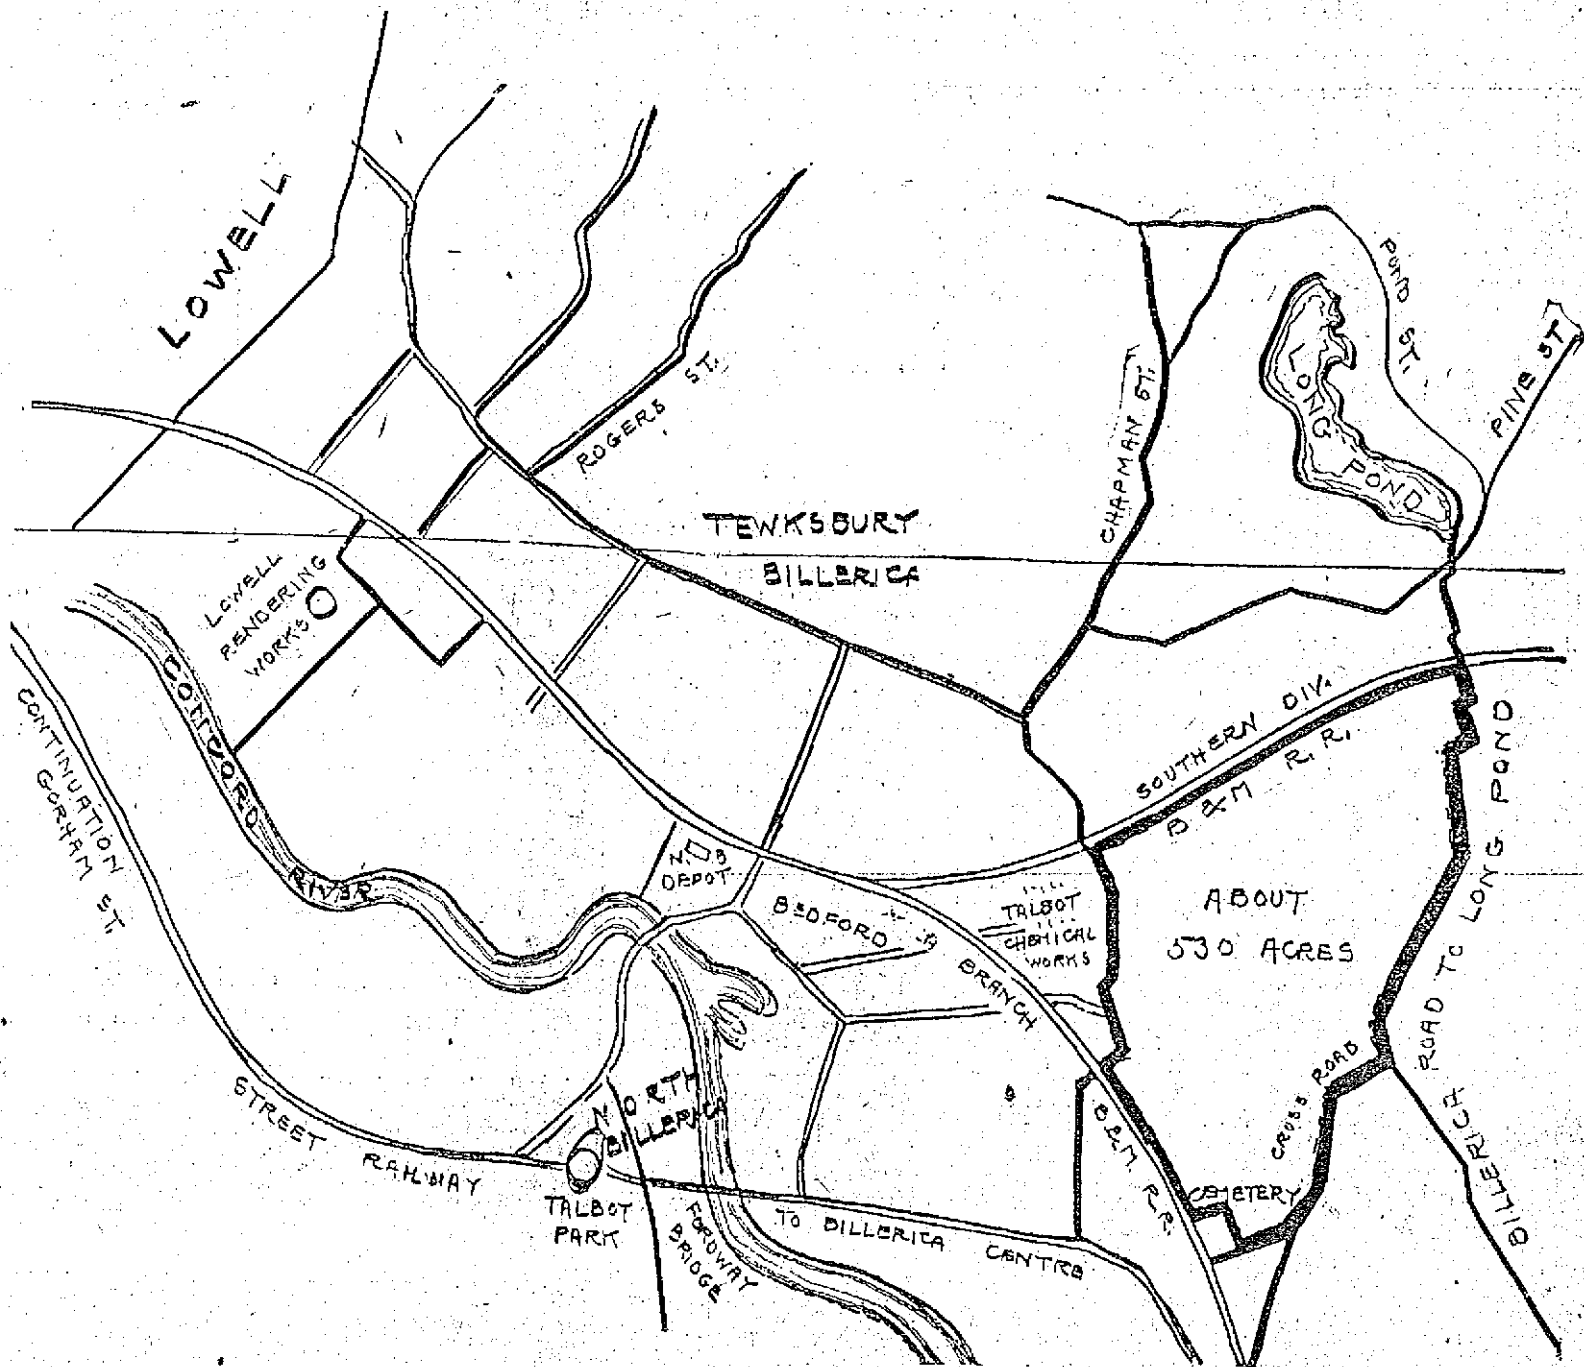

BOSTON, March 16.—The nomination of John D. McLaughlin, assistant corporation counsel of the city of Boston, to be a justice of the superior court was sent to the executive council by Governor Foss yesterday afternoon.

When Mayor Fitzgerald learned that Mr. McLaughlin had been chosen for a place on the bench he announced that Judge Joseph J. Corbett of Charlestown would be appointed to the vacancy as assistant corporation counsel at an annual salary of $6000. Judge Corbett will take office after Mr. McLaughlin's nomination is confirmed by the governor's council. Gov. Foss, in discussing Mr. McLaughlin's appointment to the place made vacant by the resignation of Judge Robert O. Harris, said he believed it fulfilled the best traditions of the judiciary.

"In arriving at a conclusion," said the governor, "I was influenced by advice of members of the bar, among them one whose opinions I value very highly, and who had himself been a candidate for the position but who withdrew because he felt that his own appointment might have been miscon-

Store on Hale Street Was Practically Wrecked — Poleo Was Asked to Make a Loan of $300

BOSTON, March 16.—Black hand demands upon Gaspare Poleo, an Italian merchant on Hale street in the West End, were followed early today by the discharge of a bomb in Poleo's little store. Although no one was hurt, windows were shattered in many of the adjoining buildings, Poleo's store was partially wrecked and the dwellers in the vicinity were given a bad scare. Early last month Poleo had a visitor who demanded $300 as a loan. Poleo told the caller that he had no money and the man returned later to renew his demand, which was again refused. Another demand was made in a letter, which gave Poleo directions regarding the delivery of the money. The letter named as the penalty for Poleo's refusal to comply with the demand the death of his wife by a revolver bullet and Poleo's own death by a stiletto wound.

GENERAL TREATY VESSEL ASHORE

With Great Britain is Sixty Men Are In Expected Peril

WASHINGTON, March 16.—When congress assemblies in regular session next December it is believed the president may be able to redeem his promise to submit a treaty with Great Britain providing for general and unlimited arbitration of all questions arising between America and Great Britain.

Attention having been directed to the subject by the remarkable speech of Mr. Edward Grey in parliament, it is learned that negotiations for such a treaty have been proceeding informally for a long time, though neither side yet has submitted a final concrete proposition.

With a practical agreement upon the principle of arbitrating all questions in controversy, even those involving national honor (expressly excluded by existing conventions of The Hague), only two practical difficulties have been encountered by the negotiators. Those are:

First—The insistence of the American senate upon its constitutional right to pass upon each and every question to be submitted to arbitration, which it is recognized would involve a separate treaty in every case.

Second—In framing the declaration in favor of general arbitration so as to exclude questions involving national policy.

Emphasis is laid on the statement that it is not contemplated to provide for anything in the nature of an alliance, defensive, offensive or otherwise between the two principals to the projected treaty.

The generally favorable tenor of the comments by the English press on the suggestion of a broad arbitration treaty between America and Great Britain was officially reported yesterday to the state department by the U. S. embassy at London.

The dispatch said that the important government and opposition papers of England were unanimous in expressing cordial approval of Sir Edward Grey's speech in the house of commons on Monday to the effect that the British government would welcome a proposal for a broad arbitration agreement with the United States.

NARROW ESCAPE

AUTO CRASHED THROUGH GATES AT RAILROAD CROSSING

BOSTON, March 16.—Just as a passenger train on the Saugus branch of the Boston & Maine railroad was approaching the Main street crossing, Malden, at 10:30 o'clock last night, an automobile numbered 13,380, in which a man and woman were riding, came down the street, which at that point is known as Belmont Hill, and crashed through the gate across the track.

The driver had apparently lost control of the machine, which sped across the track, barely escaping the approaching engine. The gate tender saw the machine crash through the first gate in time to lift the other. The glass wind shield of the machine was shattered, but the occupants appeared to have escaped injury.

License number 13,390 is listed under the name of Joseph M. Cox of 1807 Beacon street, Brookline.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 15.—Although Ralph Johnstone, the aviator who lost his life in a fall at Denver last November, was one of the foremost aviators of his day, he died a comparatively poor man. His will, filed for probate here yesterday, showed he left $334 in cash and real estate valued at $1800.

The new schedule calls for an advance of 20 per cent. for freight trainmen when employed in the yards, and 10 per cent. when out on the road.

The Safe on a Battleship Was Drilled

MARLBORO, March 16.—That the kindness of Paymaster John Wise Morse, U. S. N., in recommending his yeoman for the position of pay clerk in charge of funds of the United States navy has been repaid with devotion from the service and the theft of more than $40,000, which he, Paymaster Morse, has to bear, was revealed yesterday when Walter Morse, ex-mayor of this city, and Walter Frye, a brother-in-law of the naval officer, returned from Washington after a visit devoted to an attempt to place the liability upon the government rather than upon the unfortunate paymaster.

Facts Kept Secret

Though naval officers have known for more than a month that a part of the million dollars that was shipped from the United States treasury at Boston via the U. S. S. Celtic, to pay off the men on the vessels that had returned from abroad and rendezvoused at Guantanamo, had disappeared, few of them yesterday had learned of the inside facts regarding its disappearance.

Ex-Mayor Morse, surprised that even the fact of the theft was known, yesterday told a reporter some of the facts surrounding one of the most mysterious, as well as the most heart-breaking swindles that has involved an officer of the United States navy for many years.

Paymaster Morse, losing his old time pay clerk (who bears the rank of a warrant officer and was consequently envied by enlisted men), determined not more than a year ago upon recommending his pay yeoman, a man named Lee, who hailed from Kentucky, for the vacant position.

By congressional appointment Lee was given the position, and it was until his disappearance that Paymaster

Morse had the slightest suspicion against him.

More than a month ago the shipment of currency was made from the Boston sub-treasury. Not long after the receipt of the coin, Pay Clerk Lee was granted leave of a few days, and failing to show up at the end of the leave, was advertised as a deserter.

Simultaneously it was discovered a sum estimated at not less than $40,000 was missing from the safe of the Georgia, the flagship of the fourth division of the Atlantic squadron, and in consequence the police authorities of Havana were asked particularly to apprehend Lee.

Though the matter was published in the service papers of the navy, not one out of a hundred officers knew or knows now that the theft, instead of being committed through the medium of false bookkeeping, was accomplished by drilling the safe of the battleship.

Since the occurrence every attempt has been made to keep the matter absolutely quiet. Even so reliable a publication (regarding official affairs) as the Army and Navy Register, in its latest issue, published the announcement of the capture of Lee, which yesterday was declared by Mr. Morse, following his Washington trip, to be absolutely false.

Marlboro people have been particularly interested in the case, and rumors of every sort have been current on account of the local popularity of the paymaster and the prominence of his family.

One rumor in particular has been insistent—to the effect that this is the second time Paymaster Morse has suffered from misplaced judgment. Residents place the first loss at about five years ago, when he is said to have reposed undue confidence in a subordinate with disastrous results.

protest against the election in which President Diaz triumphed. He added that if President Diaz really wished to obey the will of the people and avoid complications with foreign governments he should resign immediately. Such action, he said, would restore tranquility in the republic.

MEXICAN MINISTER

IS IN A RUSH TO GET TO MEXICO

PITTSBURGH, March 16.—Jose Ives Limantour, Mexican minister of finance, passed through Pittsburgh early this morning on his way to Mexico. He is traveling in his private car Hidalgo, No. 3502, of the National Railways of Mexico. The Mexican official arrived here from New York at 2:15 and left at 3:25 a.m. over the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis road, 55 minutes behind schedule. The railroad officials say that the car is to be rushed through to Mexico, their orders being to attach it to fast trains.

HELD IN $800

AS RESULT OF ASSAULT ON A FARMER

BOSTON, March 16.—A fight with a pitchfork and knife between two residents of West Peabody was aired in the Chelsea police court yesterday, John Cunningham, 34 years old, who lives with Arthur V. Cunningham, 60 years old, a Peabody farmer, on Russell street, was arraigned before Judge Hall, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon.

John, who is no relation to Arthur, returned home Tuesday night and went to the barn, where he met the elder Cunningham. In some manner a quarrel started. It was testified that the younger Cunningham slashed the older man across the face and started to mix things up further, when the victim of the attack grabbed a pitchfork to hold up his end of the argument. The fight, which lasted for some time, showed the old man to be a master of the long forgotten art of quarter-staff play. He hammered and prodded the young man, finally disarming him.

In court John Cunningham was held in $800 for the grand jury.

CATCHER THOMAS

Was Badly Beaten by Thugs

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Catcher C. D. Thomas of the Boston Red Sox is in a private hospital here, badly battered up as the result of a night of sight-seeing in this city. Thomas remained here after the game Tuesday to dine with a party of friends, as he played with the Oakland club last season and is well acquainted in this part of the country.

It was after midnight when he was taken to the hospital with his head badly beaten, and he is in a serious condition. He claims that while looking over the town he was attacked by a crowd of thugs and beaten into the hospital, where it is said that the chances are good that he will lose the sight of one eye and be confined to his bed for a long time.

Manager Donavan heard the news during the game yesterday afternoon and left word to have the player given every attention. Thomas came from Shiloh, Kan. Last season he played with Oakland and he has made a good showing with the Boston club this spring.

MEN SENTENCED

They Were Arrested by Inspector Maher

James J. Lynch, alias McGowan, alias Mahan, and Thomas J. Kelley, alias Thomas J. Courtney, both of New York and alleged to be clever short change workers with prison records, pleaded guilty to two of five counts of larceny yesterday. They were sentenced to the house of correction, Judge Dana, in the superior court, East Cambridge, for six months each.

Both men were arrested in Lowell last January by Inspector Maher and are wanted in Lawrence and New York for the same kind of work.

PERLEY P. PERHAM

Old Resident of Chelmsford Passed Away

Perley P. Perham, one of Chelmsford's oldest and most highly respected citizens, died this morning at his home in Chelmsford Centre, aged 81 years.

He had been ill for some time due to the infirmities of age and had been actively engaged in business for some few years.

Although a native of Wiltton, N. H., he resided the greater part of his life in Chelmsford and for many years was prominently identified with the business life of Lowell as one of the founders of the firm of Hall & Perham, the pioneer beef importing firm of this city, being associated with Francis Jovett, Charles Hall and D. C. Perham, in days gone by this concern handled all the dressed beef that came into Lowell from Chicago and the west. Mr. Perham in his younger days took a keen interest in the town's affairs and held about all of the town offices. He was a prominent member of the Unitarian church from which the funeral will take place. He was a director in the Wameest National and Merrimack River Savings banks. He is survived by two sons, Charles Perham, of the present firm of Hall & Perham, and J. W. Perham, and one daughter, Mrs. William R. Fowle, all of Chelmsford.

HIGHER WAGES

ARE PAID TO AMERICAN FARM LABORERS

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Higher wages were paid to American farm laborers during 1910 than at any time during the last 45 years, according to statistics just made public by the department of agriculture. The average wages of the country was $27.50 per month during 1910, while 20 years ago it was only $18.33. With board, the average wage was $19.21.

In some parts of the country the rate of wages of farm wages was higher than in others. The highest was $51. South Carolina paid the lowest rate, $16.50 per month.

In the New England states the average was $33.19, with Massachusetts paying the highest $37.20. With board, the average was $21.65.

Double Force Patrols the Streets of Juarez, Mexico

EL PASO, March 16.—Juarez spent a sleepless night with streets patrolled with double forces of guards and practically the entire garrison under arms in front of the barracks and the headquarters of General Navarro and of Col. Tamborel, the commandant.

At daybreak sleepy guards posted on the housetops swept the country for signs of insurgents but if they are in this vicinity they kept well under cover.

The coming of daylight materially lessened the anxiety aroused by last night's attack on the barracks, when a small band of insurgents, who had managed to slip through the lines into the city, demolished a portion of the barracks with bombs and escaped with the loss of but two men.

Business has been resumed and most of those who had planned to take refuge on the American side changed their minds this morning.

It is not thought the insurgents are near the city in any great numbers, the small band under Captain Oscar Creighton, the American, being the only one reported close at hand. Moreover, he is said to be waiting to effect a junction with Orozco's force of 800, after which it is reported, the insurgents leader will begin to march northward to the border.

LEADER GOMEZ

REPLIES TO CLAIM OF SENOR LIMANTOUR

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Dr. Vasquez Gomez, head of the confidential agency here of the Mexican revolutionists, last night issued a statement in reply to the contention of Senor Limantour, Mexican minister of finance, that President Diaz was legally returned to the presidency by the will of the people.

Dr. Gomez declared that it was significant that in 20 of the 27 states in Mexico the people were in arms as in

SEDITION CHARGED

AMERICANS WILL BE TRIED IN CIVIL COURTS

EL PASO, Tex., March 16.—Assurance of the safety of all Americans now confined in Mexican prisons, was given in an official statement issued at Juarez last night.

Americans now prisoners will have trials in civil courts on charges of sedition against the Mexican government, but hereafter all insurgents, whether citizens of the United States or not, may be subject to the death penalty under summary military procedure.

The statement from the Mexican officers was issued relative to the seventeen foreigners now imprisoned in the federal jail at Casas Grandes. Fifteen of them are Americans and two are Europeans. Pending their trials, they will have the consideration due to prisoners of war.

Cot. Cuellar, in command at Casas Grandes is suffering from wounds. As soon as he is able to move, the prisoners will be marched 170 miles to Chihuahua, to face the civil courts. The men are confined in cells at the adobe prison under guard of Mexican soldiers. Their rations consist of such as can be spared from the military stores. Casas Grandes, 150 miles from El Paso, has had no food supplies since March 6, when the battle, in which the insurgents were defeated, was fought.

Cot. Manuel Tamborel, military commander at Juarez said:

"The Americans have not been shot and will not be. Cot. Cuellar has so reported to us and to Mexico City. It is the intention to give the men a fair trial. This does not mean that the same consideration will be given to zone are that the insurgents are concentrating at various points. Francisco I. Madero, revolutionary leader, with 1000 insurgents, a one-pound cannon, a three-inch field piece and two rapid fire guns, is somewhere north of Casas Grandes. He is drawing toward him General Orozco with 800 men. The general movement of the insurgents is northward, presumably toward Juarez.

GENERAL REYES

GIVES HIS VIEW OF SITUATION IN MEXICO

ROME, March 16.—Gen. Bernardo Reyes, the Mexican ex-secretary of war, who came here from Paris where he recently completed the first part of his military mission as the representative of President Diaz gave his view yesterday of the situation in Mexico. He predicted that the revolution would soon be over and he expressed great satisfaction at the action of the United States in concentrating troops along the frontier. He was convinced of the good will of the American government toward Mexico and he characterized the reports of an alliance between this country and Japan against the United States as absurd.

Gen. Reyes has been in Europe for more than a year and he has already said that he had no idea of returning home for the present, giving as his reason that his return might be interpreted as a desire to profit politically by the disturbed conditions in Mexico. "The internal situation in Mexico," said Gen. Reyes, "by reason of the so-called revolution has not the gravity attributed to it. I am sure that the rebellion cannot last more than two months, as President Diaz possesses the influence and the force to crush the revolutionists and bring about peace."

Col. Tamborel at first said he had been advised that 40 foreigners were captured but later he said the report was incorrect. He said he had not received the names of the Americans.

It is said that citizens of the United States now fighting in the insurrection number 600. The largest force is with Captain Oscar C. Greighton, who has been active in blowing up bridges on the railroad. Government officers received orders yesterday to stop the crossing of Americans from El Paso into Mexico.

olutionists consisted in the dependence they were able to put on their followers, who found it easy to pass from Mexico to American territory and back again into Mexico. Now the American troops will guard the frontier, and the guarantee of American neutrality, according to the treaties between the two countries, will be effectively carried out. The revolutionists are now receive further help. In addition, the troops of the Mexican government have occupied the principal strategic positions and the number of rebels will diminish daily.

"With reference to our relations with the United States, I firmly believe in the loyalty of the American government and I am convinced that the assembling of the American troops on the frontier has as its only object a friendly manifestation towards Mexico, which Mexico highly appreciates, for besides insuring neutrality it represents considerable help in putting down the rebellion.

"The talk of an alliance on the part are reported to have been injured.

The shock of the explosion was felt throughout Juarez and immediately a cry was raised that the insurgents had surrounded the place in great numbers and were attacking. Merchants left their stores and crowds prepared to flee to the American side. Extra guards were placed about the quarters of Cot. Tamborel and Gen. Navarro. The attacked barracks are occupied by the 14th Mexican cavalry and are in the heart of the town. There has been a general feeling that the insurgents were trying to surround the city. A small band of insurgents is supposed to have crept into the town along the railroad tracks last night. After placing the explosive they attempted to get away. Soldiers on the lookout on top of the barracks, opened fire, bringing down two of the insurgents. The rest escaped into the country. All the Mexican soldiers in town were called on duty. A guard was placed around the barracks and no official confirmation as to the extent of the damage was given out. It could be seen from adjacent streets, however, that a number of the barracks buildings were wrecked.

The wounded insurgents were carried away by soldiers. A report that several Mexican soldiers were injured, resulted from the general confusion. Mexican officers denied that anyone had been killed. They would say nothing further. The town soon quieted down and the people, who had prepared to cross the bridge, returned. It had been known for several days that insurgents were a few miles south of Juarez, but not in great numbers.

Juarez has the aspect of a city preparing for war. Sand bags are piled up at the edges of the flat roofs of the houses to act as breastworks. People have been forbidden to venture far beyond the environs. The rifle loopholes in the walls of the old mission in the heart of the town are kept open.

DISCUSSES LEGAL BASIS OF BAL- LINGER CASE

WILLIAMSTOWN, March 16.—

Without once mentioning the name of Richard Ballinger, former secretary of the Interior, or giving any indication of his own personal feeling in the matter, James H. Garfield of Cleveland, O., secretary of the interior under President Roosevelt, discussed "The Legal Basis of the Ballinger Case and the New Progressive Movement" before the members of the Williams College Good Government association last night. He did, however, take a firm stand in regard to the seating of Senator Lorimer declaring that "every one who has studied the question in all its details knows that Lorimer ought not to be in the senate."

"A conservationist," Mr. Garfield said, "is not a dog in a manger as has been intimated but his object is simply to use lands and other resources without waste and to conserve them for future generations. All governmental problems have their root in industrial and economic problems. As a result of the new situation new political problems have arisen which make the present system appear defective."

6 O'CLOCK NEW HAVEN ROAD

Plans to Make Great Changes in This City

Only One Freight House Will be Maintained—Force of Employees Will be Reduced—Company Plans to Make a Great Saving

Extensive changes are to be made as a result of the Boston & Maine and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad merger. The control of the Boston & Maine by the New Haven is being felt along the whole system.

This is to be seen chiefly in the places where the tracks of the two roads cross each other or meet and where there have previously been two distinct sets of station buildings, freight houses and road employees. Arrangements are now being made to have but one station, one freight house and one set of employees in place of the two in each of these locations.

Altogether there are 12 of these places where the lines of the two roads meet. They are Fitchburg, Worcester, Springfield, Northampton, Shelburne Falls, Lowell, Concord Junction, South Sudbury, West Berlin, Holyoke, Sterling Junction and Clinton.

It is estimated that an annual saving of several hundred thousand dollars can be made after these changes have been effected and the new system is in operation.

While there may be a reduction in the number of trains to and from some of these points it is said that the number of trains to other points will be increased. This will all depend upon the result of the investigation now being made to ascertain the amount of passenger and freight business going to and coming from each section.

As a rule it is said that the best stations are those of the New Haven road, but the Boston & Maine also has some fine stations in some of the places where the two roads meet each other.

In each case the better station will be utilized and the poorer one will be abandoned.

Fitchburg is where the first change will be made, it is said. Plans have already been practically adopted which will place the two roads in that city under one head. There will be one large freight house and one yard crew to handle the freight business. One of the two station agents at Fitchburg now will be shifted to some other place or a new position in that city will be found for him.

The plans, now in the hands of the engineers of both roads, provide for the building of a large freight house on the property of the New Haven road at Fitchburg. It will be built along the line of Main street and will extend from the office of the road to the Syndicate block. The building will be of brick, two stories high. In the upper story will be offices for the clerical forces. The present old freight house of the New Haven company will be torn down to make room for the new building. The Union station will be removed to a more convenient location.

It is planned to have the trains of the New Haven road, which now stop south of the station, come in on new tracks, and to put in a subway from the station to the tracks for the passengers' safety. It is estimated that the total cost of the proposed changes will be $500,000.

It was announced yesterday that the new construction work on the Shawmut branch of the New Haven road is nearly done and that on March 25 one of the two elevated tracks from Harrison square will go into commission. Two tracks are being elevated and one of them is now practically completed. About 75 per cent of the improvement work on the main line of the Plymouth division is also done. It is announced.

WHY SHOULD NOT A GIRL BE ENTITLED TO SPECIAL TRAINING TO MAKE A HOME, AS A BOY IS ENTITLED TO SPECIAL TRAINING TO MAKE A LIVING?

Vitozzi morally is a criminal," he raised his eyes to heaven and said: "I offer my sufferings to relieve souls in purgatory."

During the description of the murder of Giovanni Cucoccolo and his wife, Maria, "the beautiful Sorrentina," Mariano De Gennaro, who is charged with having been one of the actual assassins, rose from his place in the steel pen greatly agitated. The reading clerk paused a moment and the prisoner, placing his hand over his heart and addressing his wife, who was among the spectators said: "I swear to you I am innocent!" With the words he burst into tears.

On another occasion De Angelis and Amodeo protested their innocence and demanded redress for having been falsely involved by Vitozzi in aid of Erricone, the alleged brains of the camorra.

When Erricone was first arrested Vitozzi, who is his god-father, told the authorities that he knew Erricone to be innocent for the reason that another, one Ascritore, had admitted to him that he had committed the double crime. Ascritore was found to be a member of the camorra and when pressed he denounced as the authors of the murders De Angelis and Amodeo, both criminals and then fugitives from justice.

After a long search they were arrested.

De Angelis seemed more upset by the accusation than Amodeo did, as the former already had been condemned for crimes of blood and it so happened that at the time of the murder of the Cucoccolos, blood stained garments were found at his home. These three men were able to prove that Vitozzi had sworn falsely and their innocence of the Cucoccolo crime, but were held as members of the camorra.

In court they protested against having been detained at all since their apprehension was based on assertions by a fellow prisoner now known to have been false.

Erricone, whose proper name is Enrico Alfano, does not take kindly to newspaper artists. One of the latter snapped his picture today as the prisoners were being brought into court. When the band chief learned that the photograph was for a paper hostile to the camorra he spat in the face of the photographer and in a rage swore that he would kick the man into the next world.

Erricone's shackles prevented the execution of this threat.

MANSLAUGHTER

Plea of Woman Was Accepted

PLYMOUTH, March 16.—Mrs. Sarah S. Elms, who has been confined in the Plymouth jail for eight months, awaiting a disposition of her case, was brought into the courtroom late yesterday afternoon, and pleading guilty to the charge of manslaughter, was sentenced to a term in Sherborn.

Mrs. Elms was charged with the murder of a new born child of her daughter, who was at that time a student at the Bridgewater Normal school. As Mrs. Elms was led into the courtroom, weak from a recent critical illness of pneumonia, the spectators were ordered from the room, while Attorneys Stetson and Adams, of Brockton, argued for clemency in the case.

As she rose to hear the sentence of the court she sank back into her chair sobbing and her frail body, Mrs. Elms was taken back to the house of correction and will not be at once taken to Sherborn as her condition from her severe illness will not permit it.

Richardson Said He Was Concerned in Attempted Robbery

Boston Police Surprised When Man Entered the Station and Surrendered—His Alleged Partner Was Captured After an Exciting Chase

BOSTON, March 16.—The police officers attached to the East Dedham street station in the South End received a surprise almost amounting to a shock today when a man entered the station and announced to the officer at the desk that his name was James Richardson and that he had come to give himself up for his part in the attempted robbery of Levi Blumberg's jewelry store on lower Washington street last night. Richardson was locked up before he could change his mind and retract his admissions.

Richardson's alleged partner in the affair at the jewelry store was arrested last night after an exciting chase. The said that his name was Henry Edward Fitzgerald, that he was a native of Australia and a deserter from the United States navy, having escaped from the naval prison at Charlestown, where he was serving a sentence for desertion. He said that he met Richardson in New York. He also is al-

He Was Sentenced to Federal Prison at Atlanta

NEW YORK, March 16.—George H. Munroe, long prominent among promoters of the get-rich-quick variety and who is said by government officials to have obtained at least $500,000 from confiding investors in his propositions during the past few years, was convicted in the United States circuit court here today of using the mails in connection with fraudulent stock operations. The jury before which he had been on trial for several days past and which was given the case last night, handed in a sealed verdict of guilty, which was announced when court opened.

Judge Hough sentenced Munroe to serve three years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. Chief of the charges on which Munroe was tried was that he promoted through the mails extensive sales of wireless telegraph stock, the greater part of which was never delivered.

Say That They Are Innocent of Murders

VITERBO, Italy, March 16.—The church of San Francesco. When court rules for criminal procedure in Italy make possible frequent dramatic incidents and it was due to this that today's session of the trial of the camorristas for murder caused lively interest in the crowd that occupied every available square foot in the old church of San Francesco. When court opened the clerk resumed the reading of the long indictment of the 36 prisoners and this took up the whole forenoon.

When the clerk read the passage referring to Ciro Vitozzi, the aged prisoner was visibly affected and at the words "although never condemned,

HUMAN SKELETON

Found in Keg in Old Fashioned Chimney

SPRINGFIELD, March 16.—A mystery of long standing is what the country people living in the vicinity of Hazardville and the Shaker settlement, ten miles south of Springfield, term a startling discovery made by workmen at the home of Alva S. Brainerd. Brainerd lives on the road which leads from Hazardville to the settlement just over the Connecticut border. Recently he decided to install a new heating system in the old colonial mansion and when workmen found a keg in the old fashioned chimney they had visions of the juice of the grape of a rare old vintage. When the keg was tapped, instead of wine, a human skeleton was exposed. The remains were those of a child.

The chimney is a large stone shaft containing several flues, each flue being used for a different stove. One of the flues in this chimney had never been used and the bricks in the collar were evidently in the same condition as when they were placed there many years ago. A hole was forced into this flue in preparation for the new heating system, and Sherman, one of Mr. Brainerd's sons, discovered a keg resting on the bottom of the flue in the opposite corner from the outlet. The hole was made large enough to allow the removal of the keg. The workmen were surprised on opening the keg to find another keg inclosed which also was well headed up. But the real surprise was yet coming. When the

ELECTRIFICATION OF OUR FACTORIES

The time is at hand when practically all of our industries will be run by electricity. The water power from the canals with the steam from the boilers in many of the factories is used to generate electricity to be applied in running the machinery. This change has been going on for a considerable time and the old method of running the machinery will soon be abandoned. In this way the water power of the river now going to waste may be utilized in the future and even transmitted to a distance to drive machinery.

DR. BRUNELLE'S SUGGESTION

Dr. Brunelle of the Board of Health has made a good suggestion in his motion for a sub-station for antitoxin that would be open all hours of the day and night. Something of this kind is necessary because the efficacy of antitoxin in checking diphtheria depends largely upon its being used at an early stage of the disease. In many cases where a cure might be effected by the use of antitoxin, a delay of five or ten hours may let the disease get such a headway that death will result. A station such as Dr. Brunelle suggests could be easily maintained at the police station, and it would undoubtedly be instrumental in saving lives by enabling all physicians to get a supply whenever they find it necessary in their practice.

THE SULLOWAY PENSION BILL NOT DEAD.

Representative Sulloway of New Hampshire will reintroduce his pension bill on the opening of the extra session of congress. It will be remembered that this bill was defeated by the senate after having been passed by the house by a good majority. This measure was endorsed by the legislatures of twenty-three states that have considerably more than half the electoral votes and more than half the population of the entire country. The veterans of the Civil war and the Mexican war are greatly disappointed over the defeat of the bill and will renew their efforts to secure its passage when congress convenes for the extra session.

The republican senators are criticised for their action, and it is claimed that if the $45,000,000 called for by the bill were to be appropriated for any purpose that would benefit the controlling "interests" the senators would readily favor the measure. Senator Lodge is severely criticised for the part he took in defeating the bill. Should the bill fail of passage in the next congress the veterans throughout the country will exert all their influence for the defeat of the republican party in 1912.

The states that indorsed the pension bill by legislative vote are as follows: Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, No. Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, So. Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin, Montana, Idaho and Wyoming. The population of these states is 53,709,143, and the number of their electoral votes 274.

It is safe to say that before the new congress opens there will be indorsements from several other states as the veterans have taken up the matter with renewed determination to push it through the next congress.

STRONG ARGUMENTS AGAINST FORTIFYING THE CANAL

The first impulse with most Americans was to favor the fortification of the Panama canal. The canal is an American enterprise, but when considered in reference to other inter-ocean waterways and the international laws and usages governing such, there is much to be said against the fortification idea. To neutralize the canal in case of war would protect it far better than all the fortifications we could erect. The Suez canal was built by English money but is immune from attack in case of war. England has never expended any money for protecting the canal nor is it necessary as the nations are bound by treaty to hold the canal in strict neutrality in case of war.

The straits of Magellan are also neutralized by treaty and the inter-parliamentary union in 1910 declared in favor of neutralizing all inter-oceanic waterways.

There is a very strong agitation growing up against the proposition to fortify the canal, and when the cost and general effect of such fortification are considered, it is likely that the arguments against fortification will ultimately prevail.

Military men point out that to have to defend the canal in time of war would require the detachment of a very large force of men and ships, and that this as well as the initial expense, which would be very heavy, might be avoided by having the canal neutralized by treaty between Europe and the United States. If fortified the canal would be open to attack in time of war and would be liable to be invested by the enemy as Port Arthur after a tremendously expensive defense fell into the hands of Japan.

Recently a statement signed by men and women, prominent in this country and abroad, has been issued setting forth a number of very strong reasons why the canal should not be fortified, showing quite conclusively that the canal will be better protected by treaty than by fortifications, and that this country by fortifying it would be assuming a heavy and expensive responsibility that could be avoided while the men and money necessary for the purpose might be used in fortifying the Pacific coast against possible attacks from the west.

The men who have signed the statement referred to include some of the most prominent and influential in the country, such, for example, as Richard Olney, David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford university, John Graham Brooks, lecturer on economics, and many others.

The fortification of the canal would moreover be opposed to the movement for universal peace that has been making progress through the influence of The Hague tribunal. Although President Taft and many other prominent Americans favor the fortification of the canal, if it be shown that this policy would favor of advanced militarism and opposition to the peace movement, it will undoubtedly have to be abandoned.

SEEN AND HEARD

A girl with red hair had her shoes shining in a local shoe shining parlor and as she was about to step down from the chair on the shiny bench her hat, a wonderful creation, came in contact with the gas light and the hat caught fire. If the waiters of the brush and paste noticed what had happened they didn't say anything about it and the girl went into the street with her hat on fire. Fortunately for her the rim was wide and the hat burned slowly. As she came out of the "shiner's" two women observed that her hat was on fire. They couldn't speak English and being unable to have the girl understand what the trouble was they proceeded to lambaste her over the head with their umbrellas. The girl screamed and two men went to the rescue. They tore the burning hat from her head and upon seeing the complexion of her hair one of the men pointed to the hat and said: "There's the cause of the fire." The girl paid no attention to the remark but tearfully bewailed the destruction of her "lovely" hat.

A fashionably dressed young woman entered the postoffice in Holyoke, hesitated a moment and stepped up to the stamp window. The stamp clerk looked up expectantly, and she asked: "Do you sell stamps here?" The clerk politely answered: "Yes."

"I would like to see some, please," was the unusual request.

The clerk dazedly handed out a large sheet of the two-cent variety, which the young woman carefully examined. Pointing to one near the center, she said, "I will take this one, please."

"Doctor," said the young man with the jingling pockets, "I have come to thank you for your valuable medicine."

"So it helped you, did it?" replied the doctor, smiling. "I am very glad."

The young man nodded. "It helped me wonderfully," he said. "And how many bottles did you take?" inquired the doctor.

"Oh, I didn't take any of it," replied the young man. "But Uncle took one bottle, and now I am his sole heir."

Having in mind the recent acrimonious discussion in the New Hampshire house of representatives over the proposition to appropriate money for a statue in memory of Franklin Pierce, the only president that state contributed, a recent visitor from Massachusetts looked about the state house for some reminder of the fourteenth president.

In an obscure corner of the building he found a portrait of President Pierce, but occupying a conspicuous location on the wall of the main hall he noticed a fine oil painting of the late Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, whose memory Massachusetts has been slow to honor.

"What did Governor Butler of Massachusetts do for New Hampshire that his portrait should be here?" asked the visitor.

"Why, he was born in New Hampshire," was the answer.

He was "breaking in" as a motor-man on the street railway and on this particular afternoon he was to take out his first car. He had been tutored by an old and experienced motor-man and he felt that he was quite capable of piloting a car through any part of the city where the company provided the rails and necessary power. He was on his way to the car barn and as he neared Fowler's corner he met another motor-man. "I'm going to take out a car this afternoon," he said.

"What time are you going out?" asked the other.

"At 5.15," replied the elated beginner.

You can't make the stable in time for that car, said the other fellow. "It's not yet there after five now."

The other fellow pulled out his watch and, according to his time piece, it was just 4.45 o'clock. His watch was right, but the other fellow was putting up a job on him and succeeded in convincing him that it was 5.10 by the right time.

"I must get there some way," said the now sorely distressed beginner, and just at that moment a taxi came in sight. He hailed the driver, gave him a dollar and told him to make the stable in Middlesex street at top notch speed. The other fellow had telephoned to the stable and when the butt of the joke arrived the men at the stable were there with the merry ha-ha.

"Am I in time to take out my car?" he asked in breathless haste.

"What time are you supposed to go?" was asked.

"At 5.15," he replied. He was told that it was then only 5 o'clock and the laugh was renewed.

SEED TIME AND HARVEST
As over his furrowed fields which lie beneath a cold-drooping sky.
Yet chill with Winter's melted snow.
The husbandman goes forth to sow.

Thus, Freedom, on the bitter blast
The ventures of the seed we cast,
And trust to warmer sun and rain
To swell the germ and fill the grain.

Who calls this glorious service hard?
Who deems it not its own reward?
Who for its trials counts it less
A cause of praise and thankfulness?

It may not be our lot to wield
The sickle in the ripened field;
Nor ours to reap, on Summer eves,
The reaper's song among the sheaves.

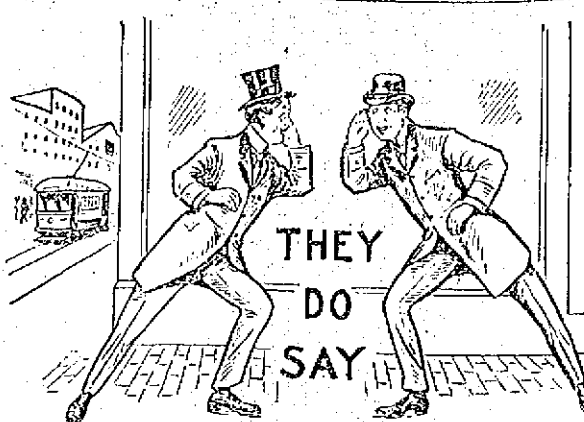

Yet where our duty's task is wrought
In union with God's great thought,
The near and future blend in one,
And whatsoever is willed, is done!

And ours the grateful service whence
Came, day by day, the recompense:
The hope, the trust, the purpose stayed,
The fountain and the roonday shade.

And were this life the utmost span,
The only end and aim of man;
Better the toll of souls like these
Than waking dream and slothful ease.

But life, though falling like our grain,
Like that which revives and springs again;
And early called, how best are they
Who wait in heaven their harvest day!

That Lowell isn't the bad town that outsiders would have you believe when a session of the superior court for the trial of criminal cases lasts only two hours, while Cambridge, the original no-license city, has a list as long as your arm.

That Deputy Sheriff Walsh of Framingham, though in office for many years and ever an efficient officer, feels better since the sheriff named another democrat for one of the jobs, Martin J. Courtney, being the other oasis in the desert of republican control.

That all who desire fourth class liquor licenses under the bar and bottle bill will not get them and one of the reasons is because there will be more applicants than there are licenses to give out.

That the coming of spring must be like Manna from heaven to a certain church in ward seven, for they didn't remove the snow from their sidewalk all winter until the benign rays of the rising sun finally melted out after several persons had suffered from falls on the impassable "thoroughfare." They probably made a literal translation of the biblical statement that the wicked stand in slippery places.

That Keeper Charlie Ebreth wears even a more benign look on his genial countenance, if such a thing were possible, since he assumed his new duties at the Lowell jail. He appeared in the criminal session of court, Monday, for the first time since he assumed the office and was the subject of all kinds of congratulatory remarks from many friends who had not seen him since he changed.

That while some people are attempting to give the credit for getting a clerk of the naturalization court to Lowell, to Secretary Goward of the republican city committee, the fact remains that Rep. Marchand started the movement and hustled for it and after it's all over a majority of the new voters will become democrats after they're registered. So what's the use, from a republican standpoint?

DR. BRUNELLE

Presents Resolutions to
Board of Health

The following resolutions prepared by Dr. Brunelle and dealing with contagious diseases were adopted by the board of health:

Whereas, The postal card system which is now in vogue, whereby when a contagious disease, dangerous to the public health, is reported to this office, the inspector proceeds to the infected house and placards it and at the same time leaves in the home of the sick with contagious disease, a postal card, the purpose of which, is to notify the board of health as to the time of disinfecting the premises;

And, whereas, this postal card, when left in a house infected with contagious disease, becomes by its presence there, a part of the household furniture, and remains so for several days, or several weeks, this postal card becomes and is infectious material.

And, whereas, the fact that this postal card is taken from an infected house to be deposited into a letter box, before the premises are disinfecting, is of itself, evidence of the possibilities in the danger of spreading disease through the mails.

Be it therefore resolved that this system be abolished, and instead, when a case of contagious disease is reported to the board of health, this office will request the attending physician, if he has a telephone, to notify this office when, in his opinion, the danger has passed and the premises are ready for disinfection. Should the attending physician have no telephone, then, the inspector will leave at the physician's office a postal card that he may notify the board of health when, in his opinion, the danger has passed, and the premises are ready for disinfection.

If after a certain lapse of time, this office has not been informed as to the time for disinfection of the premises, this office will communicate with the attending physician to find out whether or not the danger of the disease has passed and the premises are ready for disinfection.

And, whereas, our city hall offices are closed every day from five o'clock in the evening until nine o'clock the next morning, excepting on Sundays and holidays, when they are closed all day except between the hours of eleven and twelve in the morning;

And, whereas, in cases of emergency, for the convenience of the medical profession to safeguard the public health, we are in need of a substitution for antitoxin, centrally located, opened to the public day and night.

And, whereas, such a place would be ideal and admirably fitting in one of our public buildings, as, for instance, the police station, where there are attendants on duty at all hours of the day and night.

And, whereas, the dispensing of antitoxin to the calling physician would take up but little time and require but little care on the part of the attendant.

Be it therefore resolved that our agent, Mr. Bates, confer at once with the police authorities for the purpose of establishing there, at the police station, a substitution for antitoxin during such hours as these city hall offices are closed, which antitoxin may be had by any physician for the asking, filling out and signing the regular state board of health application blank for antitoxin together with the statement by him whether disease in his opinion, is a positive or doubtful case of diphtheria. And, in the event of the latter, a culture of the patient's throat or other location of disease will be at once forwarded to this office whatever application or applications which have been made by a physician or physicians will be got each day by this office when it opens in the morning.

Each application will be registered and dealt with in the ordinary way under the rules and regulations of the local board of health.

The supply of anti-toxin will be such as to meet whatever exigencies which may reasonably be thought to arise and will be replenished every day or few days as the occasion may require.

Whereas, anti-toxin for diphtheria is known to have a definite therapeutic value measured in antitoxin units, such as to have won for itself the right to be regarded by the medical profession as a specific for diphtheria.

And, whereas, the time of the giving of anti-toxin, in a case of diphtheria has a most valuable relation to the immediate effect and ultimate outcome of the case; also, bears on important relation to the possibilities and limitations of the danger of the contagion, in that, if anti-toxin is given in time, in sufficiently large doses, it will thoroughly antidote the toxin of the bacillus and indirectly destroy it.

And, whereas, with an early diagnosis and prompt administration of antitoxin, a favorable recovery may be reasonably expected. On the other hand, a delay of a few hours may mean serious complications and sometimes death; also greater danger of contagion.

THE MEN'S CLUB

FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE

An enthusiastic meeting of the Men's club of the High Street church to which women were invited was held and proved very interesting, especially for the men folks. A dainty supper was served and after the meal many interesting remarks on "Equal Suffrage" were heard and warmly applauded.

Mr. W. B. Jackson was toastmaster, and he introduced the first speaker, Mrs. Teresa A. Crowley of Brookline who presented strong arguments in favor of equal suffrage.

Miss Louise Hall, a member of the local Equal Suffrage league, and a student of sociological and philanthropic questions was the next speaker. She presented the question of equal suffrage from the evolutionary standpoint, and in closing the speaker suggested the organization of a men's league for woman suffrage.

Rev. A. C. Ferrin and D. L. Page were called upon to say a word on the other side of the question, but the former was apparently too gallant to radically disagree with a lady, while the latter is a member of the local Equal Suffrage league and has believed in woman suffrage all his life.

Mrs. Jackson was then called upon and as an opponent she expressed her views in an interesting manner. Mrs. Crowley responded to the latter's remarks by advocating her case, and then the meeting came to a close, every one being satisfied with the way the evening was spent.

SEARS EXECUTED

Had to be Carried to
Chair

TRENTON, N. J., March 16.—John Sears, the half-breed who shot and killed Rev. Amos L. Armstrong, was executed by electric chair at Dutch Neck last Thanksgiving evening, was executed by electricity at the New Jersey state prison last night. Sears collapsed and had to be carried to the chair by the guards.

Sears made no statement just before his execution, but a few days ago he wrote a history of the murder of the aged couple which he gave to Deputy John Freeman to be published after his death. Sears afterward recalled this story. In the statement he said that he was prompted to kill Dr. Armstrong by his desire to get possession of a ring which the minister wore. He said that the shooting of Mrs. Armstrong was not premeditated but followed her throwing a paper weight at him after he had shot her husband.

ON ST. PATRICK

Saint at Two Churches

Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., delivered an eloquent panegyric on St. Patrick at the regular devotional service at the Immaculate Conception church, last evening, Rev. Fr. McQuade, O. M. I., conducted the recitation of the rosary and gave benediction at the conclusion of the service.

Fr. Fox, in opening, reviewed the early history of Ireland and the coming of Patrick to this country, which was followed by the conversion of the people of Ireland. He then dwelt upon the undying loyalty to the faith of Irish men and women and described the many sacrifices made by them through their loyalty to the church. "Some 50 or 60 years ago," said the preacher, "our fathers and grandfathers came to this country and their entrance here was greeted with some indifference. They were looked down upon generally and scorned at. Still they went about their labors in an earnest, faithful, honest manner and as a result their neighbors learned to respect them. Today conditions are different. The daughters and sons of these same men and women are not looked down on but are considered with the same respect as others."

"We have a prestige to maintain and a dignity to uphold and let us do our part in the grand work which our fathers and mothers started for us. We must show that we are worthy of the respect that we expect. Let us go on loyally in the teaching which we have received from our parents before us, let us benefit by the teachings and work of the people of Ireland of the centuries past, let us look to the labors of St. Patrick and strive to do our true part in upholding the ideals and principles which he taught. May we have the strength to do that which is right and by our action show that those labors of the past were not made in vain."

The singing of "Hail Glorious Apostle" by the church choir. Mrs. Hugh Walker, director, was a feature of the musical program.

fluence of St. Patrick upon the civilization of Ireland and the world. His labors were great, he with his own hands having baptized 100,000 persons during his lifetime, besides ordaining to the priesthood hundreds of young men. He founded many schools and monasteries, and the greatest tribute to him is the fact that the Irish people are among the most deeply religious people in the world today. Surely, such a heritage should proclaim him the patron saint of the Irish. There was special music at the services.

TO FORM KEHILLA

Bay State Jews to Organize

BOSTON, March 16.—For a number of weeks the Jewish communities, especially of Boston, have been moved to form a Kehilla or federation of congregations and organizations for the mutual welfare of the entire Jewish people of Massachusetts, and last evening at the American house there was held a conference of representatives from all sections of the state. The meeting was called by Isaac Heller. One set of representatives were the deputies of the I. O. B. A., which has more than 17,000 members.

The chairman appointed a committee of 10 who presented resolutions asking that a federation of the Jewish organizations and congregations of Massachusetts be organized and that a committee be appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws, also that committees be appointed to care for immigration, naturalization, education, religious and legislative bills and that the organization hold meetings and create a large membership for the purpose of keeping the Jews of Massachusetts active and alive to every movement for their own interest and advancement.

The resolutions were unanimously accepted. It was also voted that the organization in its propaganda keep away from partisan politics. It was voted that committees of 11 be appointed to confer with all similar organizations in the state to bring about amalgamation.

The presentation of a bill that would interfere with ancient Jewish custom of preparing meat was one of the causes of the movement.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Should Never Be Removed With Poisonous, Pasty Compounds Because They Are Dangerous and Increase the Growth

The preparations above referred to are invariably in the form of creamy pastes. These are easily recognized by their pale grayish-green color. They are to be spread upon the skin to remove the hair. They contain Sulphide of Barium, an insoluble chemical, which cannot be dissolved, therefore cannot be absorbed by the skin. The vegetable poisons are told to leave these pasty compounds on the skin until they dry and cake and then lift off with a knife is positive that they are not absorbed. If they are why do they still remain on the skin? The most they can possibly do is to remove the surface hair, while the poisons will regrow stronger and thicker after each removal.

There is only one logical and scientific way to remove hair and that is by means of a liquid containing soluble ingredients which can be absorbed by the skin. De Miracis, known all the world over as the only real superfluous hair remover, is just such a preparation. It is easily and quickly absorbed, and after you have used it you will note that the hair which is on the skin, it leaves the skin free from irritation, and what is more to the point, it is absolutely non-poisonous, therefore it will not be absorbed by the blood poisoning. Remember, no matter what claims are made to the contrary, no poisonous, pasty compound or so-called "liquid cure" ever did or ever will destroy a single hair root, and we can prove it.

The extravagant claims recently made by unscrupulous manufacturers of hair removers in sensational advertisements unquestionably justify physicians in cautioning the public against the use of this class of depilatories.

How many people have been enticed into using these dangerous preparations with consequent injury to themselves cannot be estimated but only guessed at, therefore beware of fake free advertisements and others, who by words and pictures, endeavor to give the impression that newspapers and other reputable publications endorse their worthless preparations. Don't be deceived by them. De Miracis is the only preparation which is so endorsed.

De Miracis is sold at all good stores including A. G. Pollard Company. No honest dealer will offer you a substitute on which he makes more profit.

We will send you a 52-page booklet containing full information concerning this remarkable treatment, as well as testimonials of prominent physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals and the principal magazines and newspapers. You should read this booklet before you try anything. Write to the De Miracis Co., Dept. H 4, 1305 Park Ave., New York, simply saying you want this booklet, and it will be mailed, sealed, at once.

DARING ROBBERS

Diamonds

BOSTON, March 16.—More than a dozen revolver shots were fired in a Washington street jewelry store in the South End last night when two men attempted to steal a tray of gems. One of the men was later captured after a struggle with an officer and gave the name of Harry Chase of New York, formerly living on Pearl street in Baltimore. He said the other man's name was Richardson.

The two men entered the store of Levi Blumberg at closing time and asked to see some jewelry. Blumberg was suspicious and told the men to come around in the morning. The men then opened fire on Blumberg with two revolvers, the storekeeper answering with a couple of shots. The visitors emptied their revolvers, then broke open the chambers and deliberately reloaded the chambers before leaving the store. One of their bullets grazed Blumberg's hip but he was only slightly hurt.

HOW BASEBALL TEAMS GET INTO SHAPE FOR SEASON

By TOMMY CLARK.

ENTIRELY too much stress is placed by the average baseball fan upon the reports emanating from the training camps of the various teams in the spring. If the followers of the game could spend but a week in one of these camps and see just what goes on there, they would be amazed and they would realize that one-half of the "news" sent out by the ambitious correspondents is nothing more than "superheated atmosphere" and the other half is naught but the unsupported opinion of the individual writer, honest enough, perhaps, but with nothing to back it up.

Training trips are an absolute necessity, but it is a mistake to think that they are intended to prove that every youngster picked up during the previous fall and winter is doing the prime purpose of the training trip is to put the players in condition for the season. These jaunts do not make stars out of raw recruits. Experience is always needed to make finished performers out of the untrained material, no matter how much natural material is possessed by the young men when they break into the fastest company in the land.

The games played between two outfits made up of members of one team are not the sort seen on big league diamonds during the championship campaigns. The men are under orders to take no chances. There is no daring base running, no sliding to the plate, no taking of desperate risks. There is little rivalry between the teams, no object in view, so far as the victory is concerned. The pitchers do not "wind up" and hurl the ball with speed enough to knock down a horse. On the other hand, for weeks they simply lob the sphere over. The main object is to keep the men busy, to give them healthful exercise, in order to limber them up, get rid of stiffness and sore muscles and reduce flesh.

In spite of all this the correspondents rave over what is being done by the teams with which they are traveling and send home columns of hot air about how the men are showing up. A certain youngster is the greatest runner that ever broke into the game; another is a greater thrower than any man ever before seen in action; all of them are .300 or .400 hitters; the pitchers are strike out fiends and never known to give bases on balls; the catchers are without exception unexcelled "peppers"; the fielders are performers who never make errors, and taken as a whole, the teams are unbeatable.

All this stuff—for it is stuff—serves to create a wrong impression in the minds of the fans and to set up false hopes, which are dashed to the ground when the much touted recruits are released before the real clash begins. Of course this does not apply to all the new men, but it is safe to say that never in the history of baseball has a man received his first trial in the major leagues fulfilled all that was predicted for him during the training season. It would be a practical impossibility for him to do so. Sometimes the players about whom the most is written are the first to be turned loose when the weeding out process is started. Baseball players are not trained like pugilists, football players or oarsmen. In fact, if you come down to the real understanding of the word "training," as it applies to sports ball players are not trained at all. They merely practice and are coached in team work by the manager.

The ball player has no compulsory hours for sleep, has no certain diet, and no attention is paid to certain muscles, as is the case with the fighter, the carsman or the football player. Still, in a certain way it is training, for the men are drilled in team work, and that makes up 99 per cent of the spring work.

It's like this: The ball player shows up for work. He is usually stiff from muscular inactivity through the winter, and he has to be loosened up so that his muscles will not become stiff and remain sore for any length of time. He attends to that part of his work himself. All players become very sore after their first workout, no matter how many years they have been playing. To relieve this soreness in a cold climate is impossible. That's why the teams always journey to a semitropical country.

Balmy Air Relieves Soreness.

Nothing relieves soreness in muscles like balmy atmosphere. The men can perspire without consequent colds and rheumatism. "Perspiration is the best oil in the world for taking the soreness out of muscles, and to get good results the player must be warm within and without at the same time; otherwise the perspiration would cause him to be chilled and all kinds of ailments would follow.

So far as baseball is concerned it is very unfortunate that this country is not uniform in its temperature. Coming from warm climates, the players frequently suffer from the cold air of early spring when they reach the north, and sometimes their muscles are bad all season. If they could continue to play in the climate where they train such things as "charley horses" and glass arms would be practically unknown.

The first thing a manager has to do is to find out if the new players have real ability. In this they are often mistaken, as some men show form much more quickly than others. Usually, though, a ball player's natural actions show whether he has ability or not even before he goes on to the field for regular work.

All Must Be Drilled.

These young players have to be tried out in every possible way so as to test them. So far as the old players are concerned, they need no training. The mere act of warming up and getting rid of early soreness is enough for them. One of the most painful sights in the world is a collection of ball players on the day following their first appearance in uniform. Some of them become so sore that they cannot sleep, and others are unable to walk.

No matter how able a player may be or whatever may be his past record, he must be drilled in team work, because he is likely to be working alongside a different man from the one he played with the previous season.

It takes several weeks to get them working in harmony. Any fan knows what a bungle it is when both the shortstop and second baseman fail to cover second. They also know how crude it looks to see any player leave a bag uncovered. The player has got to be continuously drilled to prevent just that kind of thing. No man can read another's mind, and it is therefore necessary to have some kind of understanding, and the entire team must know the system thoroughly. This is done by a regular series of signals.

No Dieting Necessary.

As to diet and sleeping hours the old player is allowed to use his own judgment. The men eat anything they want, and they usually want enough to give a dyspeptic heart disease. The main goal of a ball player in training is the dining room. Remarkable as it may seem, the very things that other athletes are denied—pastry and desserts—form the principal part of a ball player's diet. They are all very fond of sweets. It is not uncommon to see a strapping athlete sit down at a table and order four kinds of pie in addition to ice cream and cake. They are also fond of salads, like lobster and chicken, and they are allowed to eat all they want.

In other words, the ball player is on his own responsibility. If his playing is affected he is the one that has to suffer. If he drinks to excess he knows that his pocket will be the sufferer; consequently he does not drink.

KIDNEY PUNCH IS O. K., SAYS JACK JOHNSON.

"I say a boxer is justified in using the kidney punch, or any other blow as long as he doesn't hit below the belt," says Jack Johnson. "I have seen active service in the ring for fifteen years, and in my experience I have never noticed a good reason for a boxer not taking advantage of an opening which might lead to victory through the use of this kidney punch. "If the kidney punch is prohibited in the future there will be less fighting. When a man becomes groggy or in distress he will go into a clinch to save himself. He knows that while hanging on a clever man is able to get in some effective work with the kidney punch, so if it is stopped it will give a poor boxer the advantage and work a disadvantage on the clever man. Why should this punch be stopped? A boxer has never been knocked out through its use, and a ring fatality has never been chalked up against it. I think it is a great part of the game and that every boxer should be taught its use, that it may last as long as the game itself."

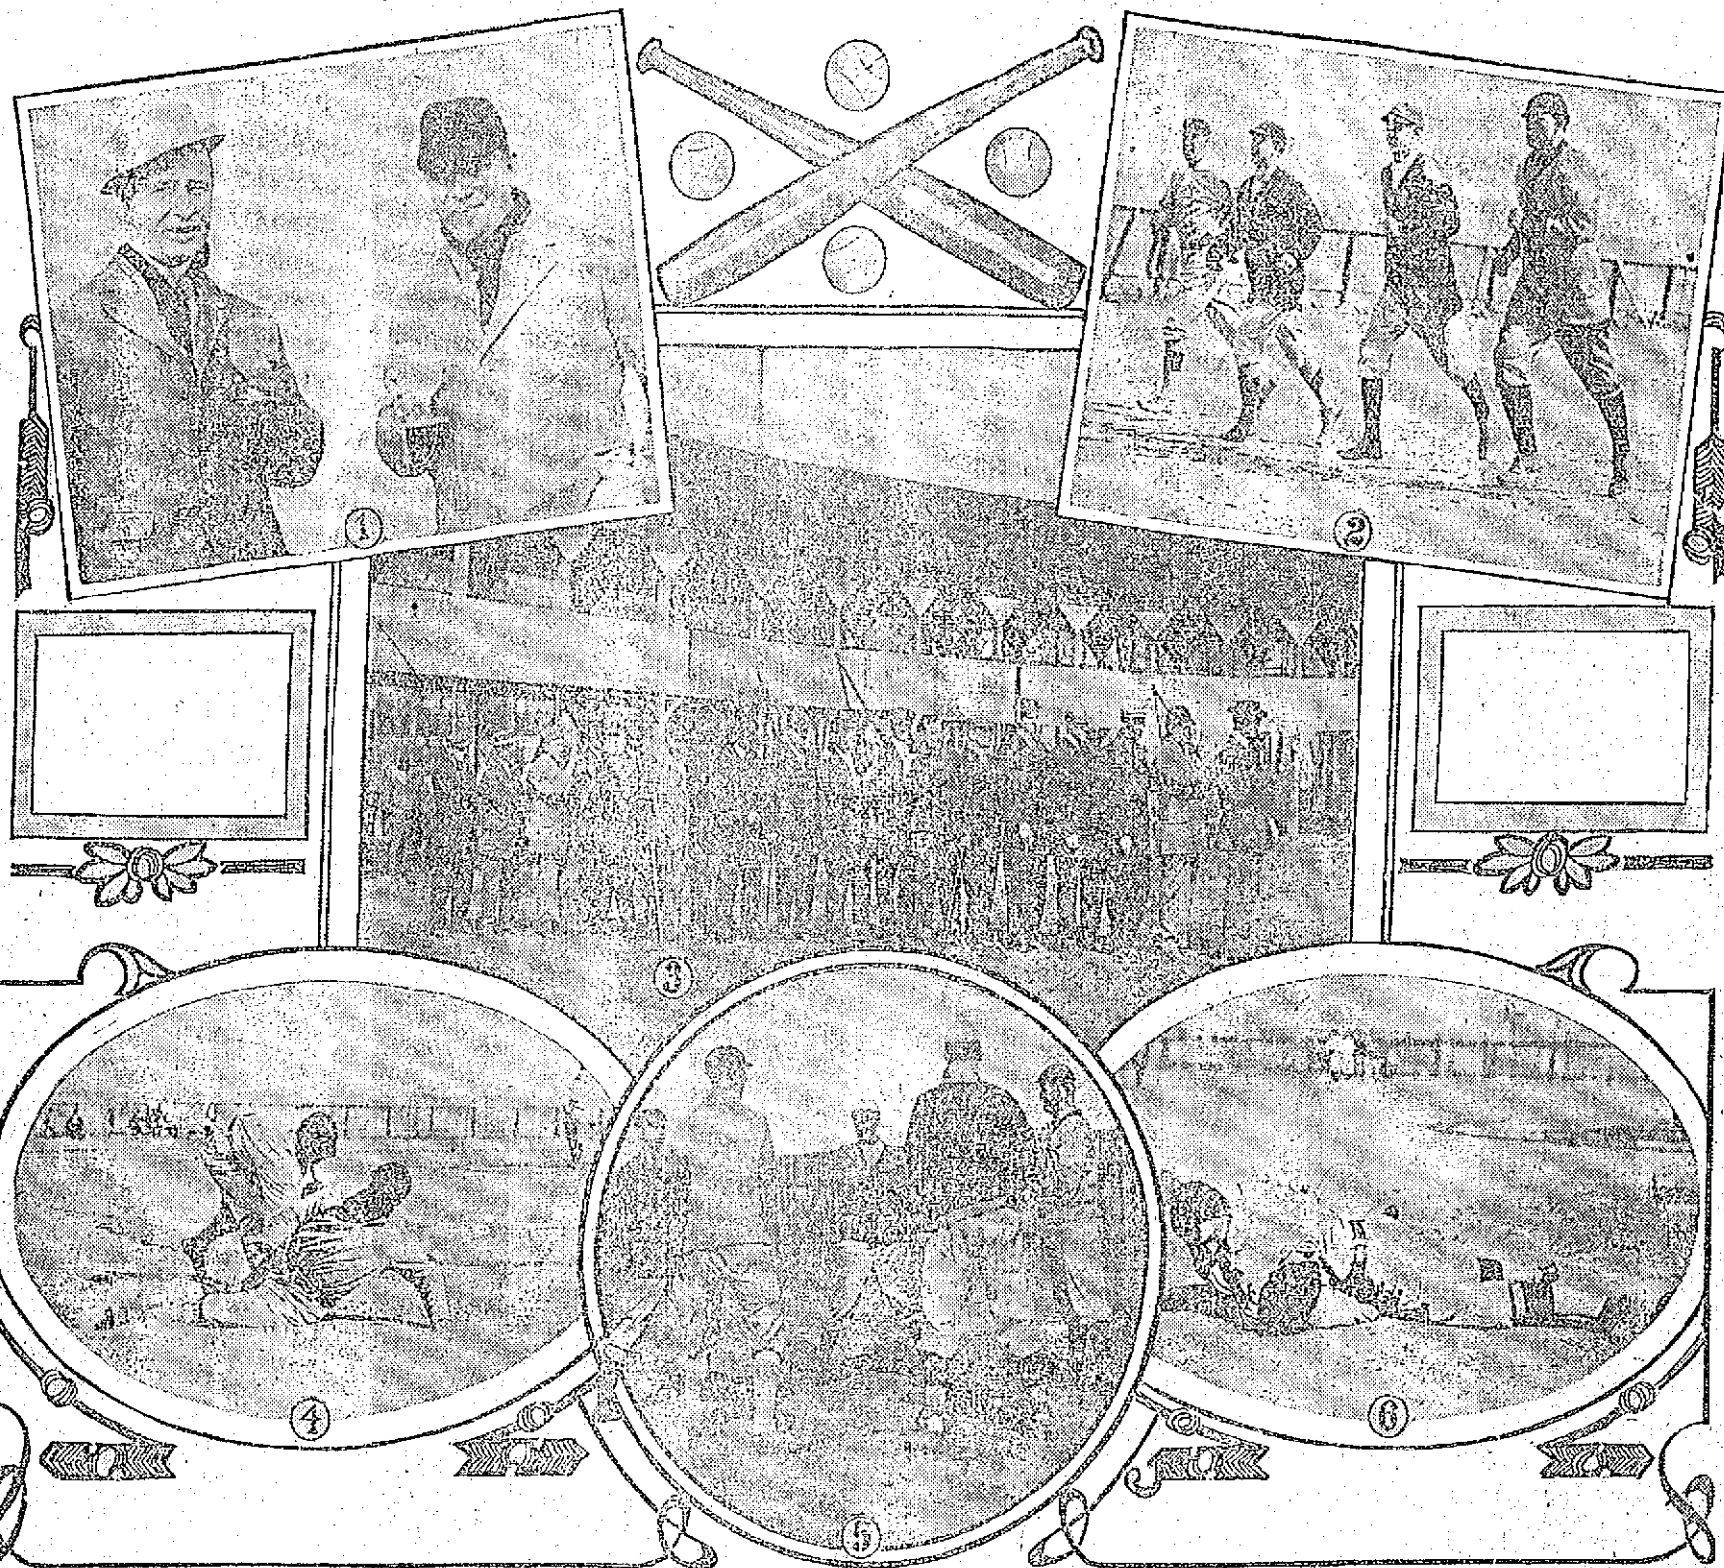

reach there. He is over six feet tall and has a total displacement of 185 pounds. A bat which he calls "Old Sal" is his constant companion, and he will not allow anybody else to touch it. While he hasn't much chance of getting a permanent job with the Giants, McGraw says that he is certainly a natural hard hitter, and the manager has to admire him for his gameness. Before the game at Dallas recently he made a break to get on the good side of Secretary Gray the moment Bill showed up. Forsythe's method of getting next to the money man was to slip two apples off the table and quietly sneak them into Gray's room. By two skillful maneuvers like that he succeeded in getting an advance order for $25. Half of the money, according to Beals Becker, was spent in sending away postcards to his friends.

Mr. Forsythe has no idea of the ethics of baseball, such as respecting the position of manager. Notwithstanding the fact that he is a bush leaguer he looks on McGraw just the same as if he were one of the other recruits. "Where's Johnny?" he asked of the hotel clerk one night. "Johnny?" repeated the bewildered clerk.

"Yes, Johnny McGraw. I want him to see about my laundry. It's got misplaced." About that time McGraw came up, and Forsythe stated his business.

"Well, did you think I could get it?" asked McGraw a little testily. "You know me, kid," said Forsythe as he dug the manager in the ribs. "I know who is in charge of this round-up." And the funny part of it is that McGraw helped him search for it while the other young players looked on with their mouths agape at the westerner's audacity.

The youngster is somewhat of a larrikin thrower and has begged McGraw and his teammates to let him practice roping the players as they run around the bases in morning practice.

ATHLETIC HEARTS.

"Is there such a thing as an athletic heart?" queried a New York sporting writer of a prominent physician.

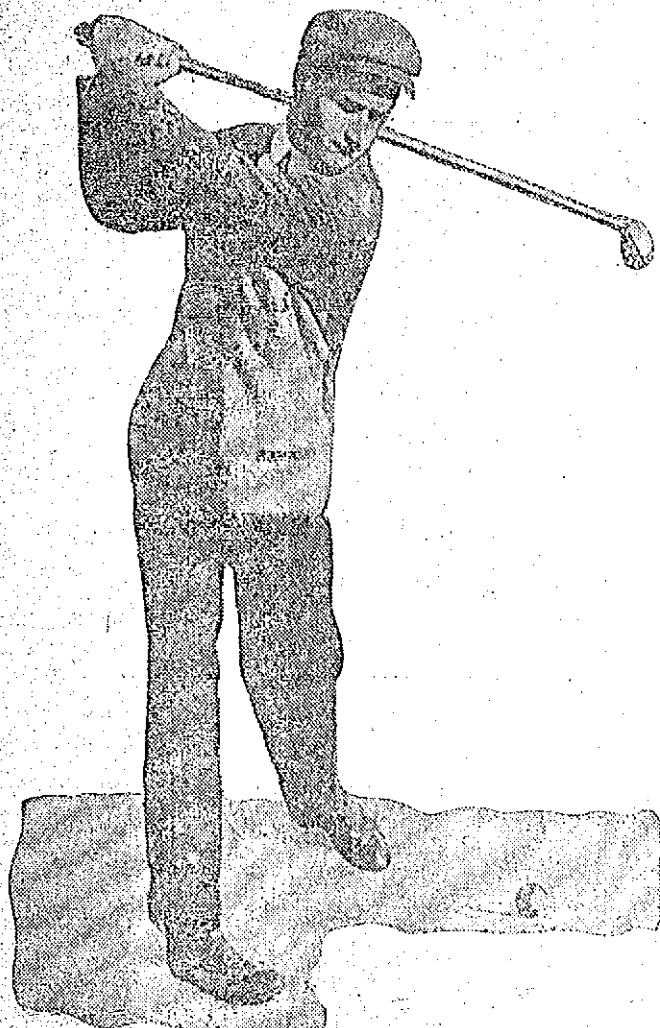

"Certainly there is," he replied. "An athletic heart is a heart that has been developed and strengthened by hard work. It is the best kind of heart, and the only thing that hurts it is the sudden stopping of all exercise and the taking on of fat as a consequence.

"Athletes should never give up training all at once. They should taper off gradually, and then their hearts will be stronger and better than the hearts of the men who have never been athletes."

TRAVERS TO COMPETE IN AMATEUR EVENTS AGAIN

For weeks there has been a persistent rumor that Jerome D. Travers, the former amateur golf champion, would become a professional. This Jerome has denied and announced recently he would compete in all the amateur tournaments to be held the coming season.

MANY GOLFERS OPPOSE STYMIE

Walter Travis and Other Experts Favor Having Element of Luck Barred.

American golfers having declared that their allegiance to the Schenectady putter is too strong to be broken, even by the ancient authority of St. Andrews, are likely to next start a campaign against the retention of the stymie. Nothing will probably be done until the new bogey rules are settled and the putter troubles have been closed, but the stymie is booked for early attention. According to St. Andrews, its playing is imperative. The fundamental rule of the sport was doubtless responsible for the original obligation of negotiating the stymie, and it may have been retained partly through the laziness of golfers who did not care to lift, although such an explanation savors of facetiousness.

Of course the majority of stymies are merely luck, which ought to be barred from the ranks of real sportsmen. Unfortunately it must be admitted that some men are despicable enough to deliberately lay their opponents a stymie, although as the hole is three times as wide as the ball, it is ordinarily much easier to hole the putt. It is known that Walter J. Travis is heartily in favor of abolishing the stymie, and several other American stars agree with him.

Porto Rico Sending Team.

The public high schools at Ponce, Porto Rico, will send a baseball team to America the coming summer to play a series of championship games with schoolboy teams from the schools of American cities. The scheme has the enthusiastic endorsement of James E. Sullivan of the A. A. U. and other New York athletic officers. Several New York high schools have applied for the privilege of playing the visitors.

ARE MAJORITY OF SOUTH-PAWS LOONY?

"Doo" White, the Chicago White Sox's pitcher, a left hander, adds his testimony. "Experts told me that southpaws wouldn't last long and that they were crazy, and I investigated," volunteers White. "I have reached the conclusion that overexertion affects the right hander as much as the left hander.

"Runners are affected more frequently than pitchers, and the legs are farther from the heart than the arms. Long games have never tired me. I have often pitched twelve or fifteen innings without tiring.

"To tell the truth, left hand pitching seems to affect the brain quicker than the heart. All the good left handers as far back as I can remember were eccentric. Silk O'Loughlin told me once I was the only left hander he ever saw who was not a little bughouse. He told me again I was as crazy as the others."

May Change Fight Weights.

It seems a curious thing to many persons perhaps that the lightweight limit should be just 133 pounds ring-side when so many little pugilists rapidly overgrow this weight and can no longer fight at less than 135 or 136, say. It is popular for some of these persons to say, "Why not raise the limit to 135 pounds and give them all a chance?" The answer to this question should be obvious, but it is not. The choice of 133 pounds as the lightweight limit is by no means an arbitrary one. It is based on the singular fact that there are comparatively few men who will maintain this weight and be at their best.

FORSYTHE, GIANTS' RECRUIT, A QUAIN CHARACTER

ONE of the quaintest characters and, incidentally the most amusing baseball players that have made a stab at a big league job for many seasons is Si Forsythe, who aspires to overthrow Fred Merkle as first baseman of the New York Nationals. An idea of his eccentricities can be youngsters, assisted by McGraw, striding him along until he believed that Hans Wagner, Lajoie and Ty Cobb all live on an oyster diet throughout the season. Forsythe admitted that he didn't like oysters and that he doesn't know where they raise them, but to show that he was game he went against the gleaned from the fact that for several days after the team began training at Marlin Springs he ate nothing but oyster stew so as to be able to hit Matty. He believed that if he could wallop Big Six hard in the spring he could find money rolling around the streets in New York.

Forsythe is a very glib, rambled fellow from the west, and some of the special dish three times a day and paid for it out of his own pocket.

Forsythe was formerly a bad man of the west, and since the training season opened he has entertained the youngsters nightly for an hour or so telling about the number of notches on his hip. He arrived in Marlin two weeks ahead of McGraw or anybody, and he admitted that it took him four days to

Says the People of Quebec Favor Reciprocity

The Pro Mayor Says That the Measure Will Benefit Both Countries—He Says the Wonderful Strides Made by Lowell in the Last Few Years Surprise Him

Mr. Henry E. Lavigueur, pro mayor of Quebec, has returned home after a short visit to this city. He is the brother of Emilie C. Lavigueur, the well known musician and teacher, and he came to Lowell to attend the funeral of his niece, Miss Blanche Lavigueur, which took place on Monday. The man who is now deeply interested in the politics of Quebec lived in this city for several years and he has a cozy corner in his heart for Lowell which he says is one of the most progressive cities on the map.

Mr. Lavigueur is a prominent figure in the politics of his native city. He is a keen, level-headed business man with a comprehensive idea of the things that are worth while. The writer had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Lavigueur and he found him to be exceptionally well informed. He has a deep seated interest for the welfare of Quebec and Canada at large. Asked as to the feeling of the Quebec people on the reciprocity question, Mr. Lavigueur said: "A great majority of my people are in favor of reciprocity. It is not a new question with us, and while we are more independently situated at the present time than we were when the question was first made an issue, I think that the spirit of reciprocity is as strong with my people today as it ever was."

Good For Both Countries
"I cannot see that any injuries from reciprocity could be more than short lived. Taking both countries in the large, it promises decided prosperity for both. I would identify the common interests of Canada and the United States and develop greater confidence between the two countries."

"I venture to say that the question of the reciprocity of the two countries is not the remotest possibility of its occurrence, but I do believe that the two countries so closely united in many ways should have an open market."

"We have a population of about 8,000,000 people and you have many millions, more than 70,000,000 I believe, but that does not freeze us. Our country is much larger than the United States and there is room for us all. A majority of the cleverest men in Canada, including Premier Laurier, one of the greatest statesmen in America, favor reciprocity and they would not favor it unless they were positive in their belief that it would prosper their home country."

"I will tell you of a little incident that took place on my way from Quebec to Montreal that is illustrative, in a small way, of the feeling in my country on the question of reciprocity. There were 43 men in the car in which I was riding and this all important question was the chief topic of conversation. We were nearing Montreal and it was finally suggested that we take a straw ballot to see how we stood on the matter. The straw ballot was taken and 35 of the 43 men voted for reciprocity."

Admires Mayor Meehan
During his stay in Lowell, Mr. Lavigueur made several calls on Mayor Meehan and yesterday afternoon the mayor took him out on a tour of inspection of the fire houses and other places. The city of Quebec is looking for a new fire chief and Mr. Lavigueur is to make application for the position. He says that Quebec has a good fire department but he thinks there is room for improvement. "I enjoyed my trip about the city very much," he said, "and I am sure that Lowell is to be congratulated upon having so clever and progressive a mayor. He told me of great many things that will be of great assistance to me in the development of plans that we have under way at home. I found him to be a very courteous gentleman and I admire him very much."

"I was in Lowell four years ago and I marvel at the wonderful strides you have made along the road of advancement in so short a time. You have erected wonderful buildings during these four years and you have added very materially to the efficiency of your various departments. I think that your fire department, police department and water department are the best I have ever seen. I am especially interested in the fire and water departments and a great deal was shown and explained to me that I will be able to use to good advantage."

"Apart from the sad mission responsible for my visit here, I must say that the trip has been a very enjoyable and a very beneficial one. I was sorry not to have been able to attend the meeting of the city council last Tuesday night. I was in Boston and did not arrive in Lowell in time to attend the meeting and I am very grateful to the chairman of the board of aldermen for arranging to have me seated beside him while he presided over the meeting. I appreciate his kindness and if ever he comes to Quebec he will have a seat beside me in the board of aldermen."

Mr. Lavigueur left Lowell on the 8:20 express for Montreal last night. He would have remained longer but he felt that his business required his personal attention. His business interests include two of the largest meat stores in Canada and he is one of the live wires in the business, social and political circles of Quebec.

MAYOR MEEHAN
WILL PRESIDE AT HOME RULE DEMONSTRATION
Mayor Meehan has accepted an invitation to preside at the meeting next Sunday evening at Lincoln hall under the auspices of the United Irish league and for the benefit of the home rule movement.

The speakers will be Captain Edward O'Meara, Condon, who was sentenced to death in England with Allen Larkin and O'Brien for the rescue of Col. Kelly and Capt. Deasey, two Fenian leaders, at Manchester, England, in 1867. His sentence was commuted because he was an American citizen, although found guilty with those who were executed. Capt. Condon is a fluent and forcible speaker.

The other speaker will be Mr. John O'Callaghan, national secretary of the United Irish league. A man who has been a power next to John Redmond in advancing the movement for home rule.

CIVIL SERVICE BOARD

Conferred With the Mayor and Heads of Departments

Civil service commissioners, Charles Warren, chairman, Frank Foxcroft and Elmer C. Curtis, came to Lowell this afternoon, accompanied by Secretary P. Dudley, and met Mayor McEahan and heads of municipal departments. The meeting was held in the mayor's reception room at city hall and a general discussion of matters pertaining to the service was entered into. Mr. Warren explained that the commission came to Lowell to meet the mayor and heads of departments; to come in personal contact with them and to talk with them relative to the service. He said it was the purpose of the commission to help heads of departments or appointing officials in every way possible and the commission was willing and glad to answer any and all questions.

Mayor McEahan asked if it was true that the sealers of weights and measures and his deputy, and the inspector of milk and vinegar were under civil service and Mr. Warren answered affirmatively. The mayor asked Mr. Warren to explain the question of provisional appointments. Mr. Warren said that provisional appointments were made because of the fact that the demand was fore the city's population jumped the 100,000 mark.

Cures All Spring Ailments.

Mrs. Marion Bruce, Cumberland, Me., writes: "I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for a great many years, and I think it the best blood medicine in the world. I take it both spring and fall. This last winter and spring I was in very poor health. I was weak and had lost all my appetite and I was all run down. As soon as I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, my strength came back and my appetite returned. I am now well, do my housework, and no longer have that tired feeling."

Mr. Warren asked Supt. Putnam if he had had any trouble with the examination for foremen and Mr. Putnam said he had not experienced any difficulty in that line.

William Reardon, representing the board of assessors, said the assessors were obliged to appoint assistant assessors every year, temporary appointments, and he wanted to know if there was any objection to their reappointment year after year.

Mr. Warren said that to notify the commission was all that was necessary. Supt. Hosmer said that his assistant engineers, now appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the city council, were as tall men, under civil service, and he wanted to know if they had lost their identity as civil service men because of their appointment by the mayor and election by the city council. Mr. Warren replied that they were still under civil service.

SUIT FOR $6000

Against the Massachusetts Mills

Lawyer William H. Bent has filed a suit to the amount of $6000 against the Massachusetts corporation in behalf of his client, Philippe Emond, who on July 18, of the past year, met with a bad accident while in the employ of the company.

Philippe Emond who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Remi Emond of 175 Ludlow street, was employed in the cloth room of the Massachusetts mills. On July 18, of the past year, his left arm was torn from its socket and the right arm received a compound fracture. Little is known as to the cause of the accident, for a scream was heard and Emond was found lying in a pool of blood with his left arm torn off.

The young man was removed to the Lowell hospital where he remained till Sept. 21.

GRAND PROGRAM

Presented at Tewksbury Novitiate

A pleasant evening was spent last night in the Tewksbury novitiate, when the priests and brothers of that institution held a St. Patrick's day celebration. The affair, which was in the line of an entertainment, was attended by a large number of local Oblate Fathers.

Selections were given by the Scholastic orchestra, and recitations, speeches and vocal selections were rendered by the brothers of the novitiate. The main feature of the evening was the recitation of Aubrey Devereux's famous poem, "St. Patrick and the Princess," by Brother McCarthy, assisted by Brothers Gallagher and McDermott, as the two princes. A pretty little comedy was also presented and the entertainment closed with orchestra selections.

PATRIOTS' DAY

Celebration Committed Held Meeting

The committee on April 19th celebration held a meeting in the public hearing room at city hall this afternoon with 16 members present, out of a total membership of 35. Major C. S. Proctor presided and Capt. Worthen read the records of the last meeting. Capt. Worthen read the report without interruption until he reached that part of the report which stated that the mayor had been asked to request the governor to officiate as chief marshal of the parade.

"What's that?" suddenly demanded Major Stott, who was a welcome visitor. The secretary repeated the statement whereupon Major Stott said: "What! The governor for chief marshal? Ha! Ha!" and the major laughed heartily at the idea.

At the conclusion of the reading of the records Assistant Secretary MacBrayne read several letters from Old Sixty survivors and prominent men of the city accepting invitations to be present. Among them was a letter from Governor Fox expressing his intention to be present. Several mayors were among the list.

"How about the governor of North Carolina?" asked Major Stott.

"We all know what he'll say," promptly responded Major Proctor. At the conclusion of the reading of communications Major Proctor explained the situation at the state house, stating that it was more than hopeful for an appropriation of $3500 from the state.

The business of the meeting was delayed owing to the absence of Mayor McEahan who was engaged at another meeting. Alderman Barrett and Councilman Achin were the only members of the city council present.

"Will there be any difficulty in getting the high school annex?" asked Major Stott.

"I think not," responded Chairman Proctor, "as it is a city affair."

The matter of the banquet was under discussion at the time of going to press.

The Railroad Decides Upon Site in North Billerica

Biggest Boom for Lowell in 50 Years Brought About Through Activity of the Lowell Board of Trade After Several Weeks of Hard Work—Plant is Now a Certainty—Will Employ 1200 Skilled Mechanics

A FEW FACTS ABOUT THE ACCEPTED SITE

Four miles from Lowell.

Area 530 acres with much more adjoining land available.

Has 3100 feet frontage on main line of Boston and Maine.

Has 2400 feet frontage on Bedford line of Boston and Maine.

Its greatest length is one and one-half miles.

All dry land except one small corner.

Six houses and one camp now on lot.

Is two minutes' walk from electric cars.

Street railroad will extend five-cent fare limit to new site.

The company plans to have eight buildings in two rows, built east and west, so as to get light all day. The cost will exceed $3,000,000.

Each row will be one mile long.

The site cost $25,000.

The company will begin to build at once.

The shops will employ 1200 men at the start.

It will take until fall to clear the land and six months longer to build the shops.

The site was secured by a committee of the Lowell board of trade consisting of President Harvey B. Greene, Secretary John H. Murphy, George M. Harrigan, J. L. Chalfoux, Jesse Shepard, C. M. Phil and Herford Elliott. The Sun was first to bring the site to public attention as it did on Jan. 19.

The officials of the Boston and Maine railroad announced this noon that they had decided to purchase the site in North Billerica proposed to them for their car shops and to locate the shops thereon without delay.

Will Employ 1200 Men

The coming of the Boston & Maine repair shops to North Billerica is the biggest thing that has happened in the interest of the city of Lowell in half a century and it is the only thing that the board of trade has accomplished in that time, which of course it is not, it is of sufficient magnitude to reflect great credit upon that body.

The board of trade was directly responsible for getting the Boston & Maine to come here. The president of the board, in the first place got to Agent Barr at the outset for an opportunity to show the road what was to be offered in the shape of a desirable site after the road had decided to abandon the Wamslet location. Then a committee of the board scoured the landscape and "dug up" the location in North Billerica, which the eminent engineers of the railroad had overlooked.

and presented its advantages to the company so strongly that the company looked into the matter and found that the board was right. Then came the matter of getting options on the land, a most difficult proposition, which once more the board of trade committee, principally through one of its directors, brought to a successful issue and finally the railroad after inspecting numerous other sites and listening to the arguments of Lawrence, Haverhill, Ayer, Revere, Lynn, Salem and Haverhill, came to the conclusion that the North Billerica site is the one best adapted to its purposes and on this site as soon as is possible, will be constructed the great repair shops, eight large buildings in two rows, each row one mile in length.

It was generally believed that a decision was to be made a week or more ago and while the newspapers were sworn to secrecy relative to the probable action of the Boston & Maine, they were "tipped" that there would be something doing at that time and they patiently awaited the word to make the happy announcement. On the day on which the matter was supposed to come to a head it was announced that the railroad company was to make a visit to a site in Lawrence and would return to Boston for a meeting in the afternoon. They went to Lowell and in all probability they met, but the only information available from the day on which the matter was announced had been arrived at. Then came the information that the company had turned down the Lawrence proposition and finally that the company was considering only two sites, Billerica and Revere.

Plans Kept Secret

had no idea that the Boston and Maine contemplated locating here. Immediately after the fact was made known in Lowell that the company was looking for a site the office of Mr. Barr was besieged by boards of trade, city and town committees, real estate dealers, etc. with sites all over the state that they desired to unload upon the company. Also wherever it became known that the company or anyone else had discovered a probable site immediately the price of land in that vicinity soared skyward. One of the worst cases of this was right in Billerica in connection with the real estate where at first some land owners thought it a good opportunity to "soak" the railroad company irrespective of the great amount of benefit all concerned were to derive by the establishment of the shops in that neighborhood. But the board of trade principally through Geo. M. Harrigan, showed these people the error of their way and while they received a good figure for their land they came down from the exorbitant heights. One real estate owner was so obstinate that the promoters, despairing of ever getting him in line proposed to get additional land and build the car shop around his plot, and this fact, together with Mr. Harrigan's persuasive eloquence, soon brought him back to earth.

History of Deal

The history of the work to get the car shops to Billerica as outlined by President Harvey B. Greene of the board of trade is as follows:

"Seven weeks ago," said Mr. Greene, "the morning after the Boston & Maine authorities announced that the Wamslet lot was impracticable, I telephoned Agent Barr of the Boston & Maine, to make an appointment with him for the privilege of pointing out to him some advantageous sites in the vicinity of Lowell. The appointment was made and in company with the committee of the board of trade we interviewed Mr. Barr. He stated that he was disappointed in the Wamslet lot whereupon we asked him what he required so that we could look up a site for him. He informed us that the company desired a lot with a frontage of one mile and a half on the car tracks, not over 25 miles from Boston and not in the city of Lowell, because the company objected to paying city taxes. But he insisted that the site must be as near the city as possible and on a five cent car fare limit, as the company did not propose to build any houses for its help and thus wanted the plant near enough the city to be convenient for the workmen. Furthermore the site required gas and electric light and a water supply.

The lot should be at least 500 acres in area but not over 800 and it should not be intersected by highways, streets or streams. Finally the land must be high and dry and of such a nature that it could be made ready for building at little cost.

We reported back to the full committee, including Jesse H. Shepard, J. L. Chalfoux, Melvin Rogers, George M. Harrigan, Carl M. Phil and Secretary Murphy and a sub-committee consisting of Messrs. Shepard and Phil and Engineer Brooks made a tour of Billerica and Tewksbury in search of available sites. In the meantime the Sun came out with the description of a site in North Billerica running from the Billerica depot northward to South Lowell and the company's engineers went to Billerica and looked it over and went from there to Wilmington going past without noticing what has since proved to be the one site in every way desirable, namely the North Billerica site below the depot and to-located between the main line and the Bedford branch.

Five Sites Reported

The special committee reported five sites to Mr. Barr and plans of them were prepared by Engineer, Brooks, Messrs. Shepard, Brooks and Agent Tatt and myself giving our plans to the engineers of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, the Fitchburg and the Boston and Maine divisions in a conference. They were surprised with the features presented by plan four on our map, the site selected. It is located four miles from Lowell at one end and five miles at the southern end. It is two minutes' walk from the street car line. It has the Billerica water supply and a fair sized pond just across the tracks. It permits an entrance from the main line and a siding on the Bedford branch having tracks on two sides. It has one mile and a quarter frontage on the main line and the engineers pointed out how this length might be increased the

RANDOLPH HALL

One of Harvard's Exclusive Dormitories Destroyed by Fire

CAMBRIDGE, March 16.—One student was rescued in an unconscious condition, many others were awakened barely in time to escape the flames and all were driven scantily clad to the street by a fire that partially destroyed Randolph hall, one of the most exclusive Harvard dormitories on Mount Auburn street early today. The fire started in a suite on the ground floor of the west wing of the building and spread rapidly to the upper floors, endangering the lives of the sleeping students. Policemen, firemen and janitors rushed through the various apartments, awakened the occupants and after considerable difficulty succeeded in clearing the building without loss of life.

Y. Aral, a Japanese student, was found unconscious in his apartments on the top floor of the dormitory by a policeman who barely escaped with the prostrate student before the flames filled with the hallway. The other occupants of the top floor reached the street unharmed.

Randolph Hall was erected by the Coolidge estate in the early nineties at a cost of $75,000. Recently an extensive wing was added to the building, together with racquet courts and swimming pool. The loss to the building is estimated at $25,000 while the individual losses of the students will greatly increase this figure.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

No Formal Observance Will be Held Tomorrow

But Irish and Catholic Societies Will Observe the Day in Their Halls—Rev. Fr. Chittick, of Hyde Park, Will Deliver Panegyric at Patrick's Church

Tomorrow will be St. Patrick's day and will be observed by Irishmen and their descendants the world over, including Lowell.

The weather of the past 48 hours has shown the wisdom of the recent St. Patrick's Day convention in deciding not to hold an out-door celebration this year and there will be no observance by the united societies of Lowell but all the Irish and Catholic societies will observe the day in their halls while there will be numerous dancing and social parties.

In all the Catholic churches there will be special masses. At St. Patrick's church, the day is ever observed, the patronal feast day of the church, with impressive services. At 3 o'clock tomorrow solemn high mass will be sung and a special musical program will be given by the choir under the direction of Michael J. Johnson. The choir will sing Turner's mass departing from the customary Gregorian mass in honor of the holiday. The panegyric on St. Patrick will be delivered by Rev. Fr. Chittick, of Hyde Park, president of the Norfolk county Catholic Federation and one of the best known pulpits orators of the archdiocese. In the evening the C. Y.

First Showing Tomorrow

Formal Opening

The Formal Opening Will Take Place Friday of This Week.

But first arrivals are already on display and you will be welcome to see them informally tomorrow in our Carpet room (2nd floor.)

Someone has said, the Persian Rugs are eminently the best Rugs to buy, yet only an expert's advice should be relied upon in buying Oriental Rugs today—and even that should have an endorser.

Our New York connections are experts on Persian Rugs (and all Oriental Floor Coverings.) This store is the endorser which protects you even to the extent of allowing the return of any purchase which proves unsatisfactory.

There are no Arabian Nights stories to be told about the Oriental Rugs at Robertson's. True, there is romance and mystery in the wonderful intricacy and idealism of design and in their wealth of harmonious colors.

These Oriental Rugs and Carpets will be sold in the plain Robertson way, the very best quality possible at prices asked and the store's guarantee behind every sale. The following list will give you an idea of the magnitude of our purchase, with sizes and quality and price of each Rug.

Shiftless Husband Was Sentenced to Jail

Everett Velcourt preferred to go to jail rather than furnish a bond in the sum of $100 that he would pay $2.50 per week for the support of his two minor children, Rosanna and Eveline. He made all kinds of promises relative to what he would do and stated that he was willing to pay the amount which the court ordered, but Probation Officer Shattery intimated that he had no confidence in the man and was afraid that the defendant might run away. Judge Bradley then ordered that a bond be furnished and when Velcourt ascertained that the court did not have much faith in him he said, "I'll go to jail before I furnish a bond," and to jail he will have to go.

Mrs. Velcourt told a very pitiful story to the court of how she had to "steal at 3 o'clock in the morning and work until seven o'clock at night" in order to take care of her house and support her two little ones. They had been in an orphanage for several years and owing to their being sick her expenses had been materially increased. She said that she and her husband had separated about three years ago and since then he had done little towards supporting her and her life has been a struggle for existence.

Velcourt with an air of bravado told the court his side of the story and added that he was willing to support his children. When the court ordered him to pay $2.50 per week towards the support of the little ones he acquiesced, but the probation officer felt that the man could not be depended upon and the wife said that her husband could leave the city shortly after must be overruled.

Michael Vergos was charged with assault and battery on Strayroula Isarolis. He entered a plea of not guilty and by agreement of counsel the matter was continued till Saturday.

Four Months in Jail

Stephen F. Shaughnessy was under a suspended sentence of three months in jail for failure to provide for his wife, but he fell by the wayside and was arrested yesterday. When brought into court this morning he admitted that he had been drinking. Mrs. Shaughnessy testified against him whereupon the court found him guilty and ordered the suspension of his former sentence revoked and also ordered him to one month in jail for drunkenness.

Heavy Sentence Imposed

Mrs. Elizabeth Hall was charged with being drunk. Her husband and Patrolman Donovan appeared against her. She has six children. The court sentenced her to six months in jail.

Back to the Farm

Henry F. Bedell and Louis P. Caron, who were on parole from the state farm, were arrested yesterday and this afternoon they were returned to Bridgewater.

There were two first offenders who were fined $2 each.

Does Your Back Ache?

If you are a woman and you have this symptom get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound without delay. Backache seems an invention of the evil one to try woman's souls. Only those who suffer this way can understand the wearing, ceaseless misery.

We ask all such women to read the following letter for proof that Pinkham's Compound cures backache caused by woman's diseases.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness on each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. Olive Woodall, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made thousands of cures of such cases. You notice we say has cured thousands of cases. That means that we are telling you that it has done, not what we think it will do. We are stating facts, not guesses.

We challenge the world to name another remedy for woman's ills which has been so successful or received so many testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

The testimonials which are constantly being published in the Pinkham advertisements are guaranteed to be absolutely genuine, honest, and given without reward in any way whatever.

New Hampshire Girl Would Wed Westerner

The dear girls have not yet lost interest in the man from the golden west. A man by the name of Roberts, whose home is in San Antonio, Texas, wrote to Mayor Meehan some time ago asking the mayor to pick out a wife for him. For a few days the mayor was besieged with letters, telephone calls and calls in person and the thing got so serious that His Honor decided to "cut it out." He asked his private secretary, Mr. E. H. Hildan, what he thought about it and Mr. Hildan allowed that if the man wanted a wife, a Lowell woman preferred, he believed he ought to be helped out and Mr. Riordan volunteered to take charge of the matter and today he received the following letter from a girl in old New Hampshire:

Rochester, N. H., March 14, 1911.

Dear Sir:—Having read in The Lowell Sun the letter you received from Mr. Roberts of San Antonio, Texas, asking you to find for him a wife, I take this opportunity of addressing you. No doubt you have received quite a number of letters in answer. I have always been interested in the west and it seems to me as if a ranch would be the ideal spot wherein to lead the simple life. I would like to see Mr. Roberts' picture but good looks in men do not appeal to me. If he is honest, faithful and kind, that is all I ask. I am a good plain cook and can sew and knit. I like to come with my folks and while they are good to me and while my home surroundings are very pleasant I feel that I have symptoms of western fever. I am not an adventuress, but a kind, lovable girl and to make some one happy is the ambition of my life. Something was mentioned in Mr. Roberts' letter about long horned steers and I presume that cow punching is his business. It makes no difference to me what his business may be, I will endeavor to make him a good wife and make home pleasant for him. Mr. Roberts said there were plenty of men, but not many women, and in that event I thought there might be a chance for another. If you will please send Mr. R.'s address I might write to him.

City Hall, March 15, 1911.

Dear Sir:—The new movement called the Boy Scouts of America has been brought to my notice with the suggestion that it might be fostered by the city of Lowell.

The city of Columbus, Ohio, and other municipalities, have utilized this means of training good citizens under their public recreation departments.

There will be a public hearing on this project at the city hall on Thursday afternoon, March 30, at 4 o'clock.

William M. Arthur, A. Carey, of Walham, will explain the movement and indicate the methods of forming a local council. You are cordially invited as one interested in the welfare of Lowell boys.

Yours, very respectfully,
John F. Meehan, Mayor.

DEFEND BUTLER

Many Speakers at the Statue Hearing Yesterday

Pointed Remarks Made by Edward B. Pierce—Jas. H. Wolf, a Colored Lawyer, Urged the Erection of Statue to Memory of Butler

The fame and name of Gen. Benjamin F. Butler was defended at the state house yesterday when the committee on state house and libraries again took up the petition for a statue at the state house in his memory.

After the remonstrants had been heard, Col. A. C. Drinkwater, who managed the financial end of Butler's campaign for governor in 1882, eulogized Gen. Butler at length, terming him "the ablest man that ever sat in congress from New England," and adding that "every charge that has ever been made against him has been disproved." He said the annual attempt will be made for a statue until one is erected.

Sherwin L. Cook, in opposition, said he felt that before more statues are erected to soldiers, we should have statues to our statesmen. He suggested that a commission have charge of all memorials.

W. G. Cunningham of Boston related how he had lost money in the '90s in a company of which Gen. Butler was president.

Edward B. Pierce representing Senator Hibbard, who introduced the bill, accused the opponents of the bill of having a "well organized corps of claqueurs" to applaud the suggestion that if a Butler statue is erected the Shaw monument should be removed. More colored men and widows of colored soldiers contributed money for the bronze bust of Butler presented to the city of Lowell than charged with Shaw, declared Mr. Pierce.

In closing, Mr. Pierce recounted Gen. Butler's war record and asserted that no remonstrant could say that Butler ever lost a battle or caused the blood of an American to be shed in vain. He made a statement as to the sources of the Butler family fortune.

James H. Wolf, an attorney and a colored man who was with Butler at Fort Fisher, strongly urged the erection of the statue on Butler's war record alone.

"I want a statue to Gen. Butler because he is the ideal of 10,000,000 people to whom he was always loyal," said Mr. Wolf. "I want the children of this great colored race to come here and see respect paid to the man who first made freedom possible."

Col. Drinkwater said he knew some friends of Butler who lost money in speculations that he got into "when he was no longer the Butler we are talking about, the Butler of the camp, of the courtroom, of congress. When he was defeated for election he was defeated because his whole ticket was defeated."

George E. Pike of Boston, a white-haired man, said he had come to the hearing because of the character of the aspersions made by the opponents of the statue. "You cannot obliterate the history of this state," said Mr. Pike, "nor can you obliterate Butler's name from her records. Wherever he was placed he did a man's work. If he were alive today those gentlemen who have slandered him would no more have dared to do it than they would have put their heads in a lion's mouth."

C. W. Howe, who was in the party that relieved Butler at New Orleans, spoke in favor of the bill, especially criticizing Moorfield Storey's attitude in the matter.

Others who spoke in favor of the bill were Clifford H. Plummer, a colored attorney who represented the New England suffrage league; William Monroe Trotter, president of the Boston Literary and Historical association; Whitfield Tuck of Winchester, and Charles S. Baker of Falmouth. W. G. Cunningham, who had previously spoken in opposition, asked to have his statements withdrawn after he had learned of General Butler's condition at the end of his career.

The hearing was closed.

DEATHS

REED—Miss Leslie Reed died in Canton yesterday. Miss Reed was the daughter of Alexander and Mary G. Reed, and was a cello player of note. She has appeared here many times in the past and has many friends in Lowell. Her mother is a well known teacher of music.

MORAN—Miss Elizabeth Moran died yesterday at her home, 16 Chase street, aged 21 years. She was beloved by all who knew her, and her many friends will be pained to learn of her death. She leaves her father, James Moran; her mother, Sarah Ann; four sisters, Margaret, in England, Sarah Ann of Philadelphia, Pa., Mary and Rose of this city; and four brothers, John in England, Bernard and James in Italy, and Alfred of this city. Boston and Philadelphia papers please copy.

BARON—Died in this city, March 15, at 1311 Middlesex street, Christopher Baron, aged 89 years.

FAULKNER—Died at Santa Barbara, Cal., March 14, suddenly, Anne Robbins, daughter of the late James R. and Catherine R. Faulkner, formerly of North Billerica.

FUNERALS

TIBBETTS—The funeral of Elizabeth Tibbetts, daughter of Philip and

Catherine Tibbetts, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of the parents, 29 Tyler street. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons.

McCUE—The funeral of Vera May McCue, child of George and Margaret McCue, took place from the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael McKell, 37 Butler avenue, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where many floral pieces were laid on the grave. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker John J. O'Connell.

EVANS—The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Evans took place from her home, 17 Boston road, yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock. A mass of requiem was sung at the Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock, by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I. The choir sang the Gregorian mass, at the offertory the "O Salutaris," and at the conclusion of the mass the "De Profundis." John J. Kelly presided at the organ. The bearers were Martin Gately, James Sharkey, John McNulty and Charles Horan. The burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Bernard Fletcher read the committal prayers. Among the beautiful floral pieces were: A large pillow inscribed "Mother," from the daughter, Miss Mary A. Evans; a beautiful spray from Charles Dargatz and sisters, and a bouquet from Mrs. John Eber; and sprays from Mrs. Lowney and Mr. and Mrs. Recht, and many others. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker John J. O'Connell.

McFARLIN—The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary McFarlin took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from her late home, 18 Garnet street, and was largely attended. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where at 9 o'clock a solemn mass of requiem was sung by Rev. John O'Brien. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Miss Mary F. Whiteley sang "Pie Jesu" and after the elevation Mr. James B. Donnelly sang "In Paradisum." As the remains were being borne from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." Mrs. John McKennedy presided at the organ.

Among the floral tributes was a wreath from Miss Mary McFarlin, and palms from Mrs. McDonough and family. The bearers were Thomas McDonough; Patrick Houlihan; John Whelan and Thomas Harrington. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the final prayers were read by Rev. Fr. O'Brien. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons had charge.

FOR PUBLIC PARK AT ST. MICHAEL'S

Petitions Being Circulated in Centralville St. Patrick's Day Exercises Held Today

The members of the committee recently named by the Centralville Social club to look over the possibility of a public park in West Centralville, held a meeting in the club rooms last night and decided as recommended by the park commissioners to circulate petitions to be signed by the voters of that section of the city.

The committee in charge hopes to be through with the petition work in a few days, and then an order may be introduced in the council for the latter to choose a site and appropriate a certain sum of money for the purchase of the said site.

At the last meeting of the Centralville Social club, Alderman Toupin denied the statement published in a local paper recently, which said that the alderman was opposed to a park in Centralville, and the members of that organization claim that Mr. Toupin is in favor of a park in that district, but the latter when approached by a representative of The Sun this morning, refused to make any further statement on the question.

Councilmen Delaronde, Rogers and Achin are ready to do all they can in helping the movement along. Councilman Achin said this morning that he favored a park in Little Canada and Centralville, but in the event that only one can be had, he would favor the Centralville site, for it is large enough to accommodate both districts.

PARADE GROUND

Wanted by the Local Militia

Mayor Meehan is in receipt of the following letter from Adjutant-General Gardner W. Pearson:

Boston, March 14, 1911.

Hon. John F. Meehan,

Mayor of Lowell.

Sir:—A communication has been forwarded to me through military channels from Capt. George W. Peterson, Co. C, Sixth Infantry, M. V. M., stating that a demand has been made on the city of Lowell "for suitable grounds for parade, drill, as provided in section 13a, chapter 604, Acts of 1905. If this is the fact, is there any reason why the city of Lowell should not provide such grounds?"

Very respectfully,

Gardner W. Pearson,

STATE ARMORY

ADJUT. GEN. PEARSON WOULD DISPOSE OF ONE AT LAWRENCE

BOSTON, March 16.—The committee on military affairs gave a hearing on the petition of Adj. Gen. Gardner W. Pearson of Lowell providing for the disposal of the state armory at Lawrence. Maj. Charles F. Sargent of Lawrence said that the armory is unsuited for the work of the militia and others who spoke in favor of disposing of the armory were Capt. Louis S. Cox and Capt. Frank L. Donovan, who said the building might be used as an industrial school by the city of Lawrence.

The annual St. Patrick's Day exercises at St. Michael's parochial school were held in the school hall today, on account of tomorrow being a holiday and in addition to the teachers of the school, Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor of St. Michael's and the curates of the parish were present as guests. The hall was prettily decorated with the colors of America and Erin gracefully intertwined, white Old Glory and the Irish flag were displayed conspicuously. After the regular program, Rev. Fr. Shaw addressed the pupils eloquently on the lessons to be drawn from the life and mission of St. Patrick.

The program was as follows:

Hymn, "Erin's Patron Saint."

Ninth Grade

"The Genius of the Irish People"

John Cooke, Walter Mulvey, John Cawley, William McShea, Thomas Donnelly, Edward Riordan, Walter Toney and John Barrett.

BOARD OF TRADE

Will Wax Enthusiastic at Tonight's Banquet

For six weeks past the committee in charge of the board of trade banquet which is to be held in Associate hall, this evening has been fondly hoping that the Boston and Maine would announce its decision relative to its car shops before the date of the banquet so that that great achievement of the board might be impressed upon its guests and the public in general. This morning all hope of hearing the glad news before the banquet was abandoned as it was not believed that the railroad authorities would come to a decision for a week or more.

To say that the receipt of the information shortly before noon today was received with great rejoicing is putting it light and as a result it will be a most enthusiastic gathering that will assemble about the festive board this evening. All arrangements for the banquet have been completed and 500 covers will be laid.

COMPLETE SHOWING OF Spring Top Coats From Stein-Bloch and other good makers. $15 to $30

We've never had so much reason to enthuse as over these new top coats from Stein-Bloch. The lines are so new and so smart, the tailoring so clever, and the fancy fabrics so appealing, any man who cares at all for dress will lose himself viewing them. The new coats are built on generous lines. The dress coats are cut full; the fancy coats very full, but the collars hug the neck and the lapels are gracefully fashioned. Only the best tailoring is worthy of such designing skill, and these Stein-Bloch Coats have both.

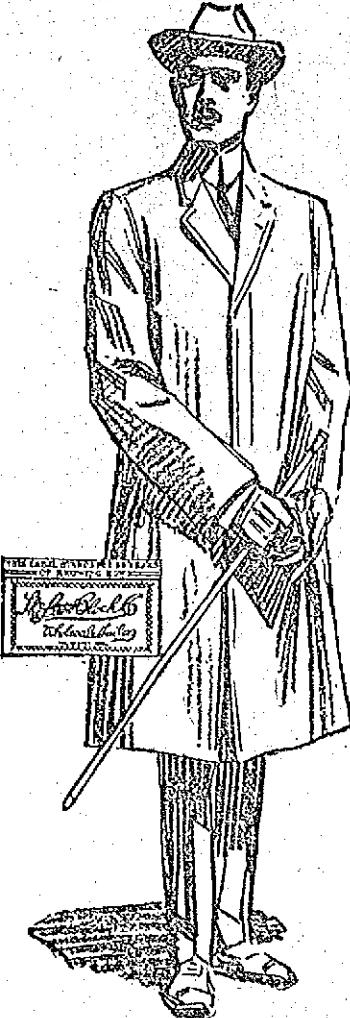

Dress Coats of black and oxford—serge lined or silk lined. Fancy Coats in grayish and tan chevrons with serge linings.

$15 to $30 The New Spring Suits

Tans and browns are prominent in the showing of new spring suits. Grays are still in demand and fancy blues are running strong, but tans are new and will be featured. Stein-Bloch provides six different sack models, including the new English soft roll, and the Norfolk. Altogether we show a dozen models of sack suits for men and young men—all hand tailored and all trousers with unfinished bottoms.

This is a good week to see the new models. If you're ready to buy, you save 10 per cent. because it's our Anniversary week. If you're not ready we're glad to show you.

IT'S A COLD DAY

Quite a Drop in the Temperature

NEW YORK, March 16.—A cold snap of unusual severity for this season of the year holds practically the entire eastern section of the country tightly gripped today with small probability of its grasp being loosened before tomorrow. There was a drop of 26 degrees in temperature to a minimum of 16 degrees in this city during the night.

Temperatures following the rain and brief snow flurry of last night, dropped to nearly zero at points in interior New York state, while it was only four above the zero mark in Pittsburgh this morning and 14 degrees in Washington, D. C., the latter a remarkably low figure. The cold wave was borne in upon a high wind which averaged 56 miles an hour along the coast here and up into New England. The storm moved northeastward and today is central in eastern Maine or over Nova Scotia.

It is already warming up to the west of the Mississippi river but low temperatures prevail over the Ohio valley and the lake region. According to the local weather bureau the cold snap will continue through today and tonight with probability of warmer conditions tomorrow.

Slippery pavements were responsible for numerous falls and injuries to pedestrians here.

LADDER SLIPPED

Man Was Crushed to Death

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 16.—Austin Burke, 23, an employee of the Glenlyon Dye works at Philadelphia, was killed in a peculiar manner in the bleach house of the plant today. While at work standing on a ladder the ladder slipped and Burke was precipitated head first between a large belt and pulley. The rapidly moving belt drew his head between it and the pulley, crushing him to death. He was unmarried.

RARE MUSIC

BY LOUGY CLUB OF BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The star course of the Y. M. C. A. came to a close last evening with a delightful concert of chamber music by the Longy club of the Boston Symphony orchestra, with the exception of the pianist. The players were:

Flute, Mr. A. Brooke; horns, Messrs. F. Hale and H. Lorbeer; oboes, Messrs. G. Loney and C. Lenom; bassoons, Messrs. G. Sadony and J. Mosbach; clarinets, Messrs. G. Grisez and T. Minart; piano, Mr. A. DeVoto. As may be noted nearly all of the instruments used are of extremely ancient origin. Modern improvements have been made in all of them, of course, but they still retain some of their original characteristics. The oboe, for example, is one of the most archaic of its tribe, and in its ancient form was known in many climes, especially in Egypt and the eastern countries, in some of which it may be heard in its simpler and ruder form today. And so with the flute and horn and later with the bassoon and the clarinet.

The program was as follows:

Gounod.....Petite Symphonie
For Flute, 2 Oboes, 2 Clarinets, 2 Horns and 2 Bassoons.
1—Adagio—Allegretto.
2—Andante Cantabile.
3—Scherzo.
4—Finale.
Widor.....Introduction and Rondo
Messrs. G. Grisez and A. de Voto.
St. Saens (a).....Fauillet d'Album
Schubert (b).....Musnet
Gauzy (c).....Aubade et Ronde de Nuit
For Flute, 2 Oboes, 2 Clarinets, 2 Horns and 2 Bassoons.
Rietz.....Concertstück (op. 41)
For Flute, Oboe, Clarinet, Horn, Bassoon and Piano.

MICHAEL BARRY

Lowell Man Arrested in Nashua

NASHUA, N. H., March 16.—Michael Barry of Lowell was arrested last evening by Patrolmen Mulvanity and O'Connell, charged with the larceny of a suitcase containing clothing, the property of David Kellman. The owner, who had been chopping in the woods, set the case down in a store on Factory street, and it is alleged Barry picked it up and, taking it to Markarian's second-hand store, sold it. The property was recovered.

PARDONS REFUSED

ADVERSE REPORTS IN CASE OF SMART AND SUTTON

BOSTON, March 16.—At the session of the executive council yesterday the pardon committee refused to recommend the pardoning of George B. Smart of Lawrence, now serving sentence in the house of correction for conspiracy to bribe. The pardon committee also declined to recommend executive clemency in the case of Edward Sutton now serving a term of six to eight years in the state prison for assault and battery. The executive council accepted the reports.

FIVE GOVERNORS AND ONE EX-GOVERNOR TO SPEAK FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

"SHOULD the right of the ballot be granted to women?" some one asked recently of Father Vaughan, the famous London preacher.

"If it should be given to women," he replied, "I am afraid the suffragettes would want it also."

But that is an English view, and only one man's opinion at best. American opinion seems to be moving toward the point of deciding that the ballot should be granted to all women, whether they are suffragists, suffragettes or women who do not care whether or not the right to vote is given to the members of their sex. In five states of the Union women possess the full right of suffrage. Washington lined itself up with Idaho, Colorado, Wyoming and Utah on this question last November. Witness the suffragist flag—blue ground, four five pointed white stars arranged in the shape of a square, with a fifth star midway between the center of the flag and the two stars on the left side. Inscribed on the five starred flag is the slogan or fighting cry of the suffragists, "Votes For Women."

See Seven Stars on Flag.

It looks as though the woman's suffrage flag would not remain long in its present form. The way is almost cleared for the addition of two or three stars to the banner. In Kansas and California bills granting the full suffrage to women have been passed by the legislatures, and the only remaining step is the approval of the measures by the electorates of the two states. In California there is to be a special election this year, probably in September, at which the question will be decided. Leading suffragists declare themselves well pleased with the outlook. They assert their assurance that the activity of the anti-suffragists will not prevail in the Sunflower State or the Golden State. Ohio, too, may soon swing in line for the granting of the vote to women. There is to be a constitutional convention in the state next year, and the leaders of the movement in Ohio, assisted by prominent women from other states, are campaigning already for the adoption of a constitutional provision granting them the right to vote. Victory in Ohio, which vies with Virginia for the title of "mother of presidents," is desired ardently by the suffragists, and they are working hard for its achievement.

Movement all along the line throughout the Union is the order of the day in the suffrage army. Strong objective points are found in the state and city of New York. The recent siege of the New York legislature, conducted by suffragists led by some of the ablest generals and captains in the cause, held the attention of the Empire State for a time.

Five Governors to Speak For Cause.

To reawaken interest in the cause in New York city a great suffrage meeting, to be held on or about March 30, has been planned. It will be addressed by many men of prominence who affirm their faith in the suffrage cause. Possibly as "an evidence of good faith"

the leaders of the women invited the governors of the five suffrage states to address the meetings, and every one of the five accepted. They are Governors James H. Hawley of Idaho, John F. Shafroth of Colorado, J. M. Carey of Wyoming, William Spry of Utah and Marion B. Hay of Washington. Idaho seems to be an especially enthusiastic suffrage state, for it will send to the meeting not only its actual governor, but also former Governor James H. Brady, who left the gubernatorial chair in January. He is a strong suffragist and will tour the world in the cause, speaking at the annual convention of the International Woman's Suffrage alliance to be held in Stockholm in June. The alliance is the great central body of the suffrage cause. Its head is an American, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt.

Present day suffrage sentiment is permeated with joy over the recent victory in Washington, and the women who helped to win the victory are the heroes of the cause. Prominent among them stands Mrs. Emma Smith De Voe, who is president of the recently organized National Council of Women Voters and therefore head and representative of 600,000 women who possess the full right of the ballot. Among her ablest conductors is Mrs. Cornelia Templeton Jewett, chairman of the press committee of the council, a northwestern newspaper woman of experience, who is doing much to advance the suffrage propaganda in her section of the country and elsewhere.

History of Suffrage Successes. As recited by the suffragists, the history of the movement is a long, unbroken series of successes. The facts following are taken from a leaflet entitled "Progress of Equal Suffrage," compiled by Alice Stone Blackwell, daughter of the late Lucy Stone, one of the pioneer woman suffragists of America.

"Eighty years ago women could not vote anywhere except to a very limited extent in Sweden and a few other places in the world."

1861 Kansas gave it to all women. In 1867 New South Wales gave women municipal suffrage. In 1869 England gave municipal suffrage to single women and widows. Victoria gave it to women, both married and single, and Wyoming gave full suffrage to all women."

"In 1871 Western Australia gave municipal suffrage to women. School suffrage was granted in 1875 by Michigan and Minnesota. In 1876 by Colorado. In 1877 by New Zealand. In 1878 by New Hampshire and Oregon. In 1879 by Massachusetts. In 1880 by New York and Vermont. In 1880 South Australia gave municipal suffrage to women."

"In 1881 municipal suffrage was extended to the single women and widows of Scotland and parliamentary suffrage to the women of the Isle of Man. Nebraska gave school suffrage to women in 1882. Municipal suffrage was given by Ontario and Tasmania in 1884 and by New Zealand and New Brunswick in 1885. In 1887 municipal suffrage was granted in Kansas, Nova Scotia and Manitoba and school suffrage in North and South Dakota, Montana, Arizona and New Jersey. In the same year Montana gave taxpaying women the right to vote upon all questions submitted to the taxpayers."

"In 1888 England gave women county suffrage, and British Columbia and the northwest territory gave them municipal suffrage. In 1889 county suffrage was given to the women of Scotland and municipal suffrage to single women and widows in the province of Quebec. In 1891 school suffrage was granted in Illinois."

On All Sides of the Globe.

"In 1892 school suffrage was granted in Connecticut and full suffrage in Colorado and New Zealand. In 1894 school suffrage was granted in Ohio, bond suffrage in Iowa and parish and district suffrage in England to women, both married and single. In 1895 full state suffrage was granted in South Australia to women, both married and single. In 1895 full suffrage was granted in Utah and Idaho."

"In 1898 the women of Ireland were given the right to vote for all offices except members of parliament. Minnesota gave women the right to vote for library trustees. Delaware gave school suffrage to taxpaying women. France gave women engaged in commerce the right to vote for judges of the tribunal of commerce, and Louisiana gave taxpaying women the right to vote upon all questions submitted to the taxpayers. In 1900 Wisconsin gave women school suffrage, and Western Australia granted full state suffrage."

"In 1901 New York gave taxpaying women in towns and villages the right to vote on questions of local taxation. Norway gave municipal suffrage, and the Kansas legislature vetoed a proposal to repeal municipal suffrage. In 1902 full national suffrage was granted to the women of Australia and full state suffrage to the women of New South Wales. In 1903 bond suffrage was granted in Kansas, and Tasmania gave women full state suffrage. In 1905 Queensland did the same."

"In 1906 Finland gave full national suffrage to women and made them eligible to all offices. In 1907 Norway gave full parliamentary suffrage to the 200,000 women who already had municipal suffrage. Sweden made women eligible to municipal office. Denmark gave women the right to vote for members of boards of public charities and to serve on such boards, and England made women eligible as mayors, aldermen and county and town councilors. The new state of Oklahoma continued school suffrage for women."

"In 1908 Michigan gave all women who pay taxes the right to vote upon questions of local taxation. Denmark gave women who are taxpayers or the wives of taxpayers a vote for all offices except members of parliament, and Victoria gave full state suffrage to all women."

The latest women's triumph is the adoption by the Norwegian cabinet of a resolution providing for the admission of women to state offices, except those having to do with the cabinet, the military, diplomatic and consular services and the church."

First Services to Be Held Soon In America's Future "Westminster Abbey"

CATHEDRAL OF ST. JOHN THE DIVINE AS IT IS (Two Views).

WE have the Hall of Fame for the perpetuation of the memories of great Americans. We have a statutory hall in the national capitol in Washington for the paying of tribute by the individual states to their honored sons—a well beloved daughter in one case, Frances E. Willard of Illinois. We have beautiful, historic Arlington and the other national cemeteries for the entombing of the remains of our soldier and sailor dead. But we have no Westminster abbey wherein to inter the bodies of those who have deserved well of the republic. This want is to be filled when the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York is completed, some decades from the present year. Easter week of this year will mark the opening of a new epoch in the history of the splendid edifice, for it will see the holding of the first services in the body of the cathedral.

A great gathering of the churchmen of New York and of other cities, a gathering notable for size and distinction, has been planned for the services. Prominent members of the clergy and eminent laymen will attend, and a congregation of 10,000 persons is expected. Two services will be held on April 19, in the morning and in the afternoon. The musical parts will be rendered to the accompaniment of the great organ, recently installed, the mightiest instrument in the United States. The cost of the organ was approximately $50,000.

The crypt of the cathedral, used for several years for the holding of services, contains already the body of an American of great distinction—that is, the late Henry Codman Potter, bishop of the diocese of New York, whose body was interred beneath the floor of the altar in the crypt on Oct. 20, 1903. It was declared at that time that the interment of the body of Bishop Potter was not to be considered a precedent for the burial in the cathedral of any of his successors. But it was asserted also that it was hoped to make of the structure a sort of American Westminster abbey, with intramural burial as an honor to be reserved for the bodies of persons of national fame, not necessarily Episcopallians.

If any one seeks a concrete illustration of the truth of the saying that "art is long and time is fleeting" he may find it in cathedral building. Nineteen years have passed since the erection of the glorious edifice crowning Cathedral heights, in New York, was begun, and but half of the structure is completed. Its builders realize that they are building for centuries, not for years, and they display no impatience. Europe's great cathedrals, most of which are surpassed in size by the New York church, were many decades in attaining their full growth. As the years and decades and centuries wore on, taking with them generation after generation of cathedral builders, so the structures came to assume the nature of living, sentient creatures, developing from infancy to glorious maturity, until they assumed and retained for all time their places in the hearts of the people. Thus it will be, it is hoped, with the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, fourth in size among the world's splendid fanes.

Only St. Peter's in Rome, the cathedral in Seville, Spain, and the duomo or cathedral of Milan, Italy, surpass St. John's in size.

The ground plan of the cathedral is cruciform. At the east end there will be when the cathedral is completed seven chapels. Two of them are already finished. The entire length of the edifice will be 520 feet. The width will be 288 feet and the height to the apex of the highest spire will be 425 feet. The incomplete cathedral is already one of the architectural monuments of New York city, and the beholder receives an impression of dignity and grandeur befitting the character of the building and its vast proportions. But when it is completed and its 400 feet of artificial construction are added to the 120 feet above sea level of its site it will dominate its section of the city, already one of the most beautiful between Yonkers and the Narrows. In close proximity to the cathedral are Columbia university, St. Luke's hospital and other important public buildings.

Writing recently of the uncompleted cathedral, C. Grant La Farge, architect of the building, said:

"It will be seen, then, that however great the progress made, much still remains to be accomplished. How long it will take to complete the entire cathedral is purely a matter of conjecture. Let us hope that for the lasting glory of our city this work [the erection of the great cathedral tower] may be the next step undertaken, so that the visitor to our shores may beyond peradventure know that we are a people capable of great things in the realm of the imagination as well as of those that are material."

Cross Continental Coaching Trip Paul A. Sorg's Ambitious Plan

RUN over your list of living Americans famous for being first in any line of human endeavor. See if the name of Paul A. Sorg is on the list. If it is not, add it, for Mr. Sorg is the champion whip of the country. What's a "whip?" you say. A "whip," friend the reader, is a man or woman who drives horses for sport, not for money. If a man drives horses for money he isn't a whip. He's a truckman or a teamster or a coachman or something like that, but he isn't a whip.

The distinction of being the champion whip of the United States—with a good right to claim in addition the championship of Great Britain—belonged until recently to Alfred G. Vanderbilt. Along came Mr. Sorg last fall and took the title away from Mr. Vanderbilt by winning the ten mile coaching race from the latter at the horse show in New York.

Mr. Sorg's latest scheme, announced some time ago, is the towing of a coach and four across the continent, from New York to San Francisco. This is really a big scheme, so big that at its very mention all other coaching records and plans go into the discard of forgotten things. There are very few horsemen of experience in this or in any other country who could think up a scheme like that. If accomplished it will be the greatest coaching feat in the long series of years which began when man first hitched up more than one horse to a wheeled vehicle. It will be the longest and most difficult coaching trip ever attempted by an amateur or professional four-in-hand driver.

According to the announced plans, the 3,000 miles run from the Atlantic to the Pacific is to be carried out on an unprecedented scale. The equipment is to consist of two coaches, seventy-five horses, forty men and two special railroad cars for the carrying of necessary harness and other paraphernalia.

The "water level route" from New York to Chicago is to be followed as closely as possible. The teams used each day are to be shipped ahead by rail in the special cars to await the coming of the coach and rest in the intervening time. The stages are to be twelve miles, and at the end of each twelve mile stretch keepers are to be posted with fresh horses ready to draw the Old Sport, as Mr. Sorg's coach is called, over the road to the next relay station. Of course these arrangements may be altered if the state of the roads or other inconvenience requires change of the plan.

One of the special railroad cars will carry an extra coach to be used in case of a breakdown too serious for repair, and a blacksmith will be carried to shoe the horses and make repairs to the coach. Naturally everything that money can do to insure the success of the trip will be done.

Mr. Sorg has "all kinds of money." He is the son and heir of the late Paul J. Sorg, congressman from Ohio, who died in 1902. The elder Sorg made a great fortune in the manufacture of plug tobacco, so big a fortune that when he entered congress in 1895 as the representative of the Third Ohio district he was said to be the richest man in either branch of the national legislature. It was said that his income was more than $1,000,000 a year, derived from a fortune of over $15,000,000.

In spite of Mr. Sorg's activity in coaching matters, his victory over Alfred G. Vanderbilt and his willingness to spend his money and time on the sport of driving four horses in front of a smartly equipped and perfectly turned out coach, with all the needful accessories, he is not a member of the Coaching club, one of the smartest organizations of New York. The Coaching club was founded thirty-five years ago for the purpose of encouraging coaching. It has fifty-two members, all of them prominent lovers of horses and coaching. The president is Colonel William Jay.

It was reported recently that the death of Mr. Sorg's infant son, his only child, might interfere with his plan to coast to coast coaching trip. It was said also that he intended selling his big stable of show horses in order to devote all of his time to the preparations for the big trip. He is a resident of New York.

Proceeding along Pond street from the cars a small cemetery is found and the lower end of the site begins at this cemetery. The location is only two minutes' walk from the cars. The company not only does not propose to build any houses for its help but does not like to run workmen's trains to the plant and hence it would appear that all the riding will be done on the electric.

Met With Opposition

was not, and that one reason was that there was no direct communication with the eastern division of the Boston and Maine. The engineers then went out and looked over the land and surveyed it, after which President Mellen and Agent Barr went there a week ago Friday in a special car of the president's and ran the car along both tracks in order to thoroughly inspect the place. Meanwhile the board of trade committee got into communication with President Sullivan of the Boston and Northern and he agreed that his company would extend the 7-cent fare limit to the site of the plant, to get to the site by electric cars location so well that they gave us a week in which to get options and Herford Elliott, the well known real estate man, was designated as a committee of one to secure the options. Then rent and unexpected opposition developed. Three land owners refused options, one man jumping the price of his land from $700 to $1600, while others would not give up under any circumstances. It was at this time that the good offices of Mr. Harrigan were sought and he succeeded in removing all the obstacles in time to report back to the road within the time limit. Since then the matter has hung fire, as the other cities and towns

Committee Worked Hard

For three weeks the members of the board of trade committee have practically abandoned their private business to give their entire attention to the plans of the present site the committee of engineers took the plans of the proposed car shops which were prepared long before the sites were looked into and compared them, and they were surprised to find that the plans for the buildings "fitted into" the plans of the site as though one had been specially

JUDGE CORBETT

TO BE NAMED ASSISTANT CORPORATION COUNSEL

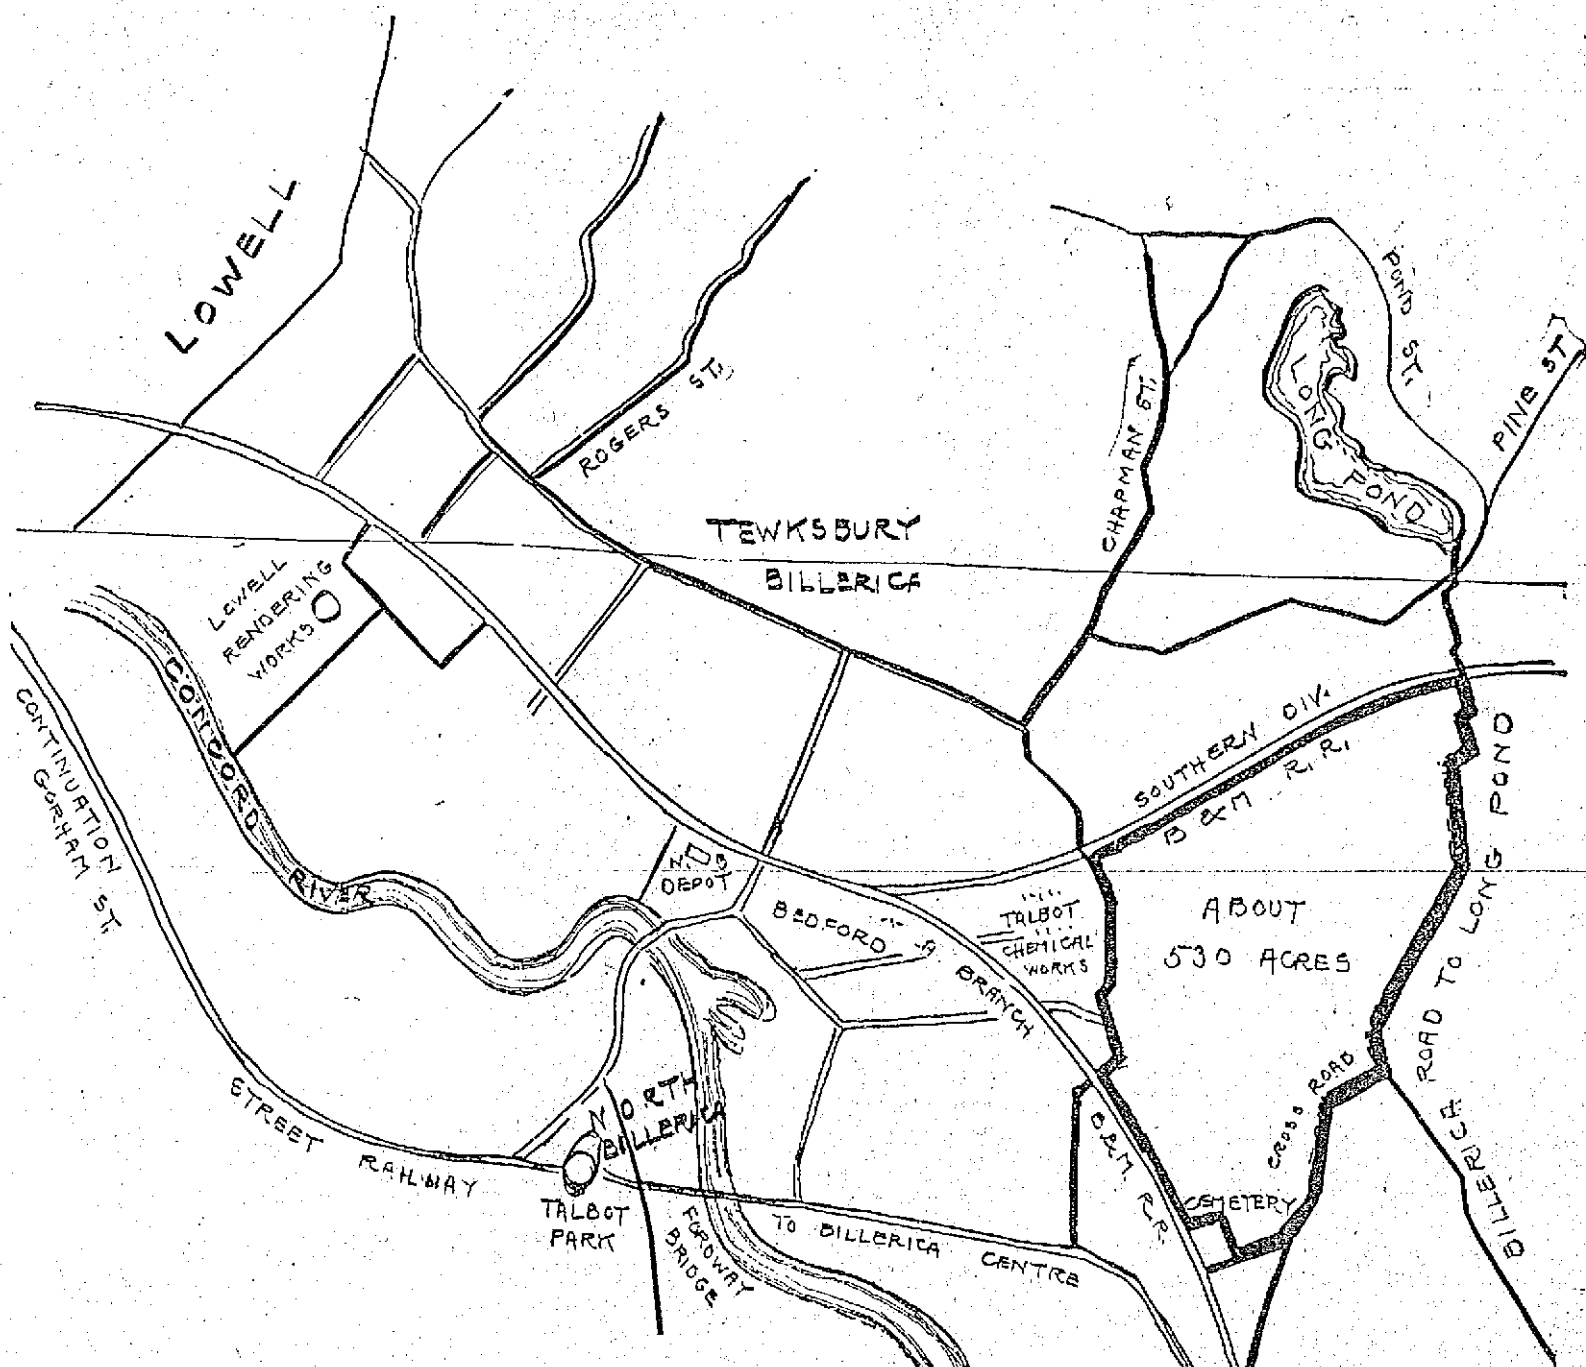

BOSTON, March 15.—The nomination of John D. McLaughlin, assistant corporation counsel of the city of Boston, to be a justice of the superior court was sent to the executive council by Governor Foss yesterday afternoon.

When Mayor Fitzgerald learned that Mr. McLaughlin had been chosen for a place on the bench he announced that Judge Joseph J. Corbett of Charlestown would be appointed to the vacancy as assistant corporation counsel at an annual salary of $6000. Judge Corbett will take office after Mr. McLaughlin's nomination is confirmed by the governor's council. Gov. Foss, in discussing Mr. McLaughlin's appointment to the place made vacant by the resignation of Judge Robert O. Harris, said he believed it fulfilled the best traditions of the judiciary.

"In arriving at a conclusion," said the governor, "I was influenced by advice of members of the bar, among them one whose opinions I value very highly, and who had himself been a candidate for the position, but who withdrew because he felt that his own appointment might have been miscon-

Frank Thompson Had Narrow Escape From Being Killed

He Was Caught in Shafting at Merwin-Hughes Co.'s Plant in Warrenville—His Condition is Considered Critical

Frank Thompson, a young man in the employ of the Merwin-Hughes Co., at Warrenville, had a narrow escape from being killed this afternoon as a result of being caught in the shafting of the plant. He was hurried to the ambulance to St. John's hospital where he received treatment.

He was employed as an apprentice in the printing establishment and shortly after 2 o'clock while attempting to replace a belt which had come off one of the overhead pulleys, part of his clothing caught in the shafting and he was carried up to the ceiling.

His head struck against the ceiling and when his clothing parted he fell to the floor.

A number of men working in the same room rushed to his assistance and did everything possible to comfort him and in the meantime the ambulance was called.

Upon investigation at the hospital it was found that the young man was suffering from a fracture of the skull and that his condition is critical. He resides at 19 Cadiz street.

Mexican Leaders Are Planning to Make Reforms

NEW YORK, March 15.—The sudden departure from New York of Senor Josevels Limantour, the Mexican minister of finance, after a week of conferences and negotiations, the precise nature of which has not hitherto been clear, is now explained by the understanding that he has succeeded in effecting a tentative plan by which substantial reforms are expected to be immediately put in force by the Mexican government and the leading insurance companies being satisfied, are to aid in restoring peace.

RETURN TO WORK

Strike in Cumberland is Ended

CUMBERLAND, R. I., March 15.—After a conference with Supt. Meyers, the weavers who went out on strike at the Penitence silk mill at Valley Falls yesterday, returned to work this forenoon. The strike was due to a misunderstanding over the pay which the weavers were to receive for working on a coarser grade of goods, which the mill had introduced because of the dullness in its regular business. The Penitence mill employs about 350 operatives and is owned by David, Reeling & Schoen, who also operate mills in Scranton, Pa. and Hoboken, N. J.

$40,000 MISSING

The Safe on a Battleship Was Drilled

MARLBORO, March 15.—That the kindness of Paymaster John Wise Morse, U. S. N., in recommending his yeoman for the position of pay clerk in charge of funds of the United States navy has been repaid with devotion from the service and the theft of more than $40,000, which he, Paymaster Morse, has to bear, was revealed yesterday when Walter Morse, ex-mayor of this city, and Walter Frye, a brother-in-law of the naval officer, returned from Washington after a visit devoted to an attempt to place the liability upon the government rather than upon the unfortunate paymaster.

Facts Kept Secret

Though naval officers have known for more than a month that a part of the million dollars that was shipped from the United States treasury at Boston via the U. S. S. Celtic, to pay off the men on the vessels that had returned from abroad and rendezvoused at Guantanamo, had disappeared, few of them yesterday had learned of the inside facts regarding its disappearance.

Ex-Mayor Morse, surprised that even the fact of the theft was known, yesterday told a reporter some of the facts surrounding one of the most mysterious, as well as the most heart-breaking swindles that has involved an officer of the United States navy for many years.

Paymaster Morse, losing his old time pay clerk (who bears the rank of a warrant officer and was consequently envied by enlisted men), determined not more than a year ago upon recommending his pay yeoman, a man named Lee, who hailed from Kentucky, for the vacant position.

By congressional appointment Lee was given the position, and it was not until his disappearance that Paymaster

Morse had the slightest suspicion against him.

More than a month ago the shipment of currency was made from the Boston sub-treasury. Not long after the receipt of the coin, Pay Clerk Lee was granted leave of a few days, and failing to show up at the end of the leave, was advertised as a deserter.

Simultaneously it was discovered a sum estimated at not less than $40,000 was missing from the safe of the Georgia, the flagship of the fourth division of the Atlantic squadron, and in consequence the police authorities of Havana were asked particularly to apprehend Lee.

Though the matter was published in the service papers of the navy, not one out of a hundred officers knew or knows now that the theft, instead of being committed through the medium of false bookkeeping, was accomplished by drilling the safe of the battleship.

Since the occurrence every attempt has been made to keep the matter absolutely quiet. Even so reliable a publication (regarding official affairs) as the Army and Navy Register, in its latest issue, published the announcement of the capture of Lee, which yesterday was declared by Mr. Morse, following his Washington trip, to be absolutely false.

Marbore people have been particularly interested in the case, and rumors of every sort have been current on account of the local popularity of the paymaster and the prominence of his family.

One rumor in particular has been insistent—to the effect that this is the second time Paymaster Morse has suffered from misplaced judgment. Residents place the first loss at about five years ago, when he is said to have reposed undue confidence in a subordinate with disastrous results.

EXPLORER SLAIN

He Was Killed by the Arabs

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Representations have been made by the American government to Turkey regarding the murder of H. F. DeCou, a well known American archaeologist, by Arabs at Cyrene, Africa, on March 11, and the American embassy at Constantinople has cabled that soldiers have been dispatched to arrest the known perpetrators.

Mr. DeCou, who was formerly instructor in Greek archaeology in the University of Michigan, was a member of an American scientific expedition, working under the direction of Richard Norton in excavations at Cyrene, which is in the Turkish province of Dayghazi, northern Africa.

The expedition is under the auspices of the Archaeological Institute of America and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The crime was first reported to the department by Mr. Norton, and the American embassy was directed to investigate immediately.

IN A SHOE SHINE STORE IN SALEM STREET

An alarm from box 9 at 2.05 o'clock this afternoon summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in a shoe shine store in the Wheeler block in Salem street, near the corner of Common street. The fire started in a pile of rubbish but was extinguished before much damage was done.

FUNERALS

TARRANT.—The funeral of Mrs. Rosa A. Tarrant took place this morning from her late home, 27 State street at 8.30 o'clock and proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where a solemn high mass was sung with Rev. James McDermott, O. M. I., celebrant; Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., deacon and Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., sub-deacon. The sacred choir sang the Gregorian mass and at the offertory "O Salutaris" was sung and at the conclusion of the mass the choir sang "De Profundis." Mr. John Kelly presided at the organ. The bearers were Messrs. James J. Quinn, Thomas L. Curley, Michael Vaughn, Peter Curley, George Campbell and John Curley. The burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., read the committal prayers. The grave was covered with a number of beautiful floral pieces, among which were the following: A large pillow with the words "Wife and Mother," from the husband and children; large open book "The Book of Hours," from Mrs. J. J. Quinn; a large spray tied with ribbon inscribed "At Rest," from Mrs. Julia Cahill and family; basket of roses, pink and ferns from Mrs. M. J. Connelley and Mr. and Mrs. St. Lawrence; a large anchor on base of roses and pink, inscribed "At Rest," from Mr. P. J. ## SEDITION CHARGED

AMERICANS WILL BE TRIED IN CIVIL COURTS

EL PASO, Tex., March 16.—Assurance of the safety of all Americans now confined in Mexican prisons, was given in an official statement issued at Juarez last night.

Americans now prisoners will have trials in civil courts on charges of sedition against the Mexican government, but hereafter all insurgents, whether citizens of the United States or not, may be subject to the death penalty under summary military procedure.

The statement from the Mexican officers was issued relative to the seventeen foreigners now imprisoned in the federal jail at Casas Grandes. Fifteen of them are Americans and two are Europeans. Pending their trials, they will have the consideration due to prisoners of war.

Col. Cuellar, in command at Casas Grandes is suffering from wounds. As soon as he is able to move, the prisoners will be marched 170 miles to Chihuahua to face the civil courts. The men are confined in cells at the adobe prison under guard of Mexican soldiers. Their rations consist of such as can be spared from the military stores. Casas Grandes, 150 miles from El Paso, has had no food supplies since March 6, when the battle, in which the insurgents were defeated, was fought.

Col. Manuel Tamborel, military commander at Juarez said:

"The Americans have not been shot and will not be. Col. Cuellar has so reported to us and to Mexico City. It is the intention to give the men a fair trial. This does not mean that the same consideration will be given to zone are that the insurgents are concentrating at various points. Francisco I. Madero, revolutionary leader, with 1000 insurgents, a one-pound cannon, a three-inch field piece and two rapid fire guns, is somewhere north of Casas Grandes. He is drawing toward him General Orozco with 800 men.

The general movement of the insurgents is northward, presumably toward Juarez.

GENERAL REYES

GIVES HIS VIEW OF SITUATION IN MEXICO

ROME, March 16.—Gen. Bernardo Reyes, the Mexican ex-secretary of war, who came here from Paris where he recently completed the first part of his military mission as the representative of President Diaz gave his view yesterday of the situation in Mexico. He predicted that the revolution would soon be over and he expressed great satisfaction at the action of the United States in concentrating troops along the frontier. He was convinced of the good will of the American government toward Mexico and he characterized the reports of an alliance between this country and Japan against the United States as absurd.

Gen. Reyes has been in Europe for more than a year and he has already said that he had no idea of returning home for the present, giving as his reason that his return might be interpreted as a desire to profit politically by the disturbed conditions in Mexico. "The internal situation in Mexico," said Gen. Reyes, "by reason of the so-called revolution has not the gravity attributed to it. I am sure that the rebellion cannot last more than two months, as President Diaz possesses the influence and the force to crush the revolutionists and bring about peace.

Col. Tamborel at first said he had been advised that 40 foreigners were captured but later he said the report was incorrect. He said he had not received the names of the Americans.

It is said that citizens of the United States now fighting in the insurgent ranks number 600. The largest force is with Captain Oscar C. Creighton, who has been active in blowing up bridges on the railroad. Government officers received orders yesterday to stop the crossing of Americans from El Paso into Mexico.

olutionists consisted in the dependence they were able to put on their followers, who found it easy to pass from Mexico to American territory and back again into Mexico. Now the American troops will guard the frontier, and the guarantee of American neutrality, according to the treaties between the two countries, will be effectively carried out. The revolutionists cannot now receive further help. In addition, the troops of the Mexican government have occupied the principal strategic positions and the number of rebels will diminish daily.

of Mexico and Japan as opposed to the United States is simply absurd. It has doubtless resulted from the fact that there is an old agreement whereby in 1908 Japanese emigrants were allowed to land in Mexico for agricultural work.

In conclusion, General Reyes said: "Should Diaz die, which I hope is distant, the constitution of Mexico, like that of the United States, provides for the succession of the vice-president."

SEC'Y GARFIELD

DISCUSSES LEGAL BASIS OF BALLINGER CASE

WILLIAMSTOWN, March 15.—Without once mentioning the name of Richard Ballinger, former secretary of the interior, or giving any indication of his own personal feeling in the matter, James R. Garfield of Cleveland, O., secretary of the interior under President Roosevelt, discussed "The Legal Basis of the Ballinger Case and the New Progressive Movement" before the members of the Williams College Good Government Association last night. He did, however, take a firm stand in regard to the seating of Senator Lorimer declaring that "every one who has studied the question in all its details knows that Lorimer ought not to be in the senate."

"A conservationist," Mr. Garfield said, "is not a dog in a manger as has been intimated but his object is simply to use lands and other resources without waste and to conserve them for future generations. All governmental problems have their root in industrial and economic problems. As a result of the new situation now political problems have arisen which make the present system appear defective."

MANY INJURED

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP BARRACKS AT JUAREZ

EL PASO, Tex., March 16.—An attempt was made last night to blow up the barracks at Juarez, Mex. Two heavy charges of nitro-glycerine were exploded, tearing out parts of the buildings occupied by the Mexican troops. Two of a small band of insurgents who secretly entered the town were wounded and captured. A number of Mexican cavalrymen are reported to have been injured.

The shock of the explosion was felt throughout Juarez and immediately a cry was raised that the insurgents had surrounded the place in great numbers and were attacking. Merchants left their stores and crowds prepared to flee to the American side. Extra guards were placed about the quarters of Col. Tamborel and Gen. Navarro. The attacked barracks are occupied by the 14th Mexican cavalry and are in the heart of the town. There has been a general feeling that the insurgents were trying to surround the city.

A small band of insurgents is supposed to have crept into the town along the railroad tracks last night. After placing the explosive they attempted to get away. Soldiers on the lookout on top of the barracks, opened fire, bringing down two of the insurgents. The rest escaped into the country.

All the Mexican soldiers in town were called on duty. A guard was placed around the barracks and no official confirmation as to the extent of the damage was given out. It could be seen from adjacent streets, however, that a number of the barrack buildings were wrecked.

The wounded insurgents were carried away by soldiers. A report that several Mexican soldiers were injured, resulted from the general confusion. Mexican officers denied that anyone had been killed. They would say nothing further.

The town soon quieted down and the people, who had prepared to cross the bridge, returned. It had been known for several days that insurgents were a few miles south of Juarez, but not in great numbers.

Juarez has the aspect of a city preparing for war. Sand bags are piled up at the edges of the flat roofs of the houses to act as breastworks. People have been forbidden to venture far beyond the environs. The rifle loopholes in the walls of the old mission in the heart of the town are kept open.

Plans to Make Great Changes in This City

Only One Freight House Will be Maintained—Force of Employees
Will be Reduced—Company
Plans to Make a Great Saving

Extensive changes are to be made as a result of the Boston & Maine and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad merger. The control of the Boston & Maine by the New Haven is being felt along the whole system.

This is to be seen chiefly in the places where the tracks of the two roads cross each other or meet and where there have previously been two distinct sets of station buildings, freight houses and road employees. Arrangements are now being made to have but one station, one freight house and one set of employees in place of the two in each of these locations.

Altogether there are 12 of these places where the lines of the two roads meet. They are Fitchburg, Worcester, Springfield, Northampton, Shelburne Falls, Lowell, Concord Junction, South Sudbury, West Berlin, Holyoke, Sterling Junction and Clinton.

It is estimated that an annual saving of several hundred thousand dollars can be made after these changes have been effected and the new system is in operation.

While there may be a reduction in the number of trains to and from some of these points it is said that the number of trains to other points will be increased. This will all depend upon the result of the investigation now being made to ascertain the amount of passenger and freight business going to and coming from each section.

As a rule it is said that the best stations are those of the New Haven road, but the Boston & Maine also has some fine stations in some of the places where the two roads meet each other.

In each case the better station will be utilized and the poorer one will be abandoned.

Fitchburg is where the first change will be made, it is said. Plans have already been practically adopted which will place the two roads in that city under one head. There will be one large freight house and one yard crew to handle the freight business. One of the two station agents at Fitchburg now will be shifted to some other place, or a new position in that city will be found for him.

The plans, now in the hands of the engineers of both roads, provide for the building of a large freight house on the property of the New Haven road at Fitchburg. It will be built along the line of Main street and will extend from the office of the road to the Syndicate block. The building will be of brick, two stories high. In the upper story will be offices for the clerical forces. The present old freight house of the New Haven company will be torn down to make room for the new building. The Union station will be removed to a more convenient location.

It is planned to have the trains of the New Haven road, which now stop south of the station, come in on new tracks, and to put in a subway from the station to the tracks for the passengers' safety. It is estimated that the total cost of the proposed changes will be $500,000.

It was announced yesterday that new construction work on the Shawmut branch of the New Haven road is so nearly done that on March 26 one of the two elevated tracks from Harrison square will go into commission.

Two tracks are being elevated and one of them is now practically completed. About 73 per cent of the improvement work on the main line of the Plymouth division is also done, it is announced.

GAVE HIMSELF UP MUNROE CONVICTED

Richardson Said He Was Concerned in Attempted Robbery
He Was Sentenced to Federal Prison at Atlanta

Boston Police Surprised When Man Entered the Station and Surrendered—His Alleged Partner Was Captured After an Exciting Chase

BOSTON, March 15.—The police officers attached to the East Dedham street station in the South End received a surprise almost amounting to a shock today when a man entered the station and announced to the officer at the desk that his name was James Richardson and that he had come to give himself up for his part in the attempted robbery of Levi Blumberg's jewelry store on lower Washington street last night. Richardson was locked up before he could change his mind and retract his admissions.

Richardson's alleged partner in the affair at the jewelry store was arrested last night after an exciting chase. The said that his name was Henry Edward Fitzgerald, that he was a native of Australia and a deserter from the United States navy. Having escaped from the naval prison at Charlestown, where he was serving a sentence for desertion. He said that he met Richardson in New York. He also is alleged to have told the police that he and Richardson had been watching the Blumberg store for several days, awaiting an opportunity favorable for robbing it. The two men are alleged to have entered Blumberg's store just at closing time last night when they asked to see some jewelry. When the proprietor, suspicious of their appearance, told them to come around in the morning, the two men are alleged to have shot at him with revolvers. One of the bullets grazed Blumberg's hip but did not injure him.

When the two men were brought before Judge Wentworth in the municipal court later in the day Fitzgerald changed his name to Nixon and said that he was the son of a former Boston policeman.

Richardson was held in $10,000 on a charge of assault with intent to kill and Fitzgerald, or Nixon, in $2,000 for assaulting a patrolman.

NEW YORK, March 15.—George H. Munroe, long prominent among promoters of the get-rich-quick variety and who is said by government officials to have obtained at least $500,000 from confiding investors in his propositions during the past few years, was convicted in the United States circuit court here today of using the mails in connection with fraudulent stock operations. The jury before which he had been on trial for several days last night, handed in a sealed verdict of guilty, which was announced when court opened.

Judge Hough sentenced Munroe to serve three years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

Chief of the charges on which Munroe was tried was that he promoted through the mails extensive sales of wireless telegraph stock, the greater part of which was never delivered.

and which was given the case last night, handed in a sealed verdict of guilty, which was announced when court opened.

VITERBO, Italy, March 15.—The church of San Francisco. When court opened the clerk resumed the reading of the long indictment of the 35 prisoners and this took up the whole forenoon.

When the clerk read the passage referring to Ciro Vitozzi, the aged prisoner was visibly affected and at every available square foot in the old

During the description of the murder of Gennaro Cuocolo and his wife, Maria, "the beautiful Sorrentina," Mariano De Gennaro, who is charged with having been one of the actual assassins, rose from his place in the steel pen greatly agitated. The reading clerk paused a moment and the prisoner, placing his hand over his heart and addressing his wife, who was among the spectators said: "I swear to you I am innocent." With the words he burst into tears.

On another occasion De Angelis and Amodeo protested their innocence and demanded redress for having been falsely involved by Vitozzi in aid of Erricone, the alleged brains of the camorra.

When Erricone was first arrested Vitozzi, who is his god-father, told the authorities that he knew Erricone to be innocent for the reason that another one, Ascritore, had admitted to him that he had committed the double crime. Ascritore was found to be a member of the camorra and when pressed he denounced as the authors of the murders De Angelis and Amodeo, both criminals and then fugitives from justice.

After a long search they were arrested. De Angelis seemed more upset by the accusation than Amodeo did, as the former already had been condemned for crimes of blood and it so happened that at the time of the murder of the Cuocolos, blood stained garments were found at his home. These three men were able to prove that Vitozzi had sworn falsely and their innocence of the Cuocolo crime, but were held as members of the camorra.

In court they protested against having been detained at all, since their apprehension was due to assertions by a fellow prisoner now known to have been false.

Erricone, whose proper name is Enrico Alfano, does not take kindly to newspaper artists. One of the latter snapped his picture today as the prisoner was being brought into court. When the bandit chief learned that the photograph was for a paper hostile to the camorra he spat in the face of the photographer and in a rage swore that he would kick the man into the next world.

Erricone's shackles prevented the execution of this threat.

MANSLAUGHTER

Plea of Woman Was Accepted

PLYMOUTH, March 15.—Mrs. Sarah S. Elms, who has been confined in the Plymouth jail for eight months, awaiting a disposition of her case, was brought into the courtroom late yesterday afternoon, and pleading guilty to the charge of manslaughter, was sentenced to a term in Sherborn.

Mrs. Elms was charged with the murder of a new-born child of her daughter, who was at that time a student at the Bridgewater Normal school. As Mrs. Elms was led into the courtroom, weak from a recent critical illness of pneumonia, the spectators were ordered from the room, while Attorneys Stetson and MacMaster of Brockton argued for clemency in the case.

As she rose to hear the sentence of the court she sank back into her chair, and after a brief rest, Mrs. Elms was taken back to the house of correction and will not be at once taken to Sherborn as her condition from her severe illness will not permit it.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. G. F. Doty, 81 Bellevue street, April 5th.

HUMAN SKELETON

SPRINGFIELD, March 15.—A mystery of long standing is what the country people living in the vicinity of Hazardville and the Shaker settlement, ten miles south of Springfield, term a startling discovery made by workmen at the home of Alva S. Brainerd, Brainerd lived in a road which leads from Hazardville to the settlement just over the Connecticut border. Recently he decided to install a new heating system in the old colonial mansion and when workmen found a keg in the old fashioned chimney they had visions of the fumes of the grape of a rare old vintage. When the keg was tapped, instead of wine, a hundred years old or more, a human skeleton was exposed. The remains were those of a child. The chimney is a large stone shaft containing several flues, each flue being used for a different stove. One of the flues in this chimney had never been used and the bricks in the collar were evidently in the same condition as when they were placed there many years ago. A hole was forced into this due in preparation for the new heating system, and Sherman, one of Mr. Brainerd's sons, discovered a keg resting on the bottom of the flue in the opposite corner from the outlet. The hole was made large enough to allow the removal of the keg. The workmen were surprised on opening the keg to find another keg inclosed which also was well headed up. But the real surprise was yet coming. When the second keg was opened a third reopentacle, of iron, was found, which contained a human skeleton, evidently that of a child which must have been dismembered or partly cremated. Nothing was left but the bones and a few ashes in the bottom, showing that it must have lain there many years. The Brainerd family is at a loss to explain the mystery. The house was occupied in the eighteenth century and up to 1832 by a family which served in the war of the Revolution. After 1832 another family occupied the place. The general opinion in the neighborhood is that the body was placed in the chimney when it was built, to conceal the remains of some of the Brainerd family, recalls that about 1830 a mason was employed to alter the chimney, which was practically rebuilt at that time. He never heard of the mysterious keg.

ELECTRIFICATION OF OUR FACTORIES

The time is at hand when practically all of our industries will be run by electricity. The water power from the canals with the steam from the boilers in many of the factories is used to generate electricity to be applied in running the machinery. This change has been going on for a considerable time and the old method of running the machinery will soon be abandoned. In this way the water power of the river now going to waste may be utilized in the future and even transmitted to a distance to drive machinery.

DR. BRUNELLE'S SUGGESTION

Dr. Brunelle of the Board of Health has made a good suggestion in his motion for a sub-station for antitoxin that would be open all hours of the day and night. Something of this kind is necessary because the efficacy of antitoxin in checking diphtheria depends largely upon its being used at an early stage of the disease. In many cases where a cure might be effected by the use of antitoxin, a delay of five or ten hours may let the disease get such a headway that death will result. A station such as Dr. Brunelle suggests could be easily maintained at the police station, and it would undoubtedly be instrumental in saving lives by enabling all physicians to get a supply whenever they find it necessary in their practice.

THE SULLOWAY PENSION BILL NOT DEAD

Representative Sulloway of New Hampshire will reintroduce his pension bill on the opening of the extra session of congress. It will be remembered that this bill was defeated by the senate after having been passed by the house by a good majority. This measure was endorsed by the legislatures of twenty-three states that have considerably more than half the electoral votes and more than half the population of the entire country. The veterans of the Civil war and the Mexican war are greatly disappointed over the defeat of the bill and will renew their efforts to secure its passage when congress convenes for the extra session.

The republican senators are criticised for their action, and it is claimed that if the $45,000,000 called for by the bill were to be appropriated for any purpose that would benefit the controlling "interests" the senators would readily favor the measure. Senator Lodge is severely criticised for the part he took in defeating the bill. Should the bill fail of passage in the next congress the veterans throughout the country will exert all their influence for the defeat of the republican party in 1912.

The states that indorsed the pension bill by legislative vote are as follows: Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, No. Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, So. Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin, Montana, Idaho and Wyoming. The population of these states is 53,760,143, and the number of their electoral votes 274.

It is safe to say that before the new congress opens there will be indorsements from several other states as the veterans have taken up the matter with renewed determination to push it through the next congress.

STRONG ARGUMENTS AGAINST FORTIFYING THE CANAL

The first impulse with most Americans was to favor the fortification of the Panama canal. The canal is an American enterprise, but when considered in reference to other inter-oceanic waterways and the international laws and usages governing such, there is much to be said against the fortification-idea. To neutralize the canal in case of war would protect it far better than all the fortifications we could erect. The Suez canal was built by English money but is immune from attack in case of war. England has never expended any money for protecting the canal nor is it necessary as the nations are bound by treaty to hold the canal in strict neutrality in case of war.

The straits of Magellan are also neutralized by treaty and the inter-parliamentary union in 1910 declared in favor of neutralizing all inter-oceanic waterways.

There is a very strong agitation growing up against the proposition to fortify the canal, and when the cost and general effect of such fortification are considered, it is likely that the arguments against fortification will ultimately prevail.

Military men point out that to have to defend the canal in time of war would require the detachment of a very large force of men and ships, and that this as well as the initial expense, which would be very heavy, might be avoided by having the canal neutralized by treaty between Europe and the United States. If fortified the canal would be open to attack in time of war and would be liable to be invaded by the enemy as Port Arthur after a tremendously expensive defense fell into the hands of Japan.

Recently a statement signed by men and women prominent in this country and abroad, has been issued setting forth a number of very strong reasons why the canal should not be fortified, showing quite conclusively that the canal will be better protected by treaty than by fortifications, and that this country by fortifying it would be assuming a heavy and expensive responsibility that could be avoided while the men and money necessary for the purpose might be used in fortifying the Pacific coast against possible attacks from the west.

The men who have signed the statement referred to include some of the most prominent and influential in the country, such, for example, as Richard Olney, David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford university, John Graham-Brooks, lecturer on economics, and many others.

The fortification of the canal would moreover be opposed to the movement for universal peace that has been making progress through the influence of The Hague tribunal. Although President Taft and many other prominent Americans favor the fortification of the canal, if it be shown that this policy would savor of advanced militarism and opposition to the peace movement, it will undoubtedly have to be abandoned.

SEEN AND HEARD

A girl with red hair had her shoes shined in a local "shoe shine" parlor and as she was about to step down from the chair on the shiny beach her hat, a wonderful creation, came in contact with the gas light and the hat caught fire. If the wielders of the brush and paste noticed what had happened they didn't say anything about it and the girl went into the street with her hat on fire. Fortunately for her the fire was small and the hat burned slowly. As she came out of the "shiny" two women observed that her hat was on fire. They couldn't speak English and being unable to have the girl understand what the trouble was they proceeded to lambaste her over the head with their umbrellas. The girl screamed and two men went to the rescue. They tore the burning hat from her head and upon seeing the complexion of her hair one of them pointed to the fiery locks and said: "There's the cause of the fire." The girl paid no attention to the remark but tearfully bewailed the destruction of her "lovely" hat.

A fashionably dressed young woman entered the postoffice in Holyoke, hesitated a moment and stepped up to the stamp window. The stamp clerk looked up expectantly, and she asked: "Do you sell stamps here?" The clerk politely answered: "Yes." "I would like to see some, please," was the unusual request.

The clerk dazedly handed out a large sheet of the two-cent variety, which the young woman carefully examined. Pointing to one near the center, she said, "I will take this one, please."

"Doctor," said the young man with the limping pockets, "I have come to thank you for your valuable medicine."

"So it helped you, did it?" replied the doctor, smiling. "I am very glad." The young man nodded.

"And how many bottles did you take?" inquired the doctor.

"Oh, I didn't take any of it," replied the young man. "But I took one bottle, and now I am his sole heir."

Having in mind the recent acrimonious discussion in the New Hampshire house of representatives over the proposition to appropriate money for a statue in memory of Franklin Pierce, the only president that state contributed, a recent visitor from Massachusetts looked about the state house for some reminder of the fourteenth president.

In an obscure corner of the building he found a portrait of President Pierce but occupying a conspicuous location on the wall of the main hall he noticed a line of portraits of the late Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, whose memory Massachusetts has been slow to honor.

"What did Governor Butler of Massachusetts do for New Hampshire that his portrait should be here?" asked the visitor.

"Why, he was born in New Hampshire," was the answer.

He was "breaking in" as a motorman on the street railway and on this particular afternoon he was to take out his first car. He had been tutored by an old and experienced motorman and he felt that he was quite capable of piloting a car through any part of the city where the company provided the rails and necessary power.

He was on his way to the car barn and as he neared Tower's corner he met another motorman. "I'm going to take out a car this afternoon," he said.

"What time are you going out?" asked the other.

"At 5:15," replied the elated beginner.

"You can't make the stable in time for that car," said the other fellow. "It's ten minutes after five now."

The other fellow pulled out his watch and, according to his time piece, it was just 4:55 o'clock. His watch was right, but the other fellow was putting up a job on him and succeeded in convincing him that it was 5:10 by the right time.

"I must get there, some way," said the now sorely distressed beginner, and just at that moment a taxi hove in sight.

He hailed the driver, gave him a dollar and told him to make the stable in Middlesex street at top notch speed. The other fellow had telephoned to the stable and when the butt of the joke arrived the men at the stable were there with the merry ha-ha.

"Am I in time to take out my car?" he asked in breathless haste.

"What time are you supposed to go?" was asked.

"At 5:15," he replied. He was told that it was then only 5 o'clock and the laugh was renewed.

SEED TIME AND HARVEST
As over his furrowed fields which lie beneath a cold-dropping sky,
The husbandman goes forth to sow.
Thus, Freedom, on the bitter blast
The ventures of the seed we cast,
And trust to warmer sun and rain
To swell the germs and fill the grain.

Who calls the glorious service hard?
Who deems it of its own reward?
Who for its trials counts it less
A cause of praise and thankfulness?

It may not be our lot to wield
The sickle in the ripened field;
For ours to hear, on Summer eves,
The reaper's song among the sheaves.

Yet where our duty's task is wrought
In unison with God's great thought,
The near and future blend in one,
And whatsoever is, is done!

And ours the grateful service whence
Come, day by day, the recompense;
The hope, the trust, the purpose stayed,
The fountain and the noonday shade.

And were this life the utmost span,
The only end and aim of man,
Better the toil of fields like these
Than waking dream and slothful ease.

But life, though falling like our grain,
Like that that revives and springs again,
And, early called, how best are they
Who wait in heaven, their harvest-day!

—John G. Whittier.

DR. BRUNELLE

Presents Resolutions to
Board of Health

The following resolutions prepared by Dr. Brunelle and dealing with contagious diseases were adopted by the board of health:

Whereas, The postal card system which is now in vogue, whereby when a contagious disease, dangerous to the public health, is reported to this office, the inspector proceeds to the infected house and placards it and at the same time leaves in the home of the one sick with contagious disease, a postal card, the purpose of which, is to notify the board of health as to the time of disinfecting the premises,

And, whereas, this postal card, when left in a house infected with contagious disease, becomes by its presence there, a part of the household furniture, and remains so for several days, or several weeks, as the case may be,

In various ways, this postal card becomes and is infectious material. And, whereas, the fact that this postal card is taken from an infected house to be deposited into a letter box, before the premises are disinfected, is, of itself, evidence of the possibilities in the danger of spreading disease through the mails.

Be it therefore resolved that this system be abolished, and instead, when a case of contagious disease is reported to the board of health, this office will request the attending physician, if he has a telephone, to notify this office when, in his opinion, the danger has passed and the premises are ready for disinfection. Should the attending physician have no telephone, then, the inspector will leave at the physician's office a postal card that he may notify the board of health when, in his opinion, the danger has passed and the premises are ready for disinfection.

If after a certain lapse of time, this office has not been informed as to the time for disinfection of the premises, this office will communicate with the attending physician to find out whether or not the danger of the disease has passed and the premises are ready for disinfection.

And, whereas, our city hall offices are closed every day from five o'clock in the evening until nine o'clock the next morning, excepting on Sundays and holidays, when they are closed day except between the hours of eleven and twelve in the morning.

And, whereas, in cases of emergency, for the convenience of the medical profession to safeguard the public health, we are in need of a substitution for antitoxin, centrally located, opened to the public day and night.

And, whereas, such a place would be ideal and admirably fitting in one of our public buildings, as, for instance, the police station, where there are attendants on duty at all hours of the day and night.

And, whereas, the dispensing of antitoxin to the calling physician would take up but little time and require but little care on the part of the attendant.

Be it therefore resolved that our agent, Mr. Bates, confer at once with the police authorities for the purpose of establishing there, at the police station, a substitution for antitoxin during such hours as these city hall offices are closed; which antitoxin may be had by any physician—for the asking, filling out and signing the regular state board of health application blank for antitoxin together with the statement by him, whether disease in his opinion, is a positive or doubtful case of diphtheria. And, in the event of the latter, a culture of the patient's throat or other location of disease will be at once forwarded to this office whatever application or applications which have so been made by a physician or physicians will be got each day by this office when it opens in the morning. Each application will be registered and dealt with in the ordinary way under the rules and regulations of the local board of health.

The supply of anti-toxin will be such as to meet whatever exigencies which may reasonably be thought to arise and will be replenished every day or few days as the occasion may require.

Whereas, anti-toxin for diphtheria is known to have a definite therapeutic value measured in antitoxic units, such as to have won for itself the right to be regarded by the medical profession as a specific for diphtheria. And, whereas, the time of the giving of anti-toxin in a case of diphtheria has a most valuable relation to the immediate effect and ultimate outcome of the case; also, bears on important relation to the possibilities and limitations of the danger of the contagion, in that, if anti-toxin is given in time, in sufficiently large doses, it will thoroughly antagonize the action of the bacillus and indirectly destroy it.

And, whereas, with an early diagnosis and prompt administration of antitoxin, a favorable recovery may be reasonably expected. On the other hand, a delay of a few hours may mean serious complications and sometimes death; also greater danger of contagion.

THE MEN'S CLUB

FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE

An enthusiastic meeting of the Men's club of the High Street church to which women were invited was held and proved very interesting, especially for the men folk. A fainty supper was served and after the meal many interesting remarks on "Equal Suffrage" were heard and warmly applauded.

Dr. W. B. Jackson was toastmaster, and he introduced as the first speaker, Mrs. Teresa A. Crowley of Brookline, who presented strong arguments in favor of equal suffrage.

Miss Louise Hall, a member of the local Equal Suffrage league, and a student of sociological and philanthropic questions was the next speaker. She presented the question of equal suffrage from the evolutionary standpoint, and in closing the speaker suggested the organization of a men's league for woman suffrage.

Rev. A. C. Carrin and D. L. Pegg were called upon to say a word on the other side of the question, but the former was apparently too gallant to radically disagree with a lady, while the latter is a member of the local Equal Suffrage league and has believed in woman suffrage all his life.

Mrs. Jackson was then called upon and as an opponent she expressed her views in an interesting manner. Mrs. Crowley responded to the latter's remarks by advocating her case, and when the meeting came to a close, every one being satisfied with the way the evening was spent.

SEARS EXECUTED

Had to be Carried to
Chair

TRENTON, N. J., March 15.—John Sears, the half-breed who shot and killed Rev. Amos A. Armstrong, and Mrs. Armstrong at Dutch Neck last Thanksgiving evening, was executed by electricity at the New Jersey State prison last night. Sears collapsed and had to be carried to the chair by the guards.

Sears made no statement just before his execution but some days ago he wrote a history of the murder of the aged couple which he gave to Deputy John Freeman to be published after his death. Sears afterward recalled this story. In the statement he said that he was prompted to kill Dr. Armstrong by his desire to get possession of a ring which the minister wore. He said that the shooting of Mrs. Armstrong was not premeditated but followed her throwing a paper weight at him after he had shot her husband.

ON ST. PATRICK

Saint at Two Churches

Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., delivered an eloquent panegyric on the Irish saint at the regular Lenten service at the Immaculate Conception church, last evening. Rev. Fox, O. M. I., conducted the recitation of the rosary and gave benediction at the conclusion of the service.

Fr. Fox, in his opening, reviewed the early history of Ireland and the coming of Patrick to Erin which was followed by the conversion of the people of Ireland. He then dwelt upon the undying loyalty to the faith of Irish men and women and described the many sacrifices made by them through their loyalty to the church. "Some 50 or 60 years ago," said the preacher, "our fathers and grandfathers came to this country and their entrance here was greeted with some indifference. They were looked down upon generally and scoffed at. Still they went about their labors in an earnest, faithful, honest manner and as a result their neighbors learned to respect them. Today conditions are different. The daughters and sons of these same men and women are not looked down on but are considered with the same respect as others."

"We have a prestige to maintain and a dignity to uphold and let us do our part in the grand work which our fathers and mothers started for us. We must show that we are worthy of the respect that we expect. Let us go on loyally in the teaching which we have received from our parents before us, let us benefit by the teachings and work of the people of Ireland of the centuries past, let us look to the labors of St. Patrick and strive to do our true part in upholding the ideals and principles which he taught. May we have the strength to do that which is right and by our acts show that those labors of the past were not made in vain."

The singing of "Hail Glorious Apostle" by the church choir, Mrs. Hugh Walker, director, was a feature of the musical program.

At Sacred Heart

At the Lenten services in the Sacred Heart church last evening, Rev. Jas. E. McDermott, O. M. I., preached a panegyric on St. Patrick. Fr. McDermott pointed out the immense influence of St. Patrick upon the civilization of Ireland and the world. His labors were great, he with his own hands having baptized 12,000 persons during his lifetime, besides ordaining to the priesthood hundreds of young men. He founded many schools and monasteries, and the greatest tribute to him is the fact that the Irish people are among the most deeply religious people in the world today. Surely, such a heritage should proclaim him the patron saint of the Irish. There was special music at the service.

TO FORM KEHILLA

Bay State Jews to Organize

BOSTON, March 15.—For a number of weeks the Jewish communities, especially of Boston, have been moved to form a Kehilla or federation of congregations and organizations for the mutual welfare of the entire Jewish people of Massachusetts, and last evening at the American house there was held a conference of representatives from all sections of the state. The meeting was called by Isaac Heller. One set of representatives were the deputies of the I. O. B. A., which has more than 17,000 members.

The chairman appointed a committee of 10 who presented resolutions asking that a federation of the Jewish organizations and congregations of Massachusetts be organized and that a committee be appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws, also that committees be appointed to care for immigration, naturalization, education, religious and legislative bills and that the organization hold meetings and create a large membership for the purpose of keeping the Jews of Massachusetts active and alive to every movement for their own interest and advancement.

The resolutions were unanimously accepted. It was also voted that the organization in its propaganda keep away from partisan politics.

It was voted that a committee of 11 be appointed to confer with all similar organizations in the state to bring about amalgamation.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Should Never Be Removed With Pot-ashous, Pasty Compounds Because They Are Dangerous and Increase the Growth

The preparations above referred to are invariably in the form of creamy pastes. These are applied and rubbed by their pale grayish-green color. They are to be spread upon the skin and rubbed in. They are dry. These contain Sulphide of Barium, an insoluble chemical, which cannot be dissolved, therefore cannot be absorbed by the skin. In consequence of this, you are told to leave these pasty compounds on the skin until they dry and crack and then lift off with a knife in great masses. If they are why do they still remain on the skin? The most they can possibly do is to remove the surface hair, which in consequence of its reappearance grows thicker and thicker after each removal.

There is only one logical and scientific way to remove hair and that is by means of a liquid containing soluble ingredients which can be absorbed by the skin. The liquid known as the World over as the only real superfluous hair remover, is just such a preparation. It is easily and quickly absorbed and what is more to the point, it is absolutely non-poisonous. Therefore it will not produce eczema or blood poisoning. Remember, no matter how the skin is made to the contrary, no poisonous, pasty compound or ever will destroy a single hair root, and we can be sure.

The extravagant claims recently made by unscrupulous manufacturers of hair removers in sensational advertisements are unquestionably justly physicians in cautioning the public against the use of this class of depilatories. How many people have been criticized into using these dangerous preparations with consequent injury to themselves cannot be estimated but only give the advertiser and others who are worded of their advertisements, try to give the impression that newspapers and other reputable publications endorse their worthless preparations. Don't be deceived by them. De Miraclo is the only preparation which is so endorsed.

De Miraclo is sold at all good stores including A. G. Pollard Company. A honest dealer will offer you a substitute on which he makes more profit.

We will send you a 52-page booklet containing full information concerning this remarkable treatment, as well as testimonials of prominent physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical and newspaper. You should read this booklet before you try anything. Write to the De Miraclo Chemical Co., Dept. H, 100 Park Ave., New York, simply saying you want this booklet, and it will be mailed, sealed, at once.

Note—All readers of this paper who are afflicted with superfluous hair growths are strongly advised to write for this booklet concerning this wonderful method, which is the only one made over by eminent authorities, who have made a lifelong study of this subject.

DARING ROBBERS

Diamonds

BOSTON, March 15.—More than a dozen revolver shots were fired in a Washington street jewelry store in the South End last night when two men attempted to steal a tray of gems. One of the men was later captured after a struggle with an officer and gave the name of Harry Chase of New York, formerly living on Pearl street in Baltimore. He said the other man's name was Richardson.

The two men entered the store of Levi Blumberg at closing time and asked to see some jewelry. Blumberg was suspicious and told the men to come around in the morning. The men then opened fire on Blumberg with two revolvers, the storekeeper answering with a couple of shots. The visitors emptied their revolvers, then broke open the chambers and deliberately reloaded the chambers before leaving the store. One of their bullets grazed Blumberg's hip but he was only slightly hurt.

MERRIMACK ST. BASEMENT

HOW BASEBALL TEAMS GET INTO SHAPE FOR SEASON

By TOMMY CLARK.

ENTIRELY too much stress is placed by the average baseball fan upon the reports emanating from the training camps of the various teams in the spring. If the followers of the game could spend but a week in one of these camps and see just what goes on there their eyes would be opened, and they would realize that one-half of the "news" sent out by the ambitious correspondents is nothing more than "superheated atmosphere" and the other half is naught but the unsupported opinion of the individual writer, honest enough, perhaps, but with nothing to back it up.

Training trips are an absolute necessity, but it is a mistake to think that they are intended to prove that every youngster picked up during the previous fall and winter is a wonder. The prime purpose of the training trip is to put the players in condition for the season. These jaunts do not make stars out of raw recruits. Experience is always needed to make finished performers out of the untrained material, no matter how much natural material is possessed by the young men when they break into the fastest company in the land.

The games played between two outfits made up of members of one team are not the sort seen on big league diamonds during the championship campaigns. The men are under orders to take no chances. There is no daring base running, no sliding to the plate, no taking of desperate risks. There is little rivalry between the teams, no object in view, so far as the victory is concerned. The pitchers do not "wind up" and hurl the ball with speed enough to knock down a horse. On the other hand, for weeks they simply lob the sphere over. The main object is to keep the men busy, to give them healthful exercise, in order to limber them up, get rid of stiffness and sore muscles and reduce flesh.

In spite of all this the correspondents rave over what is being done by the teams with which they are traveling and send home columns of hot air about how the men are showing up. A certain youngster is the greatest runner that ever broke into the game; another is a greater thrower than any man ever before seen in action; all of them are 300 or 400 hitters; the pitchers are strike out fiends and never known to give bases on balls; the catchers are without exception unexcelled "peppers"; the fielders are performers who never make errors, and, taken as a whole, the teams are unbeatable.

All this stuff—for it is stuff—serves to create a wrong impression in the minds of the fans and to set up false hopes, which are dashed to the ground when the much touted recruits are released before the real clash begins. Of course this does not apply to all the new men, but it is safe to say that never in the history of baseball has a man receiving his first trial in the major league fulfilled all that was predicted for him during the training season. It would be a practical impossibility for him to do so. Sometimes the players about whom the most is written are the first to be turned loose when the weeding out process is started. Baseball players are not trained like pugilists, football players or oarsmen. In fact, if you come down to the real understanding of the word "training," as it applies to sports ball players are not trained at all. They merely practice and are coached in team work by the manager.

The ball player has no compulsory hours for sleep, has no certain diet, and no attention is paid to certain muscles, as is the case with the fighter, the oarsman or the football player. Still, in a certain way it is training, for the men are drilled in team work, and that makes up 90 per cent of the spring work.

It's like this: The ball player shows up for work. He is usually stiff from muscular inactivity through the winter, and he has to be loosened up so that his muscles will not become stiff and remain sore for any length of time. He attends to that part of his work himself. All players become very sore after their first workout, no matter how many years they have been playing. To relieve this soreness in a cold climate is impossible. That's why the teams always journey to a semitropical country.

Balmy Air Relieves Soreness.

Nothing relieves soreness in muscles like balmy atmosphere. The men can perspire without consequent colds and rheumatism. "Perspiration is the best oil in the world for taking the soreness out of muscles, and to get good results the player must be warm within and without at the same time; otherwise the perspiration would cause him to be chilled and all kinds of ailments would follow.

So far as baseball is concerned it is very unfortunate that this country is not uniform in its temperature. Coming from warm climates, the players frequently suffer from the cold air of early spring when they reach the north, and sometimes their muscles are bad all season. If they could continue to play in the climate where they train such things as "charley horses" and glass arms would be practically unknown.

The first thing a manager has to do is to find out if the new players have real ability. In this they are often mistaken, as some men show form much more quickly than others. Usually, though, a ball player's natural actions show whether he has ability or not even before he gets on to the field for regular work.

All Must Be Drilled.

These young players have to be tried out in every possible way so as to test them. So far as the old players are concerned, they need no training. The mere act of warming up and getting rid of early soreness is enough for them. One of the most painful sights in the world is a collection of ball players on the day following their first appearance in uniform. Some of them become so sore that they cannot sleep, and others are unable to walk.

No matter how able a player may be or whatever may be his past record, he must be drilled in team work, because he is likely to be working alongside a different man from the one he played with the previous season.

It takes several weeks to get them working in harmony. Any fan knows what a bungle it is when both the shortstop and second baseman fail to cover second. They also know how crude it looks to see any player leave a bag uncovered. The player has got to be continuously drilled to prevent just that kind of thing. No man can read another's mind, and it is therefore necessary to have some kind of understanding, and the entire team must know the system thoroughly. This is done by a regular series of signals.

No Dieting Necessary.

As to diet and sleeping hours the old player is allowed to use his own judgment. The men eat anything they want, and they usually want enough to give a dyspeptic heart disease. The main goal of a ball player in training is the dining room. Remarkable as it may seem, the very things that other athletes are denied—pastry and desserts—form the principal part of a ball player's diet. They are all very fond of sweets. It is not uncommon to see a strapping athlete sit down at a table and order four kinds of pie in addition to ice cream and cake. They are also fond of salads, like lobster and chicken, and they are allowed to eat all they want.

In other words, the ball player is on his own responsibility. If his playing is affected he is the one that has to suffer. If he drinks to excess he knows that his pocket will be the sufferer; consequently he does not drink.

KIDNEY PUNCH IS O. K., SAYS JACK JOHNSON.

"I say a boxer is justified in using the kidney punch or any other blow as long as he doesn't hit below the belt," says Jack Johnson.

"I have seen active service in the ring for fifteen years, and in my experience I have never noticed a good reason for a boxer not taking advantage of an opening which might lead to victory through the use of this kidney punch.

"If the kidney punch is prohibited in the future there will be less fighting. When a man becomes groggy or in distress he will go into a clinch to save himself. He knows that while hanging on a clever man is able to get in some effective work with the kidney punch, so if it is stopped it will give a poor boxer the advantage and work a disadvantage on the clever man. Why should this punch be stopped? A boxer has never been knocked out through its use, and a ring fatality has never been chalked up against it. I think it is a great part of the game and that every boxer should be taught its use, that it may last as long as the game itself."

reach there. He is over six feet tall and has a total displacement of 335 pounds. A bat which he calls "Old Sal" is his constant companion, and he will not allow anybody else to touch it. While he hasn't much chance of getting a permanent job with the Giants, McGraw says that he is certainly a natural hard hitter, and the manager has to admire him for his gameness. Before the game at Dallas recently he made a break to get on the good side of Secretary Gray the moment Bill showed up. Forsythe's method of getting next to the money man was to slip two apples off the table and quietly sneak them into Gray's room. By two skillful maneuvers like that he succeeded in getting an advance order for $5. Half of the money, according to Beals Becker, was spent in sending away postcards to his friends.

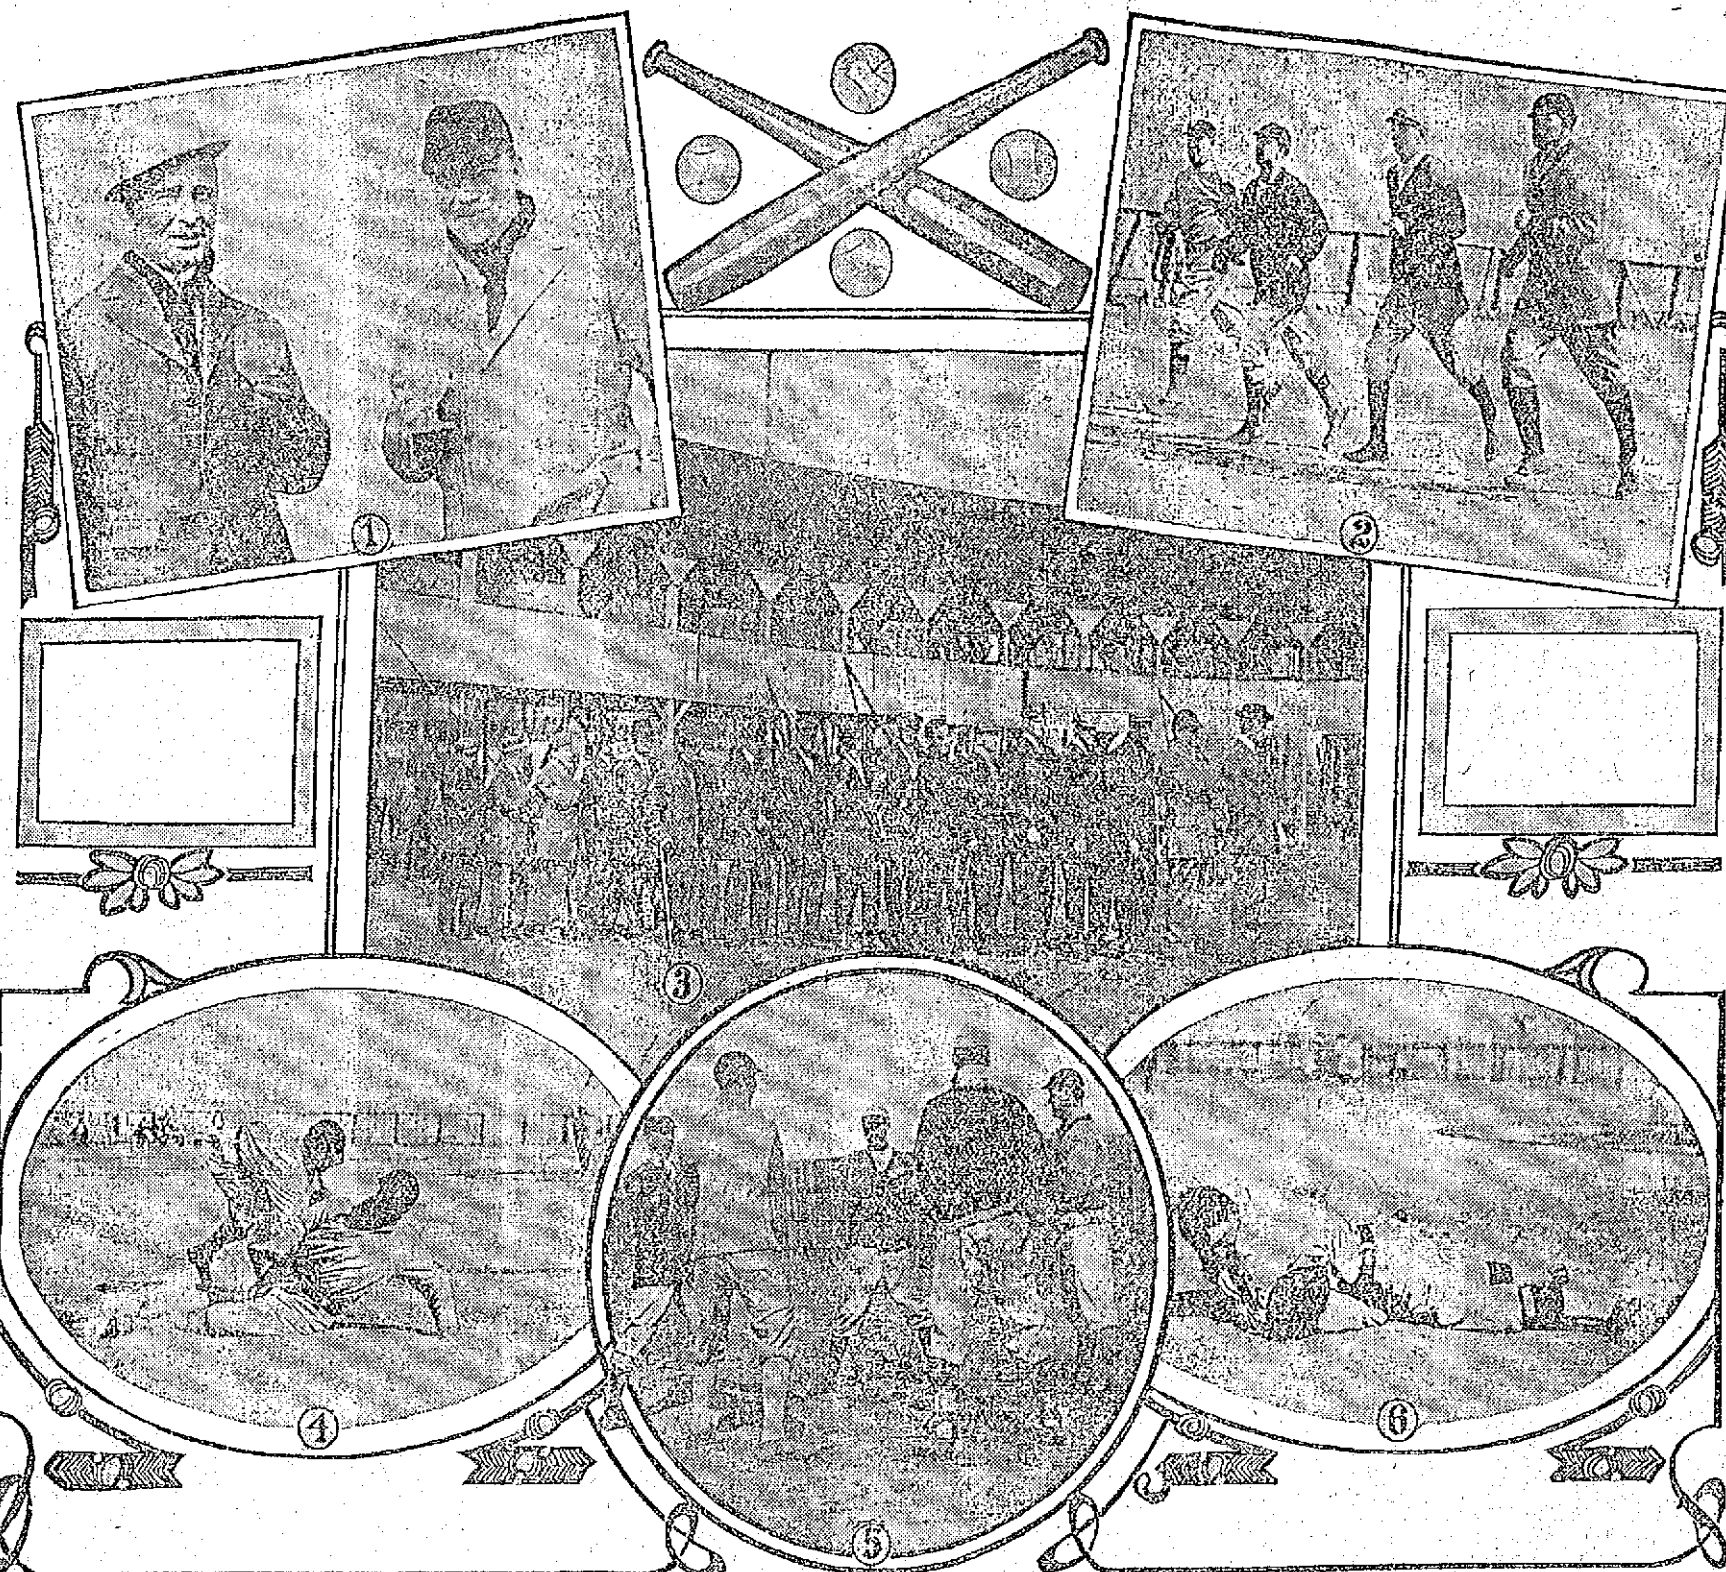

Mr. Forsythe has no idea of the ethics of baseball, such as respecting the position of manager. Notwithstanding the fact that he is a bush leaguer he looks on McGraw just the same as if he were one of the other recruits. "Where's Johnny?" he asked of the hotel clerk one night. "Johnny?" repeated the bewildered clerk.

"Yes, Johnny McGraw. I want him to see about my laundry. It's got misplaced." About that time McGraw came up, and Forsythe stated his business.

"Well, did you think I could get it?" asked McGraw a little testily.

"You know me, kid," said Forsythe as he dug the manager in the ribs. "I know who is in charge of this roundup." And the funny part of it is that McGraw helped him search for it while the other young players looked on with their mouths agape at the westerner's audacity.

The youngster is somewhat of a larriat thrower and has begged McGraw and his teammates to let him practice roping the players as they ran around the bases in morning practice.

ATHLETIC HEARTS.

"Is there such a thing as an athletic heart?" queried a New York sporting writer of a prominent physician.

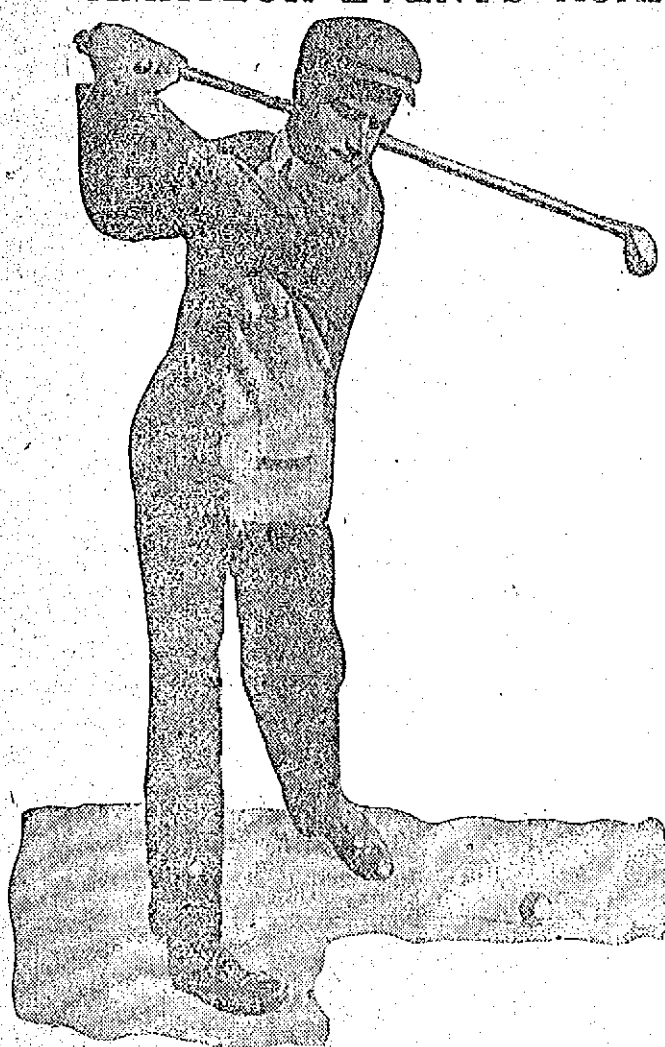

"Certainly there is," he replied. "An athletic heart is a heart that has been developed and strengthened by hard work. It is the best kind of heart, and the only thing that hurts it is the sudden stopping of all exercise and the taking on of fat as a consequence.

"Athletes should never give up training all at once. They should taper off gradually, and then their hearts will be stronger and better than the hearts of the men who have never been athletes."

PLAISTED TO HELP VALE.

Fred Plinstead, the veteran sculler, has been engaged as assistant coach for the Yale oarsmen.

TRAVERS TO COMPETE IN AMATEUR EVENTS AGAIN

For weeks there has been a persistent rumor that Jerome D. Travers, the former amateur golf champion, would become a professional. This Jerome has denied and announced recently he would compete in all the amateur tournaments to be held the coming season.

MANY GOLFERS OPPOSE STYMIE

Walter Travis and Other Experts Favor Having Element of Luck Barred.

American golfers having declared that their allegiance to the Schenectady putter is too strong to be broken, even by the ancient authority of St. Andrews, are likely to next start a campaign against the retention of the stymie. Nothing will probably be done until the new bogey rules are settled and the putter troubles have been closed, but the stymie is booked for early attention. According to St. Andrews, its playing is imperative. The fundamental rule of the sport was doubtless responsible for the original obligation of negotiating the stymie, and it may have been retained partly through the laziness of golfers who did not care to lift, although such an explanation savors of facetiousness.

Of course the majority of stymies are merely luck, which ought to be barred from the ranks of real sportsmen. Unfortunately it must be admitted that some men are despicable enough to deliberately lay their opponents a stymie, although as the hole is three times as wide as the ball, it is ordinarily much easier to hole the putt. It is known that Walter J. Travis is heartily in favor of abolishing the stymie, and several other American stars agree with him.

Porto Rico Sending Team.

The public high schools at Ponce, Porto Rico, will send a baseball team to America the coming summer to play a series of championship games with schoolboy teams from the schools of American cities. The scheme has the enthusiastic endorsement of James E. Sullivan of the A. A. U. and other New York athletic officers. Several New York high schools have applied for the privilege of playing the visitors.

ARE MAJORITY OF SOUTH-PAWS LOONY?

"Doc" White, the Chicago White Sox's pitcher, a left hander, adds his testimony. "Experts told me that southpaws wouldn't last long and that they were crazy, and I investigated," volunteers White. "I have reached the conclusion that overexertion affects the right hander as much as the left hander.

"Runners are affected more frequently than pitchers, and the legs are farther from the heart than the arms. Long games have never tired me. I have often pitched twelve or fifteen innings without tiring.

"To tell the truth, left hand pitching seems to affect the brain quicker than the heart. All the good left handers as far back as I can remember were eccentric. Silk O'Loughlin told me once I was the only left hander he ever saw who was not a little bughouse. He told me again I was as crazy as the others."

May Change Fight Weights.

It seems a curious thing to many persons perhaps that the lightweight limit should be just 133 pounds ring-side when so many little pugilists rapidly overgrow this weight and can no longer fight at less than 135 or 138, say. It is popular for some of these persons to say, "Why not raise the limit to 135 pounds and give them all a chance?" The answer to this question should be obvious, but it is not. The choice of 133 pounds as the lightweight limit is by no means an arbitrary one. It is based on the singular fact that there are comparatively few men who will maintain this weight and be at their best.

FORSYTHE, GIANTS' RECRUIT, A QUANT CHARACTER

ONE of the quaintest characters and incidentally the most amusing baseball players that have made a stab at a big league job for many seasons is Si Forsythe, who aspires to overthrow Fred Merkle as first baseman of the New York Nationals.

An idea of his eccentricities can be youngsters, assisted by McGraw, strung him along until he believed that Hans Wagner, Lajoie and Ty Cobb all live on an oyster diet throughout the season. Forsythe admitted that he didn't like oysters and that he doesn't know where they raise them, but to show that he was game he went against the gleaned from the fact that for several days after the team began training at Marlin Springs he ate nothing but oyster stew so as to be able to hit Matty. He believed that if he could wallopp Big Six hard in the spring he could find money rolling around the streets in New York.

Forsythe is a very glib, ravenous fellow from the west, and some of the special dish three times a day and paid for it out of his own pocket. Forsythe was formerly a bad man of the west, and since the training season opened he has entertained the youngsters nightly for an hour or so telling about the number of notches on his gun. He arrived in Marlin two weeks ahead of McGraw or anybody, and he admitted that it took him four days to

Says the People of Quebec Favor Reciprocity

The Pro Mayor Says That the Measure Will Benefit Both Countries—He Says the Wonderful Strides Made by Lowell in the Last Few Years Surprise Him

Mr. Henry E. Lavigueur, pro mayor of Quebec, has returned home after a short visit to this city. He is the brother of Emile C. Lavigueur, the well known musician and teacher, and he came to Lowell to attend the funeral of his niece, Miss Blanche Lavigueur, which took place on Monday. The man who is now deeply interested in the politics of Quebec lived in this city for several years and he saves a cosy corner in his heart for Lowell which he says is one of the most progressive cities on the map.

Mr. Lavigueur is a prominent figure in the politics of his native city. He is a keen, level-headed business man with a comprehensive idea of the things that are worth while. The writer had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Lavigueur and he found him to be exceptionally well informed. He has a deep interest in the welfare of Quebec and Canada at large. Asked as to the feeling of the Quebec people on the reciprocity question, Mr. Lavigueur said: "A great majority of my people are in favor of reciprocity. It is not a new question with us and while we are more independently situated at the present time than we were when the question was first made an issue, I think that the spirit of reciprocity is as strong with my people today as it ever was."

Good For Both Countries

"I cannot see that any injuries from reciprocity could be more than short lived. Taking both countries in the large, it promises decided prosperity for both. It would identify the common interests of Canada and the United States and develop greater confidence between the two countries."

"I venture to say that the question

not the remotest possibility of its occurrence, but I do believe that two countries so closely united in many ways should have an open market.

"We have a population of about 800,000 people and you have many millions, more than 70,000,000 I believe, but that does not feed us. Our country is much larger than the United States and there is room for us all. A majority of the cleverest men in Canada, including Premier Laurier, one of the greatest statesmen in America, favor reciprocity and they would not favor it unless they were positive in their belief that it would prosper their home country."

"I will tell you of a little incident that took place on my way from Quebec to Montreal that is illustrative, in a small way, of the feeling in my country on the question of reciprocity. There were 43 men in the car in which I was riding and this all important question was the chief topic of conversation. We were meeting in Montreal and it was finally suggested that we take a straw ballot to see how we stood on the matter. The straw ballot was taken and 35 of the 43 men voted for reciprocity."

Admires Mayor Meehan

During his stay in Lowell, Mr. Lavigueur made several calls on Mayor Meehan and yesterday afternoon the mayor took him out on a tour of inspection of the fire houses and other places. The city of Quebec is looking for a new fire chief and Mr. Lavigueur is to make application for the position. He says that Quebec has a good fire department but he thinks there is room for improvement. "I enjoyed my trip about the city very much," he said, "and I am sure that Lowell is to be congratulated upon having so clever and progressive a mayor. I took me a great many things that will be of great assistance to me in the development of plans that we have under way at home. I found him to be a very courteous gentleman and I admire him very much."

"I was in Lowell four years ago and I marvel at the wonderful strides you have made along the road of advancement in so short a time. You have erected wonderful buildings during these four years and you have added very materially to the efficiency of your various departments. I think that your fire department, police department and water department are the best I have ever seen. I am especially interested in the fire and water departments and a great deal was shown and explained to me that I will be able to use to good advantage."

"Apart from the said mission responsible for my visit here, I must say that the trip has been a very enjoyable and a very beneficial one. I was sorry not to have been able to attend the meeting of the city council last Tuesday night. I was in Boston and did not arrive in time to attend the meeting and I am very grateful to the chairman of the board of aldermen for arranging to have me seated beside him while he presided over the meeting. I appreciate his kindness and if ever he comes to Quebec he will have a seat beside him in the board of aldermen."

Mr. Lavigueur left Lowell on the 12:30 express for Montreal and he will have remained longer but he felt that his business required his personal attention. His business interests include two of the largest meat stores in Canada and he is one of the live wires in the business, social and political circles of Quebec.

MAYOR MEEHAN WILL PRESIDE AT HOME RULE DEMONSTRATION

Mayor Meehan has accepted an invitation to preside at the meeting next Sunday evening at Lincoln hall under the auspices of the United Irish league and for the benefit of the home rule movement.

The speakers will be Captain Edward O'Meara, who was sentenced to death in England with Allen, Kelly and O'Brien for the rescue of Col. Kelly and Capt. Dwyer, two Fenian leaders, at Manchester, England, in 1867. His sentence was commuted because he was an American citizen, although found guilty of aiding those who were executed. Capt. O'Meara is a fluent and forcible speaker.

The other speaker will be Mr. John O'Connell, national secretary of the United Irish league, a man who has been a power next to John Redmond in advancing the movement for home rule.

The talented reader, Miss Lillian O'Brien, will recite "Erlin's Flag" and Edward Byron will play Irish airs on the violin, while James E. Donnelly, accompanied by Mr. Kelly on the piano, will sing "God Save Ireland," the words of which were written and set to music by Allen, Kelly and O'Brien when they mounted the scaffold. See ad.
